Ask A-Plant Funds

WASHINGTON — The House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee has recommended that Congress authorize $217 million in the coming year for the high energy accelerator at Weston, Ill.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., said yesterday the action would bring the 200-billion electorn volt accelerator to its full $250 million authorization.

Pledge Democracy

RIO DE JANEIRO — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has won a pledge from Brazil's military-backed government for an early return to constitutional democracy.

The disclosure that the government intends to restore constitutional guarantees "shortly" was made by Foreign Minister Jose de Magalhaes Pinto. Rockefeller talked with Brazilian President Arthur Da Costa e Silva Tuesday.

SDS Convention Opens

CHICAGO — Students for a Democratic Society opened their national convention yesterday in Chicago behind a wall of self-imposed security and in ferment over which ideological direction the radical student movement should take.

All newsmen were required to register along with delegates and cameras and electronic media gear were barred from the old Chicago Coliseum, the convention site.

GIs Attack N. Viets

SAIGON — Allied forces, backed by a strong air, artillery and naval fire support, caught large groups of North Vietnamese troops infiltrating into South Vietnam and killed nearly 200 Communists, military spokesmen said yesterday.

The fighting Tuesday and early yesterday cost American units alone at least 28 dead and 45 wounded.

Fire Hits Warehouses

SPRINGFIELD — A fire and explosion yesterday caused damage estimated at $300,000 to three adjacent warehouses of the Keystone Builders and Supply Co. about a mile northeast of the Springfield city limits.

Fire officials said an electrical fuse box may have started the blaze. A co-owner of the warehouse was burned on the hands.

Predict Party Loss

DUBLIN — A large voter turnout in the cities yesterday forecast a loss of parliamentary majority for Ireland's traditional governing party, the Fianna Fail of Premier Jack Lynch.

The Labor Party appeared en route to cutting inroads into the government vote on the basis of the city turnout in balloting to elect a new 144-member parliament. Ballot counting and checking begins today.

Ask Records Release

SPRINGFIELD — The chairman of a special House investigative committee yesterday asked for the release of secret records of financial holdings of Illinois Supreme Court Justices Ray Klingbiel and Roy Solfisburg, Jr.

State Rep. George Lindberg, R-Crystal Lake, said each justice puts a list of his financial holdings in an envelope which is filed in a safe, and "no one has ever seen the records, as far as I know."

Elk Grove Village Trustee Eugene Keith introduced legislation Tuesday which would require Village Pres. Jack Pahl to have the support of a majority of trustees before testifying on legislation in Springfield.

Keith made a motios, later tabled and referred to the personnel committee, that "no elected or appointed official of the village be permitted to make presentations, give testimony or offer an official position for the village without having received prior support of that position by an actual majority of the board.

"Any additions of members of this board which do not meet this criteria must be considered a personal opinion and such action must be presented as such. Since zhis would involve official business no reimbursement could be made for an expenses incurred under such circumstances.

KEITH MADE the motion in response to a trip to Springfield that the village president made recently to testify for legislation affecting municipalities.

Pahl made the trip as village president and chairman of the Cook County Council of Governments (COG). The board voted last week, against the objections of Trustees George Coney and Tom Ullmann, to pay a $55 expense bill incurred by Pahl on the trip. Keith was not at the meeting.

Trustee Charles Zettek said he believed there was merit to Keith's motion but that he would rather have it be made as a request of the village president.

Zettek, however, did not go along with the provision that no reimbursements be made.

IT SEEMS LIKE a gag rule to stop the president from representing the board," he said.

Earlier, Pahl asked: "What is the board's position on the Metropolitan Sanitary District issuing bonds without a referendum, MFT, and income tax?"

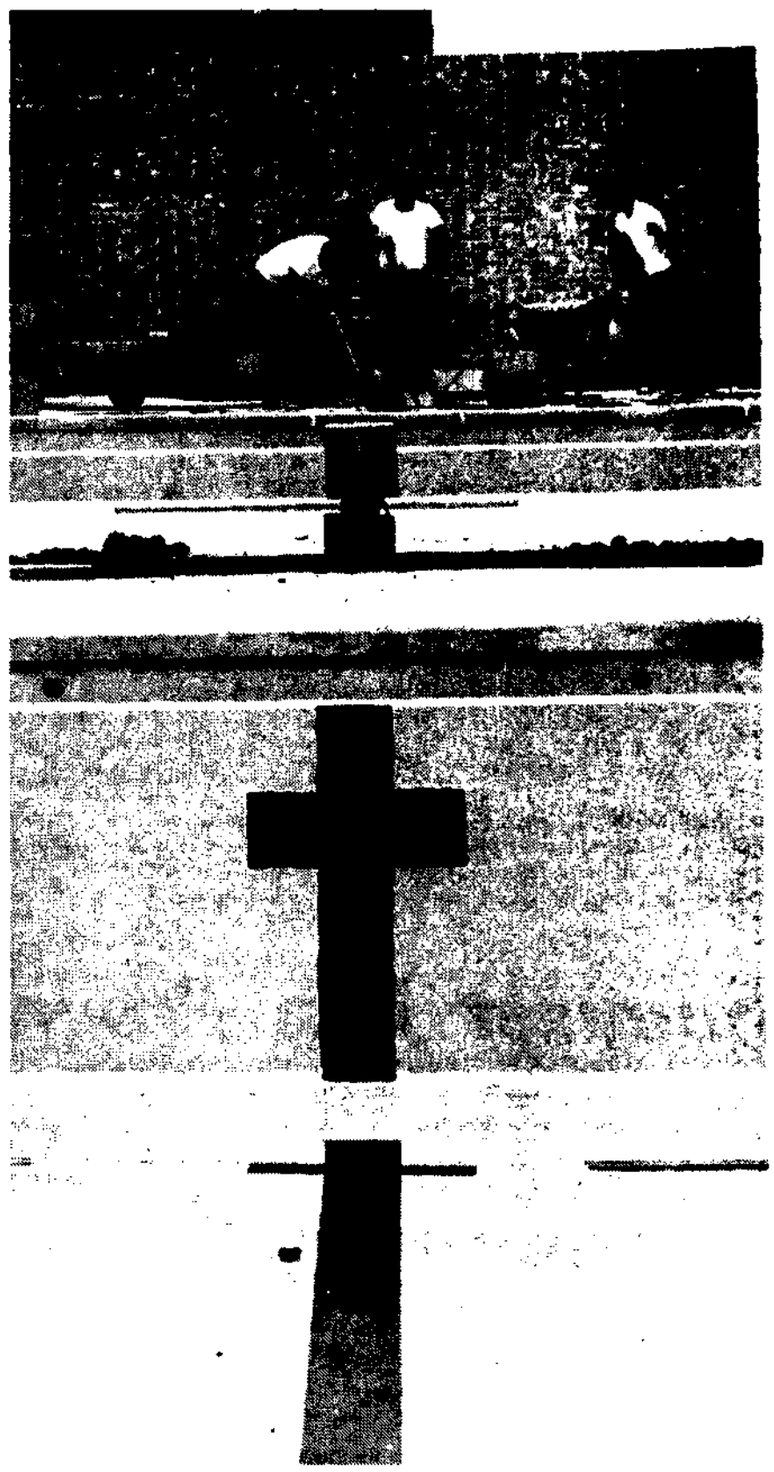

He said that if the board members wish to advise him they have to be knowledgeable on the subjects.

Keith said: "The point I'm trying to make is that if you know you're going down there, discuss them with the board before going down."

Keith said he would be interested in what Pahl had to say in Springfield.

PAHL SAID HIS testimony was consistent with that of the Illinois Municipal League which has voted on the issues at annual conferences.

In other action, the board voted to direct the administration to have a census made of the village, increased the pay of Village Atty. Edward Hofert $100 a month for four meetings a month, authorized the letting of bids for the municipal building and fire station July 28, and that annexation negotiations with the Forestview Home Owners Association end.

DISNEY POOL in Elk Grove Village is undergoing final construction on the outdoor swimming pool this week prior to opening Monday. Opening of the pool has been delayed a week. The indoor pool will be copleted and ready for use within a month. Construction workers are from the Geasrud Construction Co., Park Ridge.

Summer Fun Planned

by JUDY CAVELLI

As youngsters emerge from the classroom to prepare for a summer of fun, some Elk Grove Village adults are working to assure the fun is constructive and well supervised.

Much of that activity is centered in the park district office around Suzanne Olsen, superintendent of recreation. The park district is offering a wide variety of activities to accommodate as many youngsters as possible, and also courses of adult interest.

Most of the courses and events begin next week. This week, registration, organization, and plans for supervision have swamped the park district office with an overload of rambunctious youngsters and concerned adults in anticipation of next week's activities.

ACTIVITIES OFFERED include supervised playgrounds, tot lot, the park-school cooperative program, the traveling playground, and courses in tennis, sewing, and guitar.

Girls and boys softball will also be offered, plus outdoor cooking, olympics, summer band concerts, teen dances, jogging and swimming.

One of the most welcomed projects seems to be the tot lot program in which children 4 and 5-years-old participate in an organized program from 9 to noon. The program consists of games, singing, arts and crafts, storytelling and special events designed for this age group.

Tot lots will be held every Monday through Friday from June 23 to Aug. 7 at Clearmont and Mark Hopkins schools in Elk Grove. Maximum enrollment, 75 children at each location, was reached over a week ago according to Miss Olson.

SUPERVISING THE program will be six leaders and several junior leaders, providing a one leader per 15 children ratio. Leaders for all the programs are teachers, college students and high school seniors.

For older youngsters, first to sixth grades, supervised playgrounds will provide an active program of organized play. Supervision begins Monday and will run each week day through Aug. 7.

General recreation will be offered including physical activity games, music, dramatics, nature and special events. Each playground will hold a special event such as Space day, Hobo day and Western Round-Ups once a week. An arts and crafts program will be part of the weekly activities.

PLAYGROUNDS where supervised activities will be held are: Mark Hopkins, Admiral Byrd, Rupley, Ridge, Clearmont, Salt Creek and Grantwood.

The traveling playground begins its route next week, covering one site each week. A refinished construction trailer will be transported to parks in the village not serviced by regular programs. The "playground on wheels" will visit Muir, Fairchild, Osborn and Appleseed Parks.

Special events will highlight the program and some portable paygroufd equip-

Artemenko Seeks Post On Dist. 59

Gene Artemenko, former president of the Dist. 59 board of education, has taken out petitions for candidacy for the Dist. 59 school board in the July 26 election.

Artemenko took out the petitions the day after the Dist. 59 board announced that a special election will be held in the district to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of George Blanchard.

Disney Pool Opens Monday

The new Disney Pool complex in Elk Grove Village is scheduled for opening Monday or Tuesday, according to Jack Claes, park district director. Opening of the pool has been delayed a week.

The outdoor swimming, diving, shallow depth and wading pools will be opening, with the entire complex, including the indoor pool, scheduled for completion in a month.

Adjacent to the Lively Junior High School at Leicaster and Beisterfield roads, the pool is under a cooperative use, maintenance and supervision program with School Dist. 59 and the Elk Grove Park District.

The school district-park district agreement was put together to first, benefit the community, and second, benefit both districts individually.

UNDER THE AGREEMENT, the pool would be used, controlled and operated by the school district from approximately 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on school days.

Construction of the complex was authorized by the voters in March of 1968 with the passage of a $575,000 bond referendum.

The new pool features outdoor swimming, diving and wading pools, and indoor swimming pool, a landscaped deck area, a concession area, locker rooms and sauna baths.

The concession area will open sometime next week, Claes said, since concentration now is on the pool completion for Monday.

The outdoor and indoor pool are 45 by 75 ft., the shallow depth pool 3 by 5 ft., diving area 45 by 40 ft., and wading area 25 by 25 ft.

THE POOL WILL be open Sunday through Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 9 p. m.for recreational swimming.

Swimming lessons are on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9, 10, and 11 a.m. The lessons are organized into two sessions, the first beginning Monday and running to July 18, and the second running from July 28 to August 22.

Bussing transportation to Disney Pool and Lions Pool in Lions Park is provided by the park district. The first trip begins at 12:15 p.m. at Mark Hopkins, stopping at Rupley, Ridge, Grantwood and Clearmont, arriving at Lions Pool at 12:50 p.m. The bus will then stop at Salt Creek and arrive at Disney Pool at 1 p.m.

A second trip will begis at 1:15 p.m. and arrive at Disney at 2 p.m.

Will Cops Suffer?

A News Analysis

Sgt. John Flood of the Cook County Police force says that any policeman who joins the Cook County Police Association, of which he is president, may suffer the consequences of reprisals from his bosses.

Such has happened to John Flood.

In a recent move by the hierarchy of the sheriff's police department, Flood, a resident of Wheeling, was transferred from his post as patrol sergeant of District 1 in Niles to become an $11,000 a year clerical worker in downtown Chicago.

This is a position which might be a welcome sight (and even an expected move) by a 65-year-old member of any police force who has lost that old zing and must be retired from police work gracefully.

BUT FLOOD, in his early 30's, has a full police life ahead of him.

For a year of his more than 10 years as a policeman, Flood was in charge of the detective division. For another year he headed the criminal extradition section for all of Cook County. And yet another year he was in charge of the vice squad. He was a patrolman for two years and a patrol sergeant for over six years.

But Flood, knowing his job was in jeopardy, pursued this collision course as president of the association (he was a founding father), and continued in his efforts to organize policemen into local chapters so they can have a voice in their future as policemen.

Flood is not the only one that has felt the sting of apparent reprisals.

SGT. KENNY JONES, first vice president of the executive board of the association was just sent to the downtown offices to serve as a radio operator. This, despite the fact that Jones was in charge of the juvenile section in Worth, Ill.

Det. Bill Waldron, who was a member of the juvenile division in Homewood, has been reassigned to patrolman in the same district. Waldron is also a high-ranking member of the executive board of the association.

These men, as is Flood, are all competent, with far reaching backgrounds in CANNED GOODS en masse, such as this huge collection, are not an uncommon sight in Elk Grove churches from time to time. Food drives are one of the most common ways in which churches offer aid to needy families — many times, families outside the church's immediate area.

The Church and the Suburbs

by LARRY EVERHART

What is the place of the suburban church in 1969? How does it relate to the community? What are the differences between financial aid from churches and other aid programs?

Individual churches in a given community have certain functions in common. Yet each seems also to be unique in some way. These facts are brought out by comments of the clergy of Elk Grove Village, representing 12 churches.

Though the churches vary in their emphasis on work in the community, every pastor seemed to agree that the church is responsible not only to its members, but also to those outside the congregation.

First, what specific community projects have been undertaken recently? Many churches leave human relations to individuals or families rather than taking up projects as a congregation.

THE MAIN project of Elk Grove Baptist Church is a boys club and girls club which are run during the winter. These are open to anyone, and many members do not belong to the church. The program includes games and also a period of devotion.

The purpose, Vice Chairman Eldon Roth said, is two-fold: "For fun, and also to give the kids spiritual insight and training they might not get otherwise — especially if they don't belong to any church."

Father J. Ward Morrison of Queen of the Rosary Catholic Church said the church offers regular lectures on human relations.

"We also have regular community life programs, which we hope to broaden with more cooperation," Father Morrison said.

The Prince of Peace Methodist Church stresses a "work area committee" on Christian social concerns. Offered for the entire church, the purpose of this program is "to provide a better understanding in Christian concerns than can be obtained elsewhere," according to Pastor E. Maynard Beal.

PASTOR JON David Peterson of Christus Victor Lutheran Church said that while the church does not perform services as a congregation, many of its members are involved in projects.

One Mexican family, abandoned by its father, has been adopted and provided with food and a trailer house which was fixed up and made comfortable.

Children from the inner city have been brought to Elk Grove Village to stay at homes of church members for periods of two to three weeks.

This gives suburbanites a better insight into the minds of these children. It also "gives the child some fresh air," Peterson said, and "shows them that there's a better way of living. Ideally, it might give them hope. However, it might also frustrate them to compare our way of life with their own."

The First Baptist Church of Elk Grove Village has representatives in both the Inter-Faith Council and the United Fund committee. The latter organization raises funds to finance Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other community groups.

The Church of the Good Shepherd, like the Christus Victor Lutheran, deals with underprivileged youths from the inner city. Pastor Lloyd Weber said, "Families in our congregation have taken in abandoned children from the city, children from broken homes, and some who have been beaten by parents."

ALSO HELPING in this area have been members of Elk Grove Wesleyan Methodist Church. It has provided help in the Gospel League Shelter in Chicago for mothers and children who have lost homes, especially during the riots of last year when many buildings were burned.

In the area of financial aid sponsored by the churches, many food and clothing drives have been undertaken as well as other special projects. Pastors also have some interesting views on the place of such aid in the community today and differences between it and government aid.

One church which contributes as a whole to families or persons in need is Elk Grove Baptist — although, Roth said, "the church is small and we have a hard time sticking to our budget."

"Spiritual ministry is our purpose first and foremost," Roth said "However, if a man is spiritually hungry, he can't find himself until he can grasp something." This is where aid comes in.

St. Nicholas Episcopal Church holds three drives a year — one each for food, clothing and toys. These items are donated to inner city families.

"Church aid is more immediate for the giver," said the Rev Stephen D. Matthews of St. Nicholas. He feels this is the big difference between church donations and other aid.

QUEEN OF th Rosary provides help by collecting clothes for some Spanish families and other underprivileged people and also by obtaining low-cost loans for them so they may choose houses of their own. Reverend Morrison feels that "the church helps more immediately" than other aid agencies.

Kenneth Algozin is clerk of sessions of the Elk Grove United Presbyterian Church, which also responded to inner city needs after last year's riots. Algozin said, "The biggest difference between state and church aid is compassion. We would expect church members to respond more because problems are closer to home for these people."

Christus Victor Lutheran also has several aid programs. These include providing scholarships for Black children to attend a church camp, car washes by church youths to raise money, a food drive which was successful after the riots, a clothing drive in cooperation with Lutheran World Relief, and participation in "Act in Crisis Today" which raises money for both urban and rural deprived areas.

Pastor Peterson said "motivation from Christ" is the main difference between church drives and other aid.

Milton Reed minister at Church of Christ said aid is "more a matter of geography than anything else."

"NOT MANY people ask for help in the affluent suburbs," he said. "We must seek help where it is needed outside — as we are with the Children's Home and South Side (Chicago) families With less need in the suburbs, people are not aware that it does exist."

Reverend Walker, minister at First Baptist, shares this opinion. He said that in our affluent age and in the suburbs, the church is catering to the middle and upper classes. Churches are materialistic because the people are. Thus, Walker said, the churches have fallen short in providing the most effective aid.

Taking a different view was Pastor David Crail of Wesleyan Methodist.

"I think the idea of affluence in the suburbs is overplayed," he said. "And those who are affluent are more aware of needs because they are better informed."

Every one of Elk Grove's 12 churches, in its own way, fits into the scheme of community activities. And all of them — though having varying opinions on church aid and its place — offer financial help in some way.

Motorbike Awarded

Al Benson, a sophomore at Elk Grove High School, recently won a trail motorbike in a benefit sponsored by Green and Gold Lights, Inc., announced Jack Ivans, president.

Benson lives at 501 Yarmouth, Elk Grove Village.

Proceeds from the benefit will be used to erect lights for the high school football stadium.

Summer Fun Programs Set

ment will travel with the trailer. Handbills will notify residents when their neighborhood will be visited.

THE PARK-SCHOOL cooperative program offers children an opportunity to take academic subjects and participate in recreation activities. More than 1,600 students have registered this summer.

The children select three academic subjects from course offerings such as reading, mathematics, science, and cultural arts. At the park site they will choose three recreation classes from swimming, gymnastics, crafts, softball and other physical activities.

The academic subjects will be taught by school teachers in classrooms on three days and the recreation courses will be taught by park district instructors on two days.

According to Miss Olson almost 90 per cent of the summer school students have chosen some form of swimming for one of their recreation courses.

FOR THOSE YOUNGSTERS who would rather spend the whole day outdoors, the park district sponsored day camp seems to be the answer. Camp Wapiti, as it was called last year, will be in effect again this year, beginning Monday.

The camp site is the Ned Brown Forest Preserve.

Purpose of the camp is to provide the children with an opportunity to have fun with others in a supervised program while learning about nature and outdoor skills.

Trained counselors will provide instruction in outdoor living. Activities include fire building, outdoor cooking, trail marking, knots and lashing, arts and crafts, dramatics and nature games.

DAY CAMP IS divided into three sessions with openings in each session. The first, beginning Monday, runs to July 3. Second session runs from July 7 to July 18, and third session rufs from July 21 to Aug. 1.

Day camp is aimed at the 7 to 11-year-old children.

For information on park district summer programs call 437-8780, or contact the office at 499 Biesterfield Road.

NIU College of Business Awards

Northern Illinois University's college of business recently presented awards to two area students.

Robert Youngmeyer of 408 Hawthorne, Hoffman Estates, received the personnel management award, a plaque, awarded on the basis of scholarship, by the faculty of the management department

John W. Klopsch of 117 S Louis, Mount Prospect, received a $25 award and plaque, a Sigma Iota Epsilon scholarship - leadership award. The award was one of five given by the Rho chapter of the national professional management fraternity.

Plumbing Inspector, Stompanato, Resigns

Due to the pressures of personal business, Anthony Stompanato, 218 Illinois Blvd. submitted his resignation as village plumbing inspector to members of the Hoffman Estates Village Board this week.

Stompanato's resignation was accepted effective July 14 and board members agreed to meet with Dan Murphy, building inspector, to discuss filling the post as quickly as possible.

He is the owner of Stompanato Plumbing and Heating Corp. with offices in both Hoffman Estates and Roselle.

Will CCPA Members Suffer?

the field of law enforcement. They have an aggregate of more than 30 years in police work. All these men are dedicated to their jobs and obviously would have been ripe for promotions when they occurred.

BUT THAT chance has all but frittered away. The Cook County Sheriff's Police has just put an end to the usefulness of these men.

The association has more than 200 members under their wing, including local chapters in Wheeling, Skokie, Evanston, and other towns, and are about to announce a local organization in Des Plaines.

The association has made only three basic demands to the village boards they have approached in Cook County:

—That policemen have the right to have a voice in future decisions which affect them;

—That the association be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for the policeman;

—That a certain percentage of their salary be deducted and used as dues, payable to the association.

THERE IS ANOTHER thing, specifically, which the association is trying to stamp out, and it is that Cook County policemen can be arbitrarily transferred, without those persons transferred being ableto agree or disagree to the move. This is happening right now to Flood and the others.

These men, by general order, cannot comment to anyone on their transfer without suffering the consequences: Suspension from the force for 30 days without pay, and, the officer has no chance to defend himself.

B'nai B'rith Unit Installs

The Elk Grove Lodge of B'nai B'rith installed its officers for the coming year last night.

They are: Barton Cohen, president; Cliff Chapman, first vice president; Irwin Helford, second vice president; Arthur Sokol, financial secretary; Abe Africk, treasurer; Joel Rubin, recording and corresponding secretary; Alvin Krasnow, chaplain and Richard Africk and Irwin Helford, trustees.

Defeat For Sex Education Bill Seen

By ALAN AKERSON

"Of the five bills in the Illinois General Assembly concerning sex education, four are now dead," said Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chapman opposes all five bills.

One of the five, House Bill 2323, was passed by the House Monday by a vote of 101 to 42. That bill would amend the school code to prevent schools from offering sex education classes to pupils without first getting written approval from their parents.

The bill also would require parents to be notified in advance of proposed sex education classes.

Another of the bill's provisions would allow parents to look over the educational materials to be used in the classes before deciding whether or not to give their permission.

Chief sponsor of HB 2323 is Rep. Philip W. Collins, R-Chicago.

Mrs. Chapmas said "There is a good chance it will be killed in the Senate." She added, "I hope it goes to a quick and quiet grave."

House Bill 2839 which would have prohibited sex education in grades below the seventh, was tabled by its sponsor, Rep. James Peterson, R-Chicago. The bill was on the House calendar for consideration when Peterson tabled it.

Monday night the House defeated a bill that would have required written permission from parents before children were administered examinations on personality, home life, religious beliefs and other personal matters.

Opponents of the bill, including Mrs. Chapman, argued that "school guidance counselors felt this would have put them out of business."

The lone sex education bill to come out of the Senate, Senate Bill 797, was passed by the Senate, but killed by the House Education Committee.

SB 797 would have amended the Sex Education Act to permit a pupil to be excused from a sex education course upon written request by his parents.

Rep. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, House sponsor of the bill, has filed a motion to get the bill to the House floor for a vote. This came after the bill received a "do not pass" recommendation in committee. Whether or not the House will vote on the motion is unknown at this time.

The fifth bill, HB 2747, was also tabled by its sponsor. Like HB 2839, it was on the House calendar for consideration.

Had it been passed, HB 2747 would have dissolved the state's Sex Education Advisory Board. That board was established to aid school boards by maintaining a library of sex education material for local school districts.

The board also aids universities in the state is providing courses for prospective teachers in how to teach sex education.

Mrs. Chapman said she opposes the bills primarily for two reasons: first, she does "favor well thought-out sex education in the schools," and, second, she doesn't "want the state to interfere with local school boards."

Tea Party Could Be Dynamite

by SANDRA BROWNING

If someone invites you to a tea party to get charged up, think twice about going.

If you are told that Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil will be there, don't think those are nicknames for area socialites you haven't met yet.

If you go to that party, the narks may find you and you could be busted. It may mean you won't be on the bricks for quite a while.

Freely translated, the last paragraph means narcotics agents might arrest you and you won't be out of jail for quite a while.

Students at the Federal Bureau of Narcotics Training School understand the terms like "tea party" and "charged up." They are required to learn a glossary of common terminology used in the underground world of narcotics traffic.

A COPY OF the glossary was distributed at a recent Arlington Heights' Youth Council meeting so that members could study and understand the various terms.

A tea party is a marijuana party and getting charged up means the "high" a drug user gets after taking narcotics. The terms Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil refer to marijuana, morphine, heroin and cocaine.

The illegal drug market has apparently caused pushers and users to develop their own vocabulary to refer to drugs. Some of the terms have been pirated from slang references to drinking. Such terms include "loaded" and "stoned" which mean to be under the influence of drugs.

Other terms as defined in the glossary are so old that they have come into common usage. "What's happening?" is defined in the glossary as meaning "Do you have any narcotics?"

LANGUAGE USED by addicts and police officers sometimes baffles listeners. An Arlington Heights police officer was speaking about drugs and told his high school audience, "We have arrested a boy of 17 in the village who was mainlining drugs."

The audience looked at him in disbelief, probably because they didn't understand what he meant. Mainlining means to directly inject narcotics into a vein.

The officer also said there were cases when teenagers had injected drugs under their tongues and in their ears to avoid leaving "tracks," or marks left on veins from repeated injection of drugs.

When a program on drugs was presented to parents and students at Arlington High School, a former addict said he knew many suburban teenagers who were "shooting speed." He meant they were injecting methedrine.

THE WARNING phrase used to make drivers slow down, "speed kills," can also refer to the dangers of taking methedrine.

When a drug user refers to "hash," he doesn't mean the corned beef variety. He means hashish, a drug produced from the same plant that is used in making marijuana cigarettes. It is usually smoked in a small pipe and gives a shorter, more intense high than regular marijuana.

"Head" refers to someone who is a user. Acid heads are persons who take LSD and pot heads are marijuana smokers.

As someone starts to feel the influence of drugs, he is "spacing out" or "getting off." He will often use the phrase "ooh . . . wow" as he feels the effects.

THE PHRASE "shooting gallery" doesn't always mean a place where you go to aim rifles at little moving ducks. It can also mean a place where drug users go to shoot or use drugs.

Terms used instead of marijuana include Acapulco gold, grass, loco-weed, Texas tea, viper's weed, pot and hemp. "Torch-up" means to light up marijuana cigarettes which are also called bombers, joints, muggles, reefers, roaches, ropes and sticks.

Heroin is sometimes called hard stuff, junk, schmack and skag while cocaine is called happy dust, joy powder and coke.

Dynamite is a general term which refers to any type of drug.

So, the next time someone invites you to a tea party, be careful. There might be some dynamite there.

Toastmaster Cited

by DON BRANNAN

Robert Lanz of Hoffman Estates recently named Outstanding Toastmaster of the Year for the Chicago area, worked his way up to the major leagues the hard way.

"I originally joined Toastmasters because I was nervous about giving speeches, and I wasn't very good at it," said Lanz, who resides at 224 Jefferson Road. He is a production engineering supervisor for Hammond Organ Co.

Lanz was chosen as Outstanding Toastmaster from more than 1,500 Toastmasters who belong to 64 different clubs. In being chosen for the honor, the Hoffman Estates resident was recognized for his service to Toastmasters and individual clubs, being cited as "an individual who can't say 'no' when his aid is requested."

Toastmaster Clubs are organized to help businessmen improve their public speaking ability and to develop leadership and executive potential. The organization's motto is "Better listening, thinking, and speaking."

"GIVING A speech becomes easier with practice," Lanz said. He feels that Toastmasters has helped him in his job since he is called upon to give reports at meetings of department heads.

"Toastmasters helps you to learn to think on your feet," he said. "Members learn by doing."

To those persons who are nervous about speaking in public, he says, "Welcome to the club."

Lanz is assistant area governor for six northwest Toastmasters clubs with members in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Hoffman Estates, Elk Grove, Des Plaines, Rolling Meadows, and Streamwood. His local club is the Arlington Heights chapter, which meets on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at 8 p.m. Meetings are held in the Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Building.

ACCORDING TO one novice speaker, "Giving a speech is like having a baby. The conception is easier than the delivery." The purpose of Toastmasters is to help members develop poise in speaking before others and to be able to think on their feet, Lanz stated.

Each Toastmasters club has about 30 members. At a club meeting six persons give speeches which are criticized by other members. In addition, each Toastmaster speaks for 30 seconds on a topic of day, and some are called upon for extemporaneous speeches two minutes long.

Lanz has belonged to Toastmasters three years and certainly feels his participation has been worthwhile after being cited as Outstanding Toastmaster of the Year.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS WOMAN'S CLUB
OUR "WOMEN OF THE WEEK"

As announced last Friday over WEXI 92.7 FM, Arlington Heights, members and officers of the Prospect Heights Woman's Club are our "WOMEN OF THE WEEK."

This salute goes to an organization which has worked, planned and saved for 10 years to raise $15,000 toward a permanent building to house the Prospect Heights Library now in temporary quarters. The $15,000 check was presented by President Mrs. John Soderberg to Mrs. Margaret Lusk, president of the Prospect Heights Library Board.

In addition to raising money, members of the Prospect Heights Woman's Club have donated books, given countless hours of volunteer time and conducted story hours at the library.

This is service to a community which should not go unrecognized.

The Lighter Side

Let Rocky Take the Lumps

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The success of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's goodwill visit to Latin America may encourage President Nixon to send his former political rival on other missions of that type.

Many observers here believe Rockefeller's next presidential assignment will be a goodwill visit to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

One diplomat with whom I discussed this possibility said he thought a great deal might be gained by such a visit.

"If Rockefeller did visit the committee, we would not expect his welcome to be as warm and friendly as the one he has received in Latin America," the diplomat said.

Dick West

"It would show, however, that the Nixon administration is interested in the committee's problems and wants to create an atmosphere of mutual respect and understanding.

"There is a feeling throughout much of the committee that U.S. presidents only pay lip service to the 'good neighbor' concept. Rightly or wrongly, many members feel they have often been exploited by the White House, and at other times virtually ignored.

"They complain that the White House either fails to consult with them on matters of mutual interest, or else demands a rubber stamp endorsement of policies that are then pursued independently.

"Moreover, they feel that Nixon has devoted most of his time and attention to the House Ways and Means Committee. This has caused a lot of resentment and unrest in the Foreign Relations Committee.

"Clearly, some sort of gesture is needed to overcome these hostile reactions."

I said, "Why do you feel that Rockefeller would be a good presidential envoy in such a situation?"

"The governor has visited the committee numerous times in the past," the diplomat pointed out. "He can talk knowledgeably about its operations and is personally acquainted with many of its leaders.

"Beyond that, he carries enough prestige in his own right to impress the committee, which is very protocol conscious."

I said, "What are the chances that something worthwhile would be accomplished?"

"Admittedly, the Foreign Relations Committee would be more difficult to handle than Latin America. I wouldn't anticipate any dramatic overnight improvement.

"But if Rockefeller can convince the committee that Nixon sincerely seeks genuine cooperation, much of the animosity that has built up over the years will be dissipated."

West Drops Out, Backs Roe

A man who calls himself the first candidate to announce for the 13th District congressional seat has "conceded" and thrown his support to candidate Yale Roe.

George West of Evanston said Roe's "broader experience and greater maturity" made him a more logical candidate to represent West's concern with today's issues.

Roe is a Republican candidate in the seven-man primary Oct. 7. Of Winnetka, Roe is vice president of Harriscope Broadcasting Corp. and is a former aide to Sen. Charles Percy.

"Yale Roe is the only candidate who is talking responsibly not only about this country's needs, but how we can pay for those needs," West said. "I heartily endorse his position that increased revenues must come out of the military, not out of the taxpayer."

ROE IS BASING his campaign on opposition to what is popularly phrased as "the military-industrial complex." The candidate has attacked the cost of military bases overseas and military commitments to as many as 40 nations around the world as being in excess of what is needed for American security.

In a June 10 press conference announcing his candidacy, Roe said the nation's alliances with other countries should be reassessed every five years to determine which are essential to U.S. security.

Roe has also attacked the expenditure of "billions and billions of dollars spent every year on unnecessary — often useless — military hardware."

West agreed with this position, stating the country must be militarily secure but must also be financially secure.

"AN ENDLESS arms race will inevitably bankrupt our country," West said in a press release. "The people cannot endure higher taxes, higher inflation and higher interest rates."

West is manager of employe training at Illinois Central Railroad Co. and is an active member of the Evanston Young Republicans. He has done research for the Republican National Committee and for Sen. Percy's last campaign. He was a congressional intern from 1962 and 1963 in the offices of two U.S. representatives from Iowa.

Weber Names Local Aide

Alban Weber, 13th District Republican congressional candidate, pushing into the northwest suburbs for supporters, recently picked up a Mount Prospect resident in his campaign.

Warren Pursell of 120 We-Go Trail, a public relations counselor, has joined Weber's drive the Oct. 7 GOP primary race.

According to a press release, Weber has won support of other residents in the area.

WEBER IS LEGAL counsel for Northwestern University, holding the legal post since 1955. He played a key role in working out disciplinary measures assessed against leaders of recent campus disorders.

The candidate is stressing campus disorders in his campaign, using his own acquaintance with students to state "one of the great gaps in our society is that between the generations."

Weber's promise is to "bridge the gaps" which split society by using his background in legislation, negotiation and the law.

Regen Receives Award

Barbara Regan, 246 N. Plum Grove, Palatine, received the Nightingale Award and the Berens Key Award at the College of Nursing Honors banquet at Marquette University.

The Nightingale award is given for a cumulative grade point average of 3.5, on a 4.0 scale, or better. The Berens Award is given to the outstanding senior in the College of Nursing.

Roe Headquarters Set Up in Skokie

David Roe, 13th District congressional candidate, has set up campaign headquarters at 4051 Old Orchard Lane, Skokie.

The headquarters will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

Roe, of Glenview, is one of seven candidates seeking the Republican nomination fo Congress in an Oct. 7 primary. He is on leave of absence as publisher of Hollister Newspapers, a north shore chain.

Persons interested in joining Roe's campaign committee or learning more about the candidate may visit or phone the headquarters at 675-6370.

To Benefit Young and Old

They 'Vote' at the Track

Some called it "voting" and some called it "betting," but in any case, it was all done very scientifically — by color of silks, names that caught their fancy or such "systems" as betting the favorite to show in every race.

But whether they "voted" or "bet," the real winners Monday at the Arlington Park track were the youngsters and oldsters who reside in area institutions and homes.

The event was the annual "My Fair Lady Day at the Races" sponsored by area hairdressers, members of the Northwest Suburban Chapter of the Illinois Hairdressers Association. For the benefit, several hundred women gathered at the track's private Classic Club for cocktails, luncheon and late afternoon racing.

Proceeds from the affair will go toward equipping area homes and institutions with salon equipment.

Rich Men Find the $100 Million Club

NEW YORK (UPI)—Author Kenneth Lamott sat across a desk from one of the richest men in America and was struck by the fact that their off-the-rack suits probably cost about the same amount of money

He looked at the Darien, Conn., home of another semi-billionaire and thought it looked remarkably like the upper middle class homes that surrounded it

While Lamott interviewed a man whose net worth is an estimated $100 million, his subject smoothly cadged cigarettes

His conclusion—there is little difference between the newly very rich in America and the rest of us, except for $100 million or more

Lamott, author of "The Moneymak-Or The Great Big New Rich in America" explained

The life style of the really big new rich is essentially middle class The way of life of the big rich (at least $100 million) is very different from that of the old robber barons the Rockefellers, Vanderbilts, Jay Goulds They had to build palaces on Fifth Avenue and own yachts as an ego thing, to satisfy their image of themselves.

"The present day breed, with the exception of some Texas men (oil money) and Californians (land development loans), have an anonymous style, as if they didn't want to be seen"

He mentioned the old J P Morgan decree about yachts—if you have to ask how much a yacht costs you can't afford to own one — and noted that today's big rich don t own yachts

"If they want a yacht, or a European villa, they rent them," Lamott said.

According to the author, who spotlights 13 of the big new rich in his book, there are 153 individuals in the United States who are worth more than $100 million, most of them American-born of northern European stock and from above the Mason-Dixon line. There are no black Americans in this league and no women

"The big new rich are low key in their personal lives, too," Lamott said. "They mostly have had one wife, small families of children who go to Stanford or Harvard and make good corporate executives. They practice the old Yankee virtues of thrift and personal propriety in sex and family matters They don't live or entertain lavishly"

Lamott described some of the new rich he interviewed as speaking with a naivete about acquiring a huge personal fortune that the non-rich find difficult to believe — but Lamott thinks they are sincere. He cited the case of W. Clement Stone, a Chicagoan who made his money in insurance. Stone has written books, owns Hawthorn Books and publishes a magazine called Success Unlimited.

Stone, he said, maintains an office in a low-rent part of town, wears floppy hats above his Paul Whiteman sort of face, sports a little mustache and likes brown and white shoes. The author found Stone, who has about a third of a billion dollars, very pleasant and open in their chat.

"I asked him about how one becomes very rich," Lamott said, "and he told me about the need for positive mental attitudes. He told me that anyone could become rich, the secret was to think rich and you'll become rich.

"At first you think 'He can't be serious' Then you realize he is absolutely serious—and he's nobody's fool, either. You have to remember that it worked for him"

The author said that three or four of the men he interviewed mentioned that Horatio Alger rags-to-riches stories and deplored the fact that Horatio no longer inspired young men, as they were inspired.

Lamott said the real secret became clear to him as he talked to Charles B. "Tex" Thornton, founder and board chairman of Litton Industries and another $100 million man. Outwardly there was little difference between the two men.

"The difference," Lamott said, "is a matter of dedication. He told me, for instance, that he can't stand 'useless leisure.' He flies an airplane and takes long trail rides on horseback, but while he does this his mind is working all the time."

Lamott's theory is that the very rich are dedicated to money for its own sake, as opposed to the well-to-do or just plain rich, who are more interested in money for what it can buy.

The author, born of missionary parents in Tokyo in 1923, said a little regretfully: "I would wish for the rest of us that the big rich lived with more grace and beauty, but that takes several generations."

Sorority Activities

Chi Omega Names Award After Palatine Woman

CHI OMEGA

In appreciation of her help, members of Chi Omega Sorority at Northern Michigan University have named an award after Mrs. Robert L. Bliss of Palatine. The "Joyce Bliss Outstanding Chi Omega Award" will go to one member of the sorority each year for excellent performance in scholarship and campus activities.

Mrs. Bliss helped begin the Iota Theta Chapter of Chi Omega at Northern Michigan University in 1967 and was their personal advisor through 1968. She is currently an alternate delegate to the Northwestern Suburban Council on Panhellenic for Chi Omega Alumnae.

Mr. and Mrs. Bliss moved to Palatine in 1969 and are active in community affairs. Mr. Bliss is Director of College Programs for the National Merit Scholarship Corporation in Evanston. Mrs. Bliss has been active in the Cancer Drive, Community Chest, is vice president of the AAUW, and the church women representative for the WSCS Methodist Church of Palatine.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

Mrs. Laurence Frerk, president of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi and Mrs. W. R. Mottweiler, district alumnae director, are flying to California for their fraternity's 48th International Convention June 20 to 26. The setting is the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. In addition to the excitement of the convention itself, delegates are offered an array of side trips. Most are in the local area, but most notable is a post convention tour of Hawaii and the Orient.

There's another good reason for keen convention interest among the local AOPi's. Another official delegate is Mrs. Charles Kallevang of Park Ridge, who has been second national vice president for two years. Mrs. Kallevang has been nominated for president of Alpha Omicron Pi and if she wins the election, she will be installed as president at the convention.

Mrs. Robert Juckett of Park Ridge, district collegiate director, is also an official delegate.

ALPHA OMICRON PI is a women's fraternity It was founded on Jan. 2, 1897 at Barnard College, New York. From its four founders, young college women, AOPi has grown to 89 collegiate chapters, 190 alumnae groups and more than 42,000 members.

AOPi's national philanthropy is the Arthritis Foundation Other charities also benefit on the local level. One favorite of the Northwest Suburban Alumnae Chapter is the Illinois Children's Hospital-School in Chicago.

Play It Cool with Pineapple

Make this a cool cool summer with canned pineapple – plus a variety of tasty combinations Mellow and delicious, it blends beautifully with any fruit you choose Ambrosial Fruit Mold Salad offers cool summer dining indoors or out Choose vivid fresh strawberries, colorful melon balls and sliced bananas to toss with pineapple tidbits Then mold this choice fruit salad handsomely in gelatin

For a refreshing dessert, the ice cream sundae can't be beat Try a continental combination of cointreau and fresh bright strawberries with pineapple tidbits Or serve a wonderful pineapple caramel sauce elegantly topped with sour cream and almonds A dash of peppermint adds a delightful tingle to a crushed pineapple, honey and marshmallow sauce that everyone will love

THE DOUBLE COMPLIMENT of canned crushed pineapple and pineapple juice go with strawberries and ice cream in the Pineapple Berry Whirl A tempting cooler of pastel pink serve it with meals or for afternoon pick me-ups

Remember, too, that nature-sweet pineapple juice, now fortified with Vitamin C, is a perfect summer refresher in its own right Serve it any time of day for a delicious nutritious drink

PINEAPPLE FRUIT MOLD SALAD

Accented with a smidgin of sauterne to enhance its elegance.

1 (8-3/4 ounce) can pineapple tidbits. Water
1 (3-ounce) package strawberry-banana gelatin
¼ cup sauterne
1 sliced banana
½ cup melon balls or cubes
½ cup sliced strawberries

Measure syrup drained from pineapple, add enough water to make 1 cup liquid Heat to boiling; add gelatin, stirring until dissolved Remove from heat; add ½ cup water and wine Chill until mixture begins to thicken Fold in drained pineapple, banana, melon and strawberries

Turn into 3 cup mold Chill firm Unmold; garnish with additional pineapple tidbits if desired. Serve plain or dress with mayonnaise or sour cream. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

FOR EXTRA SPECIAL desserts top your favorite ice cream with any of the following sauces made up of pineapple plus luscious fresh fruits or other sweeteners.

ROYAL PINEAPPLE CARAMEL SAUCE

1 (13½-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
1 cup brown sugar (packed)
½ cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons dark corn syrup
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Combine syrup drained from pineapple with brown sugar, cream, corn syrup and butter Heat slowly to boiling; boil 4 or 5 minutes Stir in pineapple tidbits. Makes about 1 2/3 cups sauce.

PINEAPPLE JUBILEE SAUCE

1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can pineapple tidbits
2 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
½ cup cointreau
½ cup sliced fresh strawberries

Combine undrained pineapple, cornstarch, sugar and salt. Cook and stir gently until sauce becomes very thick and clear. Add cointreau, remove from heat and cool. Add strawberries. Makes 1 pint.

PINEAPPLE MINT MALLOW SAUCE

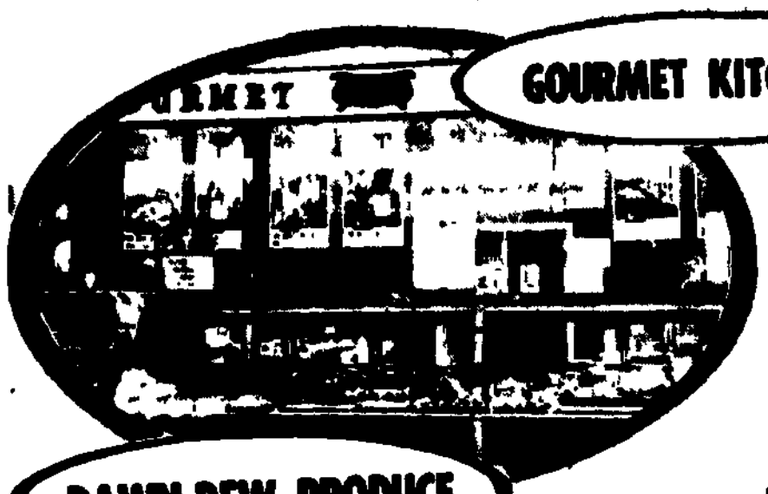

1 (1-pound 4-ounce) can crushed pineapple
½ pound miniature marshmallows
¼ cup honey
1/8 teaspoon salt
Drop or two peppermint extract

Combine undrained pineapple with marshmallows, honey and salt. Heat, stirring now and then, until marshmallows are almost melted. Add peppermint extract.
Cool. Makes 1 pint.

MIX 'EM OR MATCH 'EM with several flavors of ice cream for a refreshing summer dessert. This sundae sauce trio features pineapple combined with a caramel sauce, with fresh strawberries and with a mashmallow mint mixture. Bananas or nuts can also be added for extra trimming.

Hayride Is GOP Opener

A hayride tomorrow evening (Friday) will be the first social event for the Women's Auxiliary of Schaumburg Township Republican Organization. This newly formed group has planned several affairs for the summer months and will begin general meetings in September.

A mother-son trip to Wrigley Park to see a Chicago Cubs baseball game is planned for July, and a mother-daughter excursion to the Loop is slated in August.

The hayride party, which includes the husbands, will be held at Fleetwing Farm, with dancing and food served afterwards. Guests are welcome. Mrs. George Seaver, 529-3769, may be called for tickets.

MRS. ROBERT Herlugson is president of the Republican Women; Mrs. George Seaver is vice president; Mrs. Russell Gerlach, recording secretary; Mrs. Frederick Stowe, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Carl Shoemaker, treasurer.

Committee chairmen include Mrs. Norman Miller, membership, Mrs. Ralph Allen, hospitality; and Mrs. Robert Pellegrino, publicity.

Women in Schaumburg Township interested in joining the Auxiliary may call Mrs. Norman Miller, 894-3054.

Newcomers Book Review Tonight

Prospect Heights Newcomers Welcome Wagon Club members will hear Martha Hopkins review "The Waves of Night" by Harry Mark Petrakis at tonight's (Thursday) meeting. The group will be meeting in the Mount Prospect Holiday Inn for cocktails at 6:30 followed by dinner at 7.

Installation of officers will also be included in the meeting. Mrs. Edward Spriegel will be installed as president and Mrs. Richard Rendtorff and Mrs. Robert McLean as first and second vice presidents. Mrs. Jack Gilligan will be installed as recording secretary and Mrs. Robert Throop as treasurer.

For July, the club is planning a talk by Bernard Brown of the Narcotic Bureau. Those interested in joining the group may call Mrs. Andrew Bodine at 296-5259.

The Way We See It

Review Military Cost

Past congressional investigations have been ineffective in ending military waste, and current probers face the same frustrating resistance to change

They have encountered muzzling of witnesses by the Department of Defense they have found major defense contractors unwilling to cooperate and they have found widespread indifference to conditions which suggest the possibility of major scandals below the surface.

One witness told congressional probers that major defense contractors consistently under-bid new programs. Realizing that a project with a realistically high price tag would be examined more critically during congressional appropriations procedures, they deliverately underestimate the cost. After the program is approved and the money is committed, they come back for more funds to complete the work At that point, Congress is forced to find the money or kill a program on which millions — perhaps billions — has already been spent.

The witness refused to admit this procedure was dishonest.

Besides this problem of "over-optimism," there are other widespread practices that should be ended but probably won't. Former Sen. Paul Douglas revealed consistent overspending by the military — buying products at prices in excess of those charged others.

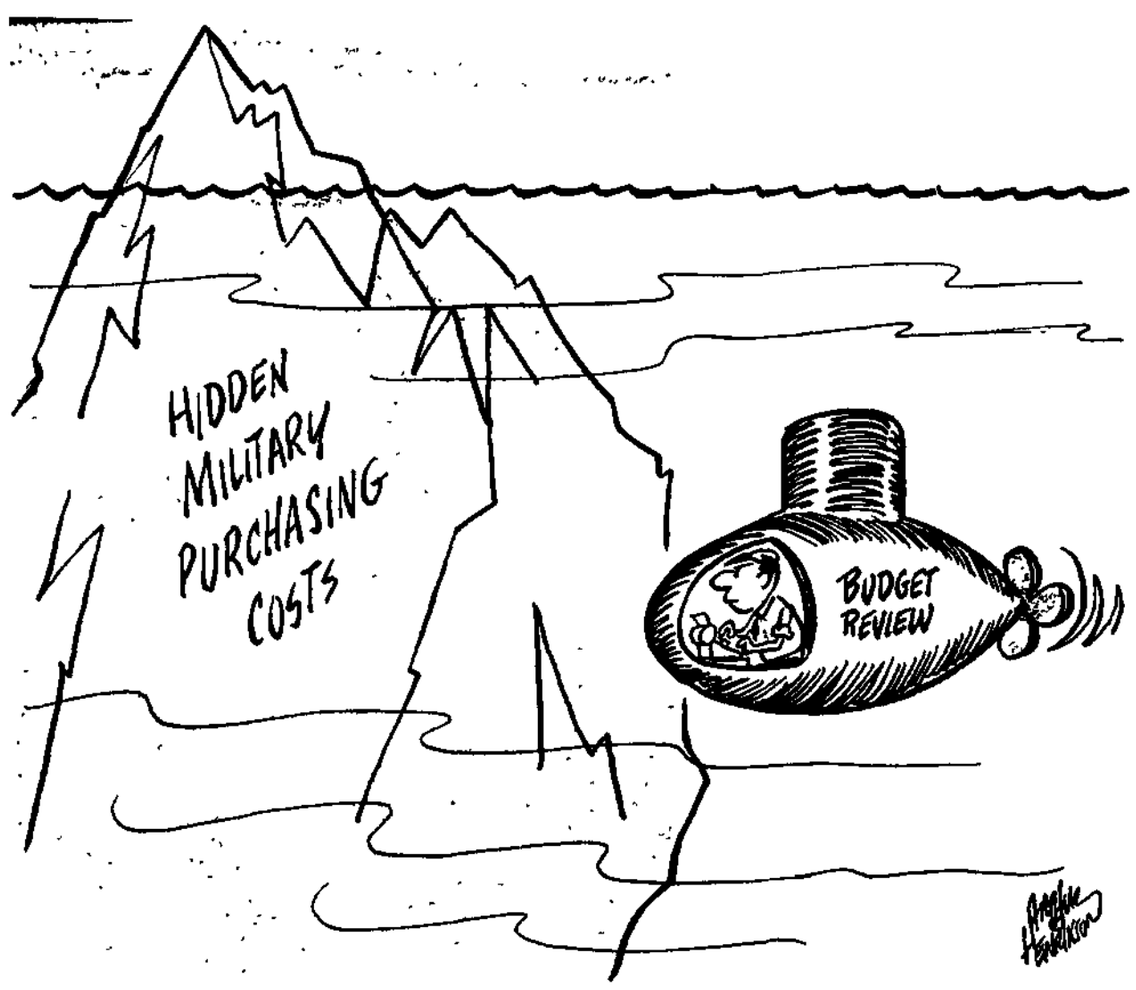

Massive defense projects are begun with great haste, then dropped. A total of $11 billion has been wasted in this way since 1951.

An Air Force efficiency expert who testified before a joint house-senate subcommittee committee last year in connection with costs of the giant C5A jet transport has informed Subcommittee Chm William Proxmire the Air Force believed it would be "inappropriate" for him to appear again. However, a statement he had prepared for the committee has been published; in it he charges that five Air Force officers who frustrated his efforts to cut costs on a missile guidance system have subsequently taken jobs with a major defense contractor.

Military spending accounts for a huge chunk of our gross national project and of the taxes we pay. It is sheltered, in some cases necessarily, by the need for military secrecy. It is also sheltered by a fear of jeopardizing national security.

Full review of defense spending can be conducted by Congress without risking our military security. We urge the Executive branch to cooperate fully, to insure defense spending is rational and economical and to remove the suspicion of wrongdoing.

The Editor's Column

Strangle Press Voices?

by CHARLES E. HAYES

Most Americans are either unaware of, or apathetic to, what may be a serious threat to future survival of the nation's free, competitive and independent press

The bitter battle now being waged in Congress over creation of newspaper monopolies has attracted little attention outside of the newspaper industry.

But if the battle is won by press monopolists, it could signal an end to independence, variety and diversity in American journalism

Charles E. Hayes

AT ISSUE IS the growing trend toward newspaper merger, consolidation and national chain ownership There is now one newspaper management in 96 per cent of 1,600 U S cities with daily newspapers, and nearly half of all dailies are chain controlled Significantly, many of these newspaper combines also control broadcast media, magazines, pulp mills and press syndicates

Increasingly, the nation's mass media power and influence is being concentrated in the hands of a few persons or corporations

The current struggle between would-be monopolists and independents has been joined in the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, where Sen Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., is now a leading spokesman for the corporate giants, and Sen. Philip A Hart, D-Mich , is defending the independents.

The subcommittee will conclude final hearings tomorrow on the controversial Newspaper Preservation Act (S1520), designed to grant large newspapers a virtual government license to monopolize.

The bill would inhibit all antitrust enforcement in the newspaper field by exempting joint newspaper operations from any provisions of antitrust laws

IT WOULD TURN the mass media over to private combinations beyond the pale of law and order, beyond the demands of the free enterprise system, and beyond the reach of judicial review without any evidence of the economic necessity for such a drastic step

It will make it virtually impractical for independent local newspapers to combat the predatory, anti-competitive practices of corporate publishers intent on monopolizing their metropolitan market.

The giant publisher will be free to employ price-fixing, profit-pooling, market allocations, forced combination advertising and circulation rates, controlled entry into the market, below-cost pricing and other giveaways — all aimed at making impossible the survival of less well-financed independent competitors

The result will be elimination of all commercial competition by acquiring monopoly power, with the surviving monopoly able to keep out new competition, establish unreasonable profits, charge whatever advertising rates it chooses, and exercise total control over dissemination of news and opinion

NEWSPAPER readers in dozens of cities already find themselves forced to rely upon the whim of one corporation or one person for the information they need to govern their communities and organize their lives

There are countless examples of how single ownership and control have enforced increasingly uniform presentation of news and opinion

Alarmed by this trend, the Justice Department recently began to apply antitrust laws in cities where newspapers enjoyed a press monopoly as a result of illegal joint operating agreements The test case, involving two Tucson newspapers, has been upheld by U S. District Court and Supreme Court decisions

S1520 would override those decisions, thwart future government action against such monopolies, and preserve the highly profitable media domination enjoyed by such combines and newspaper conglomerates.

THOSE OF US opposed to S1520 believe such press monopolies should not be legitimized by exempting them from antitrust laws.

Rather, the government should be encouraged to continue applying such laws to newspapers with as much vigor as in other areas of business activity. Newspapers must be held to the same competitive standards as all other business, and any newspaper which uses its market in a predatory manner or seeks to lessen competition by unlawful means should be held accountable.

S1520 is designed solely to benefit the monopolists and further diminish the competitive challenge of independent media.

The impact of such legislation may even be felt in Northwest suburbs, once served by a host of independent newspaper voices Recent acquisitions and other developments, however, have left Paddock Publications as the only major locally-owned, locally controlled independent newspaper element in all of north, northwest or west suburban Chicago.

THE FEW PRESS lords determined to win passage for S1520 have marshalled unprecedented economic power and political influence in its behalf; the bill is expected to pass and become the law of the land by the Fourth of July

When the public finally awakens to the travesty which has been played upon the public interest and the First Amendment, it will be too late.

Thermal Pollution New Lake Threat

The newest kind of pollution to menace man and his environment is thermal pollution, one of those dreadful prices we pay if we're not careful in our progress

The threat of thermal pollution — excessive heating of natural water supplies — is now being raised in Lake Michigan

The Commonwealth Edison Co. is building a $392 million nuclear generation plant on the lake near Zion and plans to circulate 1 5 billion gallons of water daily through the plant to cool the reactor.

There have already been grave warnings of the possible side-effects. Charles H. Stoddard, former regional coordinator for the Interior Department, says the return to the lake of the heated water could "wreak havoc" to fish life and create "a simmering soup of algae and seaweed."

His solution is for the Edison Co. to install "cooling towers" that would return the water to its natural temperature before releasing it back into the lake. The company has no such plans at the moment.

The U. S. Corps of Engineers has called for public comments on the entire project by July 4, but has set no public hearing.

We suggest that a public hearwell publicized — is in order, so that responsible individuals and agencies can make their views known. But more than that, we suggest that Commonwealth Edison make a public hue and cry unnecessary, and act on its own to remove the thermal pollution threat from its project.

A Salute To Area's Youth

by ED MURNANE

This is a time of year that belongs to young people

School is out and for those who have put in nine long months of hard work, the three month vacation is a most welcome event

For one small group of Rolling Meadows students the summer vacation's first full week is providing the reward for their efforts of the past months The group members of the Community Church of Rolling Meadows departed for New York City Monday where they will tour relax and learn a little more about this country

IN A TIME WHEN young people are so often criticized for their actions and ideas, it's satisfying to see recognition going to a group that has worked hard and with good intentions

There are many others Rolling Meadows area youngsters who deserve some praise and this column salutes them too

Greg Warner, only 15 years old and a sophomore at Fremd High School, probably is the best example of a teen being rewarded justly for his accomplishments Greg, a very accomplished photographer, was recently named the nation's best high school photographer. Earlier this year, he had been named best in Illinois

The hundreds of kids from Rolling Meadows, Palatine and surrounding areas who have worked all year raising funds for a teen center deserve a pat on the back Their goal has almost been met, and their efforts will result in a much needed facility for themselves and for tomorrow's teenagers too.

Another large group of youngsters -- members of local Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops — have been silently working with the Rolling Meadows Civil Defense Department, distributing booklets that tell of precautions that should be followed in times of emergencies.

MOST OF THESE are kids who go about their normal business with a minimum of fanfare and without getting in trouble. Sometimes they don't get as much attention as they should, but nevertheless, they deserve praise from their elders.

When they do get in the limelight, as Greg Warner did, they do it not only for themselves, but for all the others who don't make it quite that far.

In the Sunlight, Violence Flared

by G. C. SKIPPER

The grass is very green in Union Square where the old men sit in the sun

Beyond the square cable cars clang and heavily thrust themselves up the hills that make San Francisco one of the world's most scenic cities

AT UNION SQUARE on Memorial Day weekend, the noon sun drove away the damp wind for awhile and all the old men half dozed on their benches We sat with them, three of us along one walkway Down the sidewalk an elderly woman sat reading a small book

A street walker in a short skirt passed through the square for the second time

At the elderly woman's back was a hedge, and beyond the hedge four men had spread newspapers on the grass From the sound of their voices and from the way one stopped when he got up to move from one side of the spread-out newspaper to the other, you could tell they were drunk.

The woman didn't look up from her book when the voices got loud behind her Nobody paid any attention at all Not until the whap of flesh against flesh cut across the feathery sounds the pigeons made and one of the four men shouted.

"YOU WANT MORE? Huh? You want more?"

At that point we all turned, and the men were standing, glaring at one man who looked older than the rest It was the younger one who had shouted The older man had been hit I turned to say something to the other people on the bench with me (and also to glance at the children behind me) and I did not see what else happened

There was a violent hushed sound, some kind of horrible movement, and when I turned again and looked down toward the elderly woman reading, the younger man had the older one by the throat and was choking him They had fallen into the hedge behind the woman.

She put her book away rapidly and stood up Even as we moved away from our bench, the woman turned, removed her glasses and suddenly whacked the younger man across the knuckles

"You men stop that fighting!" she cried.

AND SURPRISINGLY, they did.

The younger man scrambled up and then somebody helped the older man up. They walked away

The elderly woman saw us standing and walked down to where we sat.

"Isn't that just awful?" she said. "Why, that man was already turning blue," And then, replacing her glasses, she returned to her bench.

Nobody seemed to pay any particular attention to what had happened. The cable cars still clanged up the hill beyond the square ladened with tourists. The old men sat content in the sun warming themselves and the woman returned to her book

We called the children and prepared to leave As we made our way along the sidewalk, the streetwalker passed again in her short skirt, and then I looked back and saw him

HE STOOD trembling behind the hedge, afraid and ashamed and worried that the other men would come back and all the hidden violence of a beautiful city showed itself in that split second at noon in Union Square.

I wanted to say something, wanted to hold on to whatever it was that was dying, but he bent over, still trembling and picked up a piece of newspaper — some lost, wild gesture of apology — and walked away.

"Look at the pigeons, Daddy," my son said, so I turned away

The streetwalker was out of the square now, crossing the street toward the tourists on the corner.

Park Waiters Over-patient

The June 5 article "Instant Parks? Impossible!" begs the question of the complaints concerning work being done on our parks. Miss Browning states that citizens have to be realistic and that the "I want it now" attitude of citizens is unreasonable. The fact of the matter is that citizens have been overly patient and that they are not stating "I want it now "

THE COMPLAINTS on the development of Virgmia Park have to do with the removal of existing equipment and the lack of a schedule for the further development and reinstallation of the equipment of the park. The playground equipment was removed in January because the park district had the manpower to do it then As of June 1 a schedule for the development of the park was not available The park thus became inoperative for five months.

It is unrealistic to remove equipment from an existing park with no idea of when work will begin or when it will be reinstalled. No homeowner would remove his kitchen sink in January i. the replacement was not scheduled to arrive until sometime in the fall

Revenue Issue Could Doom Con-Con

If Illinois' revenue situation is not cleared away with an income tax this biennium, the Constitutional Convention is doomed to failure, an urban affairs expert declared this week.

James Banovetz, Northern Illinois University associate professor of political science, placed the odds at 98 to 95 per cent against a successful convention, "if the state legislature does not resolve its state financial crisis."

As Banovetz spoke Tuesday morning in DeKalb, Gov Richard B. Ogilvie sternly addressed the assembly in Springfield, accusing the membership of abdicating responsibility in voting the tax in.

Banovetz placed finance as the major issue that will come before the convention next year. He spoke at a conference on Con-Con sponsored by the Illinois and DeKalb Leagues of Women Voters.

OTHER ISSUES he listed, in order of controversy, that can be anticipated in convention study are consolidation of the executive branch of government and public support to private education.

"There is no doubt we have to move to income tax," Banovetz said. "We can no longer tax the poor and let the rich escape, which has been the pattern in Illinois."

Apparently envisioning the convention split as bitterly as the General Assembly, Banovetz asserted the income tax is basic to the whole state revenue picture.

"There has to be some method of resolving the financial crisis."

Banovetz labeled finance as an area that would come up under a general category he called "situations in Illinois." Other broad categories the convention will be dealing with are issues common to all Con-Cons, issues that arise with the nature of the times and nonissues, but regarded as such.

Until delegates are elected and convene, Con-Con leaders are selected and alignment of delegates is noticeable, the issues cannot be predicted with certainty, the speaker said

UNDER ISSUES common to all conventions, he listed organizing, determining rules and committee assignments. Then there will be questions of how much detail and specification go into a constitution and whether there is to be special treatment for special interests.

He raised these questions to alert the public of significant, but nonexciting events:

"Who will the leaders be? What will be the kind of internal structure? Will alignment of delegates be along party lines? Pro-Ogilvie and pro-Daley lines? Chicago versus downstate? Or Chicago versus Cook County versus nonmetropolitan areas versus farmers?

Some "kinds of battles" the public can expect in the convention are pressures for special privileges, he said. As an example, he said labor might want to be favored Going into a question of detail of a constitution, Banovetz said a state constitution is to restrain and restrict power, whereas the U. S. Constitution delineates power. A state constitution is less permissive and more restrictive, he said.

"It comes to how much do we want to tie hands of the legislature, restrict and restrain them."

On issues germaine to the times, Banovetz predicted the convention delegates will be concerned with civil rights, law and order, the poor, and aid to private education.

Of these, public aid to private education is apt to be particularly bothersome, he said, predicting this will be a headline issue.

HE ASKED, "Should the legislature be empowered or restrained to act on this issue or will the convention remain silent and leave it up to the Illinois Supreme Court?"

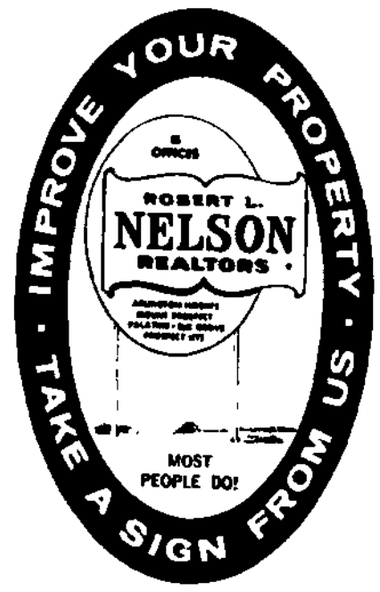

Going into restructuring government, Banovetz raised questions about local government being authorized to handle its problems Because Cook County's government is regulated by constitution, Banovetz asked how the county can go about reapportionment under the one-man, one-vote ruling.

He forecasted bitter resentment over any convention attempts to consolidate the executive branch of government as "it will severely restrain the patronage and spoils system."

"There will probably be an attempt to delete all references to township government, not deleting townships, just references, so the legislature can abolish it."

School districts will demand greater autonomy, too, he said.

Moving to nonissues, he said these problems have been so discussed they are not out of the issue category as there is no longer opposition to them. Some of these are 18-year-old's right to vote and reapportionment, he said.

Whatever Rings Your Chimes, Pal

FEDERALSBURG, Md. (UPI) — Alfred Sherman, a bakery employe, stages a clockin every midnight in his home in this quiet Eastern Shore community.

At the stroke of midnight, the 114 clocks in Sherman's home do their own thing, chiming an odd cacophonous blend of music, bells and chimes.

Waltzes like the "Blue Danube" blend with other tunes, clash with the national anthems of France and Great Britain, and tangle with religious hymns like "Lead Kindly Light" and "Gates Ajar."

Despite his chiming clocks, Sherman depends on a special, hand-tooled alarm clock to wake him at 3 a.m. for his bakery job

Sherman became interested in his hobby when his boss, Frank Zaffere, gave him a broken musical clock 29 years ago. Sherman got the clock running and was hooked on timepieces

Walkin' the Sidelines

by PAUL LOGAN

THE SCENE IN the adjoining column was taken from the commercial put out by the President's Council on Physical Fitness. Accompanying this television ad is the tune: "Don't Fence Me In."

But the whole 60 second film is directed toward the city fencing kids out of school facilities during the summer.

The commercial probably doesn't mean much to suburbanites because we're not locked out of the school grounds like the small boy with the basketball. However, many people — young and old — are unaware of the facilities available for them.

"We unlock the gates and let the people in," said Howard Lester, District 214 coordinator of physical welfare, recently. "And I think that the kids do take advantage of it."

Lester explained that all the buildings in District 214 were being used for activities during the summer.

"Wheeling is especially busy," he pointed out. "There are open activities — roller skating, tennis, track, etc — for anybody through high school age. The kids pay a tuition fee to participate which is arranged through the summer school program."

However, so far the facilities have not been fully utilized by the adults in the area Lester explained that during the winter they were greatly used by adults but during the summer this wasn't the case

"Our doors are open, all the adults have to do is provide their own leadership — enough so it satisfies the insurance people," he advised. "We have never had any adults show any interest."

Lester explained that the district has always cooperated with the park districts and if they wanted to use the district's facilities for adults, and provide the park district supervision, the buildings would be theirs.

For two schools in District 211 this is the case. Fremd and Palatine high schools are working with the Palatine Park District to form an intramural sports program covering age groups from the seventh grade on up and including the adults.

For a small fee ($3) residents of the area can take part in basketball, weight lifting, wrestling, football, gymnastics, track, volleyball and tennis among others

"We have different programs going on depending on what the person is interested in," explained Mrs. Fran Clapper, secretary to the director of the park district "It's been a good program so far."

WHEN WE MOVED to the suburbs — after living for most of our lives in a town that just had a park — the park district program seemed strange to us We, like so many new arrivals in this area, just didn't really know what the park districts had to offer.

However, it didn't take long to see that these institutions are jam packed with activities for the young, the old and the in between.

Here are just a few of the things going on or about to take place at three of the area's larger park district sites

MOUNT PROSPECT: One of the new programs is the Bent Pin Club — a fishing club for youngsters which will be held at 12 locations There will be 10 sessions of an hour each and Thursdays will be set aside for fishing excursions

FENCED OUT?
Not in the Suburbs

For boys and men there are 16-inch softball leagues The men play Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and the boys, 18 years of age and under, perform on Saturdays.

Senior citizens also can get into the activities act in the "Young at Heart" program. Every Monday from nine until noon there are varied projects which are carried on in the Community Center's Maple Room

PALATINE: For the three and a half year olds there's a creative playtime class and for the four and five year old tots there is a pre-kindergarten program.

If you like to play golf, Palatine Hills Golf Course is waiting for Palatine residents for just a moderate seasonal rate. And if you are between 32 and 18 years of age or are a senior citizen, there are special reduced rates.

Mrs. Clapper also pointed out that there's a girl's softball program just starting for seventh and eighth graders. The woman in charge is volunteering her time and there is no cost. If enough girls show an interest there will probably be games played every day.

ARLINGTON'S RECREATION PARK: For the adults there are tennis programs in the morning and in the evening. And another chance for the ladies to do their thing is the Thursday night women's softball program Mrs. Mary Lou Boden, who is the center director at Recreation Park, admitted that the ladies have so much fun "they roll on the ground laughing."

After little league is finished, the park is planning to have co-educational softball for adults, according to Mrs. Boden.

She added that one of the most important projects on the Recreation Park summer schedule is the day camp for the retarded children from the Clearbrook Center in Rolling Meadows.

After participating in the vigorous activities that are offered at this park district, those who wish can enjoy the sauna baths that are available.

Besides these forms of recreation, your neighborhood park probably has such varied leisure time consumers as swimming, gymnastics, bowling, horseback riding, water ballet, dancing, acrobatics, crafts, card games, playground equipment, etc.

To find out what else is available at your park district or local school this summer, give the park or the district office a call. These institutions are here to serve you and their staffs are eager to make you happy.

They are probably the most reasonably priced forms of entertainment available in the Northwest Suburbs. And, what makes it most tempting is most of the activities are free.

As the man said — the doors are open, but it's up to you to use the facilities.

Arlington Captures Four Wins in Five Decisions

The Arlington Heights American Legion baseball team kicked its season off in dramatic style this weekend, claiming four victories in five decisions on a road trip through central Illinois

Playing Danville three times and Westville and Watseka once, Post 208 racked Danville, 14-4, Friday, edged Westville, 4-3, Saturday, then split a doubleheader Sunday with Danville, losing the first game, 2-1, and then striking back in the second test to win, 8-5. Against Watseka, Heights posted a 9-1 victory.

Friday's season opener against Danville was a combination of masterful hurling by Heights chuckers Gary Anderson and Bob Leja and powerful work at the plate, led by Jack Bastable, Cary Salm, Mike Wulbecker and Jim Kolari.

After Anderson had seen a few shaky moments in the first — giving up three runs — Heights fought back with six big markers in the third, sending ten men to the plate. In the fourth, Coach Lloyd Meyer's charges racked up another five tallies, then added single runs in the fifth, eighth and ninth for the win.

AT THE PLATE. Bastable and Wulbecker both went three for six, scoring twice each, while Salm scored three times going three for five. Kolari and Dave Somers both went two for four, and Kolari scored once. In all, Post 208 collected 15 hits.

In Saturday's battle with Westville things got a little tighter for Arlington, but a strong pitching performance by Randy Cordova with help from Dave Jones gave Heights a 4-3 verdict. In nine innings, the former Prospect varsity teammates fanned nine Westville batters and allowed but one hit until the eighth, when Westville exploded for five hits and three runs.

Salm donned the hero's mantle for this game, going one for one at the plate in addition to walking twice and sacrificing a runner up a base. Dave Lundstedt chipped in with a two for three performance, and Bruce Frase went one for three, scoring once.

THE DECISIVE run was tallied in the eighth when Salm led off with a walk and worked himself around to third. Bastable then came up with his only hit of the day to chase him home. Arlington had scored once in the third, sixth and seventh.

In Sunday's double header with Danville, Steve Stratton and Danville's Pittman got into a pitcher's battle in the first game as Arlington netted 11 hits but could score only one and Danville parlayed six hits into a pair of markers.

Stratton had good control of the game until the ninth when Leja came in to relieve him, and Danville pushed across the winning run on a pair of hits. Arlington scored its single run in the fifth and had the bases loaded with one out — but couldn't push across any more scores

SALM ONCE again was the big stick for Post 208, collecting two hits in three at bats. Kolari and Bastable both went two for four.

But after losing the first game, a game that Heights probably should not have lost, Meyer's charges came back in the second game to post an 8-5 win, with Bastable, Frase, Kolari and Dave Somers supplying most of the fireworks.

Post 208 didn't wait long to strike, pushing across a single run in the second to take the lead. Then in the third, three more runs came home on a combination of two errors and a wild pitch. In the fifth, Heights added another trio of runs on an error and two hits, and then fashioned an insurance run in the sixth of three straight singles.

DANVILLE, MEANWHILE, was putting runs on the scoreboard at the rate of one per inning from the second to the fifth inning. The hosts then added their fifth and final run in the seventh.

Altogether, Arlington hit safely nine times to Danville's seven, with Jim Bokelmann earning the mound victory. Bastable went two for three; Frase hit twice in three at bats, Kolari went one for two and scored twice; and Somers went one for four, his lone hit a three bag blast to right.

Monday afternoon, against Watseka, Dave Jones went the distance on the mound, fanning eight and allowing only four hits. He was given plenty support at the plate by Salm and the rest of the lineup, as Arlington closed out its road trip with a 9-1 victory.

With Jones chucking, Salm provided the only two runs that Arlington needed by blasting a shot to left with Jones on board that went for a home run. Heights followed up with another two runs in both the fourth and fifth, and then brought home three more in the seventh. Watseka, meanwhile, was able to tally only once in the third.

In addition to his four bag blast, Salm also carded a double, while Kolari and Lundstedt chipped in another two doubles.

NANCY SKARZYNSKI of Arlington Heights delivers a powerful backhand shot against Kit Rose of Waukegan in the finals of the Chicago District Tennis Association preliminary meet at Arlington High School Tuesday. Nancy, who was competing in the 16-year old bracket, finished second to Miss Rose and was recommended to the CDTA Championships today and tomorrow at Exmoor Country Club in Highland Park.

Visk Runs 9:07 for Sixth In Golden West Track Test

Mark Visk, Palatine's state champion two-miler, journeyed to Sacramento, Calif. last weekend to meet the toughest competition available in the country in his speciality.

The occasion was the Golden West Invitational track meet, showcasing the top eight or nine high schoolers in the United States in each event. Visk brought home a sixth place finish, nearly equalling his record time of last month in the state meet.

Visk covered the two miles in 9:07 0. He had posted a 9:06.1 at Champaign for the Illinois record.

THE WINNER of the event was Fred Ritcherson of Los Angeles, who set a new meet record with a clocking of 8:55.2.

Some spectacular efforts were turned in, including several national or meet marks tied or set. However, most of them were disallowed because of a strong wind.

Probably the most eye-popping performance came in the pole vault. Caset Carrigan of Orting, Wash., a well-known vaulter around the country, went 17-4¾ to set a national high school record and earn recognition as the most valuable performer of the meet. Carrigan finished third in Olympic competition last year at the age of 17.

WILLIE McGEE of Hattiesburg, Miss. tied a national record in the 100 yard dash, another spectacular event. McGee turned in a 9.3 time, and seven runners ran 9.5 or better.

Another new meet record came in the discus, when George Amundson of Aberdeen, S. D. turned in a heave of 193-6.

Three state champs from Illinois finished second in their respective events. Willie Thomas of Chicago Englewood had a 1:51.1 in the 880 yard run, Oscar Wallace of Alton went 25-0 in the long jump, and Ken Popejoy of Glenbard West had a 4:09.3 in the mile.

SEVERAL MARKS that would have been records were disallowed because of the wind. These included a national record in the 120 high hurdles by Rodney Milbourn of Opelousa, La. His time was 13.4. Another such performance was a 25.6 in the long jump by Huelen Hewitt of Merced, Calif.

Two other record-breaking showings which were not allowed were a 20 8 in the 220 yard dash by Gerald Tinker of Dundeen, Fla. and a 50-11¼ in the triple jump by Zach Gillon of Peeksville, N. Y.

Don Randall of Dallas won the shot put with a 64-¾ showing, and Jim Pearce of Shawnee Mission, Kan. hurled the javelin 242-1 to cop that event.

Winning the 880 with a time of 1:49 8 was Brian McElroy of New York City. The 440 went to Lawrence Jones of Lemoore, Calif. (47.0); the 330 intermediate hurdles was taken by Mike Cronholn of Dallas (38.0); and the 180 low hurdles went to Jerry Wilson of Fresno, Calif. (18.8).

Another Fresno lad, Rick Fletcher, took the high jump with a leap of 6-9¼1 The mile run was ruled by Steve Prefontaine of Coos Bay, Ore. with a time of 4:06.0.

In all, 30 states, plus provinces of Canada, were represented.

Trip Funds Needed

Money is still needed to cover the expenses incurred by Mark Visk and Palatine coach Joe Johnson in the trip to California for the Golden West Invitational. Contributions may be sent to John Hughes at the Palatine National Bank or Fred Zajonc, 311 E. Norman, Palatine.

Wolves	122 13x—8-5-0

Highlights — Brian Managan pitched winning ball for the Wolves and Kelley took the loss. Vrablick doubled in first to drive in Klien.

Cyclones	000 001— 1- 4
Owls	000 04x—4-10

Highlights — Douglas Barth allowed just one hit to pace the Owls to a 4-1 victory. L. Ahren allowed 10 hits in taking the loss. Mike Smith caught for the Owls and J. Tuelson handled the chores behind the plate for the Cyclones.

Robins	000 502—7 7 0
Redskins	005 000—5-1-0

Highlights — Jeff Barth fired a one-hitter at the Redskins and led his Robin team to a 7-5 victory. Dave Neuhaus took the loss. Don Subeck paced the Robin attack with a homer, triple and an unassisted triple play. Barton also tripled.

Owls	300 210—6
Robins	002 001—3

Highlights — Bob Singer got the victory as the pitcher for the Owls. Kelley took the loss. Singer hit a triple and a double and Breister of the Robins had a double. Knight of the Robins also hit a triple.

Owls	100 023—7-10-
Bees	110 321—8- 8-0

Highlights — The first place Owls received their first defeat this week as the battling Bees stung them with an 8-7 loss. A tight ballgame all the way was broken open in the fourth inning by the Bees' Bob Barnes, whose double drove in three runs. The top of the sixth was the big inning for the Owls. With the bases loaded, Bob Singer tripled to tie the ballgame. The Bees then got two men on base and Ed Spellman hit a long double to right field which drove in the winning run. Besides winning the game with that timely hit, Spellman also made a beautiful running catch in the third inning and converted it to a double play to retire the sides.

Redskins	212 01— 6

Highlights — Scott Vrablick got the victory and Jim Taegge took the setback. Jeff Minogue had a triple.

NORTH RED JUNIORS

Gulls	204 24 12-12-0
Bulls	200 01— 3- 4-0

Highlights — Jeff Bakalar crashed a triple and John Finn a double to back the four-hit pitching of David Snow. Loser was Mike Walsh.

Millers	124 1 8-3
Larks	013 1 5-3

Highlights — Walks and errors played the biggest part in this game in which both sides got only three hits. Norm Sterner was credited with the victory, Mike Tillman took the loss.

Larks	103 110 6-7
Millers	021 000 3-1

Highlights — Backed by outstanding defensive play, Mike Healy twirled a one-hitter for the Larks. Mike Loch and Mike Williams belted triples.

Larks	401 202 9-10
Bulls	000 500 5- 0

Highlights — Mike Williams spun a no-hitter against the Bulls. Bill Prieb belted a homer, Mike Healy and Mike Tillman triples to pace the Larks attack. Prieb, Tillman, and Healy also combined for the game's only double play.

Millers	022 003 7- 8
Gulls	130 200 6-10

Highlights — In a see-saw battle, the Millers rallied for three runs in the final inning to win it. Winning pitcher Norm Sterner stroked a two-bagger, Pete Wilkiewicz and Jim Auge triples in the decisive sixth. For the losers, Dave Bahls had a home run. Dave Snow a pair of doubles. Bahls took the loss in relief.

Trojans	012 122 8-9-1
Panthers	001 104 6-9-1

Highlights — Bob Fox, the winning pitcher, had two doubles and a single while catcher Brian Wachill had a four-for-four day. Losing pitcher was Bob Krewer.

Expos	600 21 9-8-0
Spartans	233 1(13) 72-19-0

Highlights — Winning pitcher Bell belted a home run in his own behalf, Tom Stoiber had a pair of doubles, and Kay a two-bagger for the Spartans. For the Expos, Norrell had a double and Kehe a triple.

NORTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

Mohawks	350 015—14-11-1
Dragons	321 100— 7- 5-0

Highlights — The power-packed Mohawks benefited from four home runs, one each by Dave Martshorne, Gary Eberle, John Andrup, and Kevin Gray. Tom Recknagel got the pitching victory.

Colts	600 102—9-6-0
Colonels	400 000—4-9-5

Highlights — The Colts exploded for six runs in the very first inning but the Colonels charged right back as Bob Thorpe blasted a grand-slam homer to narrow the lead. However, the Colts and winning pitcher Tom Fredericks held them scoreless from then on. Steve Butkus doubled for the Colts, who now had a 7-1 record tied the Bullets for the first half championship.

Bullets	220 10—5-10
Steelers	000 03— 3- 6

Highlights — A spectacular last-inning rally fell just short for the Steelers when the tying run was out at the plate to end the game. Jay Hair was the winning pitcher as Rick Karst belted the game's only extra base hit, a double.

Mohawks	010 030— 4 6-4
Colts	001 75 —13-12 2

Highlights — The Colts continued in a tie for first with their eighth victory in nine games, erupting for seven runs in the fourth. Mark Anderson and Tom Fredericks ejected home runs for the winners and Kevin McBride added a double.

Rifles	428 332—16 18
Steelers	022 403—11 17

Highlights — The Rifles won a real slugfest that saw a total of 35 hits pounded out, at least seven of which went for extra bases. Dan Harte led the hit parade for the Rifles with a homer, triple, and single and four RBI's. Teammate Ben Huskie ripped a triple and drove in two runs, Jim Harte had a double and two RBI's. Gary Gebhardt rapped a triple and single, John Gillen hammered a single and double, and Craig Dudek totaled three RBI's with a pair of base hits. For the Steelers, John O'Malley homered and Steve Finck collected three hits.

Mounties	300 12—6-4 2
Colonels	005 01—4-4 2

Highlights — Neither of the pitchers, Chuck Weege of the Mounties nor Peter Finley of the Colonels, gained a decision in a five-inning affair, as both teams' totals were identical.

Steelers	(10)12 34—22 17-9
Dragons	000 02— 2- 4-0

Highlights — The Steelers unleashed a vicious attack, as Jeff Grandman and John O'Malley each ripped a three-bagger and Tim Grieser hammered a pair of triples. Jim Paulson and O'Malley also contributed doubles. Paulson stopped the Dragons on just three hits for the mound win.

Bullets	100 23— 6-8-1
Rifles	025 1 —10-7-2

Highlights — The Rifles' big inning was the third, when they posted five big runs that made the difference. Bob Rossdeutcher, Gary Gebhardt, and John Gillen claimed two runs batted in apiece and Dan Harte was outstanding in the clutch. For the Bullets, Rick Karst collected a triple and a single.

NORTH RED INTERMEDIATE

Cowboys	728 0—17-8-0
Hornets	220 0— 4 1-0

Highlights — Barry Taggers and Don Spychala blasted home runs, Larry Buick ripped a triple, and Tom Rilger and Mike Rumonz cracked doubles as Brian Palmer won on the hill on a one-hitter.

Cadets	002 000—2-0-0
Doves	000 201—3-4-1

Highlights — The Doves broke a 2-2 tie to win a thriller in the bottom of the sixth as Craig Lampkins stopped the Cadets on a no-hitter. After the Cadets jumped to a 2-0 lead, Mike Mertes tied it up for the Doves with a two-run homer in the fourth. Greg White then became hitting hero, walloping a game-winning triple in the sixth.

Cowboys	520 731—17-9-0

Highlights — Larry Brack pitched perfect ball for three innings, helping shut out the Blades, and also helped his own cause at the plate with a grand-slam home run. Mike Rulger rapped a triple for the winners.

Angels	000 012—3-4
Scouts	000 100—1-3

Highlights — Mark Holm cracked a two-base hit, helping give the victory to Bill Kinsey, who pitched a strong three-hitter.

Bruins	040 53—12-4-0
Hornets	132 30— 9 9-0

Highlights — The Bruins broke a tie in the final inning to outlast the Hornets in a sluggers' match. Dan Brown and Andy Williams each tripled for the Hornets and Dave Scanlan rapped a pair of singles for the Bruins.

Cadets	100 002—3-8-0
Scouts	041 00 —5-6-0

Highlights — Steve Lange bested Criss Smith on the hill.

Grizzlies	200 004—12-11-0

Highlights — Bob Walsworth enjoyed a field day at the plate, blasting two home runs and a triple with the bases loaded. Scott Cory also had a key wallop for the Grizzlies, a grand-slam homer. It was see-saw all the way, with the Grizzlies putting on a last-ditch rally to eke out a thriller.

Blades	023 0— 5- 7-0
Scouts	245 2—13-12-0

Highlights — Jamie Broddock blasted a home run as leadoff batter and Jim Kock of the Blades made a sommersault catch in the field.

Mt. Prospect Baseball

Highlights — Jim Lynch of the Tigers doubled in the fifth inning when his team tied the game with two runs. Then Mark Bonnecki became the hero of the day, blasting a home run in the bottom of the sixth for the winning tally. John Veazel, who hurled a three-hitter, bested Jim Lynch in a fine pitchers' duel.

Athletics	000 200 00—2-5-1
Senators	000 001 01—3-8-1

Highlights — The Senators won a thriller, coming from behind to win in extra innings and clinching the first-half championship. Tom Teichert walloped a key home run in the sixth when the Senators tied the game. Steve Harris had doubled for the Athletics when they broke the scoring ice with a two-run fourth. Teichert's home run gave him the mound victory, as he hurled a five-hitter to top Steve Harris.

Yankees	020 002—4-6-0
Tigers	000 000—0-1-2

Highlights — Tom Vasios hurled a near-no-hitter, giving up the Tigers' only hit to leadoff batter Don Bledsoe. Chris Dorey's triple and doubles by Ken Kukatsch and Neil Schmidt helped the Yankees' cause.

Yankees	000 201 00—3- 9
Tigers	003 000 01—4-10

Highlights — Dennis Garza rapped a double, helping himself to the mound victory over Mark Bonecki. Dan Townsend was the batting hero, stroking a triple and double and driving in the winning run. Dane Smith turned in a fine job defensively in center field.

Red Sox	200 000—2-3-3

Highlights — Some robust hitting by the Senators, including three extra-base hits, helped give the mound victory to Randy Hollinger, who yielded just three safeties. Dick Starki swatted a home run, Scott Burkhardt pounded a single, double, and triple, and Tom Teichert rapped a pair of hits.

Red Sox	010 020 0—3
White Sox	030 000 0—3

Highlights — None given.

Yankees	001 000 0—1-4-0
Senators	000 010 0—1-3-2

Highlights — The Yankees' Neil Schmidt and Senators' Tom Teichert locked up in a brilliant pitchers' duel, with Teichert giving up only one hit and striking out nine while Schmidt yielded five safeties and whiffed 12. Scott Burkhardt was the only batter having any success, collecting three hits for the Senators.

White Sox	000 000 00—0-5-0

Highlights — The teams battled scorelessly for seven frames, with winning pitcher John Veazel and Jeff Kurg both superb on the hill. The A's finally pushed across a run in the eighth on Veazel's single.

Yankees	000 04—4-6-1

Highlights — After four innings of scoreless ball, the Athletics finally broke the ice on Dan Borland's base hit. But the Yanks roared back with four runs, with Tom Sporleder getting a two-run single for the winning hit and Ken Kubarick also driving in a run. Tom Sporleder bested Steve Harris in another fine pitchers' battle.

SOUTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

Wolverines Rick Baker, making his first start
Marlins 112 000—4-8-1

Highlights — Bob Urbain and Fish rapped doubles and Terry Lent slugged a triple for the losers. Winning pitcher was O'Hasskle, loser Mike Stobler.

Ravens	000 002—2
Gators	832 110—9

Highlights — Don Stebbens got the victory for the Gators.

Marlins	022 301— 8
Gators	730 00*—10

Highlights — George Grassmuck and Don Stebbins combined to stop the Marlins after the Gators had exploded for seven runs in the first inning.

Wolverines	000 100— 1-4-2

Highlights — The Dons sent 14 men to the plate in an eight-run outburst that buried the Wolverines. Rick Baker, making his first start of the year for the Dons, hurled a four-hitter. John Whitnell and Peter Martin socked doubles for the winners and Center-fielder Tom Brunner made a spectacular catch in the fourth to end a Wolverine threat. The Dons ended the first half of the season with an 8-0 record, a .392 team batting average, and 81 runs to their opponents' 27.

Stars	040 010—5-7-2

Highlights — Tom Rettberg doubled home two runs in the first to start the Dons on their way. Rettberg also contributed two singles for a perfect day at the plate. Bryan Sode slugged a bases-loaded triple in the second for the losers. Both Ian Comly, the winning pitcher, and Peter Hom, the loser, went the distance.

Gators	001 010—3- 4-2

Highlights — Scott Ruden struck out 12 men while hurling a strong four-hitter for the Dons. Mark Ackerman and Don Stebbins reached Ruden for doubles in the third. For the winners, Peter Martin had a triple and Jeff Gardner a double.

RICHARD SMITH of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago demonstrates how their IBM keyline system is hooked up to the Dynabank service at Northwest Trust and Savings Bank, Arlington Heights, as visitors to the grand opening celebration for Arlington Heights' third bank watched. The dynebank will be used to provide access to money market data on a daily basis.

She Backs Tax Stand

State Rep Eugenia Chapman, solidly behind the Democratic stand on the state income tax, told the Herald yesterday that individuals will pay more total taxes — state and federal — if corporations and individuals are taxed at the same rate

The Arlington Heights legislator backed up her assertion with this example:

She said that if the state assesses a 3 per cent income tax against a citizen with $10,000 income, he will pay a state tax of $270 and get back $51 in lower federal taxes because the state tax is deductible under federal laws Net cost to the taxpayer is $218, or 2.2 per cent of his total income.

The corporation with the same $10,000 income pays the same $270 under a 3 per cent state income tax, but gets back $142 50 in reduced federal taxes The corporation's net payout would be $142 50, or only 1.3 per cent of income

ONLY IF corporations pay a rate twice as high as private citizens, will the impact on the two groups be the same, she said.

She said she pulled the example from a speech by Democratic State Sen. Thomas A McGloon.

Mrs. Chapman also charged that Republicans are misleading the public when they assert that it is unconstitutional to tax corporations and individuals at different rates.

The revenue article of the Illinois Constitution, she pointed out, requires that taxes be "uniform as to the class upon which it operates."

She said that the legislature can tax corporations and private citizens at different levels simply providing that they are separate "classes" for tax purposes.

SHE SAID state courts have traditionally recognized that the legislature has broad powers to create different classes or groups for tax purposes

"We tax newsprint and ink for newspapers at a different rate than newsprint and ink used for some other purpose We tax tobacco in cigarets at a different rate This would be no different," she pointed out.

But Why Midway?

By MERIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There is something awkward and possibly a bit depressing about national leaders holding so-called summit conferences on places such as Midway Island. At best, it is hard to understand.

The meeting of President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam certainly was in an atmosphere of no distraction, but the setting and the meeting itself lacked the majesty or regality of a Yalta, a Potsdam or the ramparts of the Citadel at Quebec City.

The one-day meeting on Midway between Nixon and Thieu cost a whale of a lot of money—not just the government, but the television networks, press associations, broadcasters, newspapers and magazines.

If the meeting accomplished anything in the direction of peace, cost would be a very minor factor. Also, the news-gathering organizations would have no basic complaint since it is their normal responsibility to go where news develops and report it.

Holding a meeting between chiefs of government and their staffs on Midway, however, is something like holding a national political convention in a small motel at Thurmont, Md.

Leaders such as Nixon and Thieu meet for two reasons—to make decisions, and then to communicate these decisions to the world.

The public relations impact sometimes can be as powerful as the decisions. In the case of Midway, there should be medals for members of the White House staff, the U.S. Navy and specialists of the major communications companies who accomplished a task which they first thought was absolutely impossible.

Within about a week, they converted an isolated little naval station on a tiny island into a massive, functioning communications complex—and it worked.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Thursday, June 19, the 170th day of 1969 with 195 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury, Venus and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1856 the Republicans adjourned their first national convention in Philadelphia, nominating John Freemont for President.

In 1912 the U.S. government adopted the eight-hour day for all its employees.

In 1934 Congress created the Federal Communications Commission to regulate interstate communications, including radio and television broadcasting.

In 1968 more than 50,000 persons took part in a "Poor People's March" in Washington.

A thought for the day: Willa Cather said, "There are all those early memories; one can not get another set; one has only those."

by MAX JENNINGS

LIMA, Peru (UPI)—Peru's working man is having trouble finding a job, and his plight grows worse by the day.

The Peruvian government prefers to classify the problem as underemployment rather than unemployment.

But the symptoms are the same.

Recent study by the Peruvian military junta said that uenmployment was only 5 per cent in Peru, but that underemployment was 35 per cent.

According to the study, an underemployed person is one earning less than 2,000 soles, about $45 per month, or who is working less than 40 hours per week.

In 1967, a similar government study placed the unemployment figure at 4 per cent and the underemployment figure at about two-thirds of what it is estimated now.

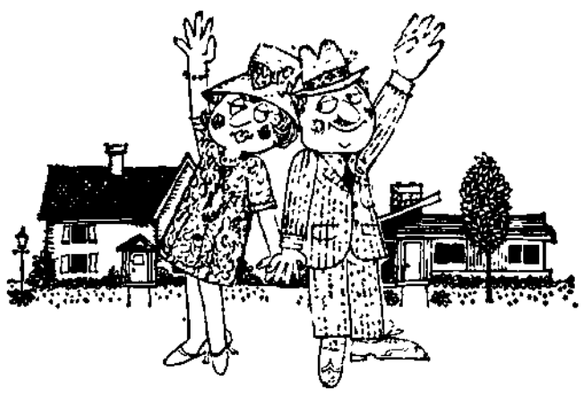

"The ones that are hurt the worst are in construction, commerce and agriculture," a diplomatic source said.

"If you figure the figures for unemployment, and underemployment together, it adds up to about 40 per cent," one government source said. "And that is startling."

But, he said, the Peruvians, like all men, had to eat, and when they didn't have one kind of job, they found other ways to employ themselves, "even to selling pencils on the corner," the government source said.

The uncertainty over the future of U.S.-Peruvian relations, brought on by the deliberations over Peru's expropriation of the International Petroleum Co., has resulted in much of the job scarcity, a diplomatic source said.

Plan Open House

The congregation of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon) will hold an openhouse this weekend in their new church building.

The building, 2035 N. Windsor Drive in Arlington Heights, will be open from 2 to 9 p.m. Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Windsor Drive was formerly Buffalo Grove Road. The church is located north of Palatine Road.

Bishop George C. Naylor said that tours of the building are scheduled and an exhibit will present various aspects of Mormon beliefs. Guides will be present to answer questions concerning the religion.

Bishop Naylor said the $425,000 building includes a chapel, classrooms and a cultural hall for drama, sports and dances. It is the fifth church building completed by the Mormon church in the Chicago area during the last six years.

THE LOCAL congregation, formed four years ago, now has 610 members There is no paid ministry within the church and the new building is staffed by members of the congregation

Bishop Naylor, a Barrington resident, is a member of the National Railway Labor Board. His counselors are Clive Murphy, Mount Prospect, and John Sorensen, Prospect Heights Murphy is employed by the Santa Fe Railroad and Sorensen is a research meteorologist with United Air Lines.

Other officers are Ray and Darlene Shelfield, Jim Berry, Frank Ayrton and Larry Sieblers of Arlington Heights; John Kennedy, Buffalo Grove; Richard Smith, Wheeling; Bonnie Payne, Des Plaines; Lyona Hales, Rolling Meadows and Murray Westergren, Mount Prospect.

When Man Tampers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Some 60 years ago, after a seven-year drought, Los Angeles, which then had 100,000 population, built a 233-mile aqueduct to carry water in from the Owens Valley.

Today, semiarid Southern California has some 10 million residents and with four major aqueducts either carrying water to the area or being built. It is a major example of man's efforts to bring fresh water to an area that does not have enough.

The largest of the California aqueducts stretches 444 miles, but compared to some plans that have been discussed for diverting water from one area to another, it is puny.

A few years ago, some consulting engineers from California proposed redistributing water among large parts of Canada, the United States and Mexico.

They called their plan the North American Water and Power Alliance (NAWAPA), said it would cost $100 billion, and planned to use existing rivers and natural channels wherever possible to bring water from Canada to the U.S. Southwest and Mexico.

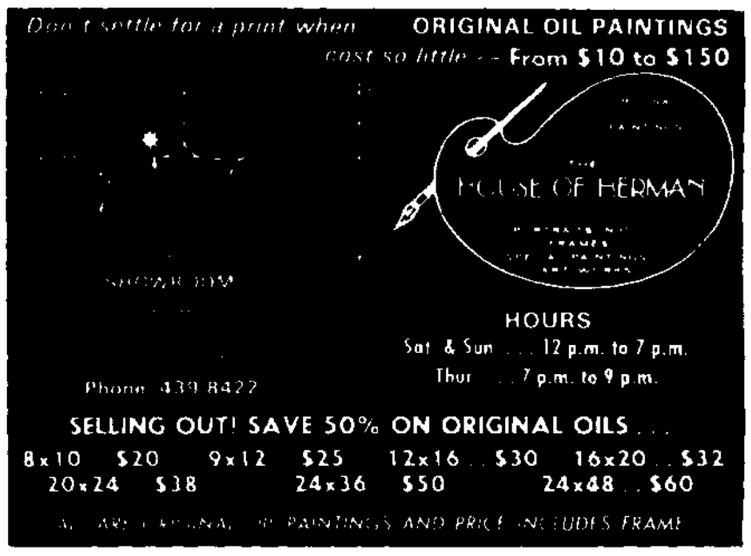

Nothing much ever came of their idea and Dr. Raymond L. Nace, research hydrologist at the U.S. Geological Survey, is glad. He questioned whether NAWAPA might not have cost another $100 billion just to combat unwanted and unforeseen side effects it might had had.

Dr. Barron Commoner, director of the Center for the Biology of Natural Systems at Washington University, also warned of "a nearly fatal illusion: That we have at last escaped from the dependence of man on the balance of nature. We have become not less but more dependent on the balance of nature. Unless we begin to match our technological power with deeper understanding of the balance of nature, we run the risk of destroying this planet as a suitable place for human habitation."

Despite these and other warnings, man continues, generally with the best of intentions, to try to change nature to get more water.

Some of his schemes for doing this would appear to benefit nature. For example, many U.S. irrigation farmers are following Israel's lead and "recharging" their wells. This is done by pumping what normally would be runoff water back into the huge underground reservoirs where nature deposited water in sand and gravel formations over millions of years.

But some proposals being discussed have ominous rings to men like Nace and Commoner who believe technology has given man the means to tinker with nature without knowledge of the consequences.

The London Times: Not So Stuffy Anymore

By PETER J. SHAW

LONDON (UPI) "The thunderer" of Fleet Street still thunders but no longer only for Britain's upper crust.

The Times of London, which used to call itself the newspaper for "top people," has acquired a new accent. It now speeds with the little chaps and John Q. Middleman in mind.

The thunder of its influence has not dimmed, however, and circulation has jumped from 273,000 to nearly 450,000 from January, 1967, the biggest British newspaper growth rate since World War II.

About 25 per cent of The Times new audience is aged 16 to 24, reflecting a drive to recruit young readers.

"We have become interesting without losing our authority," editor William Rees-Mogg said in an interview.

The metamorphosis of The Times from what Rees-Mogg called a newspaper "written by experts for experts" to one "written by experts to interest educated persons" began in January, 1967, when Lord Thomson of Fleet bought the 184-year-old publication.

"The only real trouble with the old Times was its limited financial resources," ReesMogg said. "But it wasn't an interesting newspaper because it was immune to contemporary readers' needs."

Canadian-born multimillionaire Thomson pumped millions of dollars into The Times' operation and doubled the size of the editorial department in less than two years.

The old Times had no promotion department. Under Thomson, campaigns began ballyhooing a broader and less pompous coverage of events and a separate business news section began in April, 1967.

"Nobody is an expert on everything," Rees-Mogg said. "Even specialists are ignorant in other fields. Today's newspaper readers are better educated than ever but you can't treat them as experts."

The lanky top Timesman, 40 and bespectacled, relaxed in a cane rocking chair in his sprawling office as he discussed The Times' success formula.

Rumpled wear dated his blue double-breasted chalk stripe suit. His ideas were fashionably mod.

"Every generation has to make sure it's up to date," Rees-Mogg said. "We aren't about to ignore our old, established readers. But we also want to reach youths who are choosing their first favorite paper."

To keep pace, The Times since 1967 has beefed up its foreign coverage, doubled its business news, emphasized pictures on page one and brightened its sometimes ponderous writing.

Its famous personal columns and the textual-type coverage of Parliament and royal court activities have not been tampered with. The latter commands a page or two of news space daily and stands unchallenged as The Times' cornerstone as a paper of record.

One of Rees-Mogg's first moves was to put bylines over Times' stories, ending a policy of anonymity begun in 1785. No longer is it a status symbol to know identities of Times' correspondents.

The Times' influence upon British governments has always been the most powerful of any British national newspaper. It became known as "the thunderer" through the lashing editorials of Thomas Barnes, editor from 1817 to 1841.

Prime Ministers have courted The Times since Barnes' day, partly because it may be the British paper most often quoted abroad—and at home.

The Times' William Howard Russell was one of the first foreign correspondents. His reporting of the Crimean War inspired Florence Nightingale's mission. Russell later covered the American Civil War ("top people" favored the South).

The old Times began to change somewhat before Lord Thomson took over. In May, 1966, it put news on the front page. Until then, page one was the sanctuary of births, deaths, classified ads and the occasionally bizarre personal notices that Britons find compulsive reading.

The personals still often have a flavor found nowhere else.

"Lord and lady —wish all their many friends a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year," said one last winter, "as they will be vacationing in the Bahamas and not be sending cards this year."

A few days later this appeared:

"Mr. and Mrs. —will be sending Christmas cards to their friends this year as they will not be going to the Bahamas—this year, next year or any year."

Dog notices are popular. One recently offered for sale "one bow legged gentleman Basset hound." Yet another had something of a frantic note, reading:

"I answer to the name of Fred. I'm very good and so well bred, the farmers don't quite share my view, 'cause I'm just wild about lamb and ewes. Please buy me quick or shoot they will, a springer spaniel they're out to kill. . ."

A bit of P.G. Wodehouse creeps into the column too, still. Witness this personal:

"Calling all ghosts. Small committee of responsible (and slightly apprehensive) young ladies would like to hear of authentic haunted houses or building in London where they could test their nerve or nerves."

Modernization, nevertheless, has been the mood and direction of the new Times.

The front page usually has a top center three-column picture and two one-column pictures in the border columns.

Rees-Mogg introduced boldface summary paragraphs atop the day's biggest page one story. It capsules the contents of the main and all related stories in well under 200 words.

"The summary is so important that we will give up the main picture to fit it in," Rees-Mogg said. The Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia was a rare occasion when the main artwork was displaced.

Since the Thomson takeover The Times' average daily size has grown from 22 to 30 pages and there is a special Saturday section on culture and the arts. Advertising sales in 1968 were up 38 per cent over 1967.

A special royal edition of the Times is printed daily. About 100 copies are run off on better quality newsprint—the content is the same.

One copy is delivered by newspaper truck to Buckingham Palace each morning. Most other copies go to the British Museum and libraries for binding. The royal edition costs nine pence (nine cents) against six pence (six cents) for the regular edition.

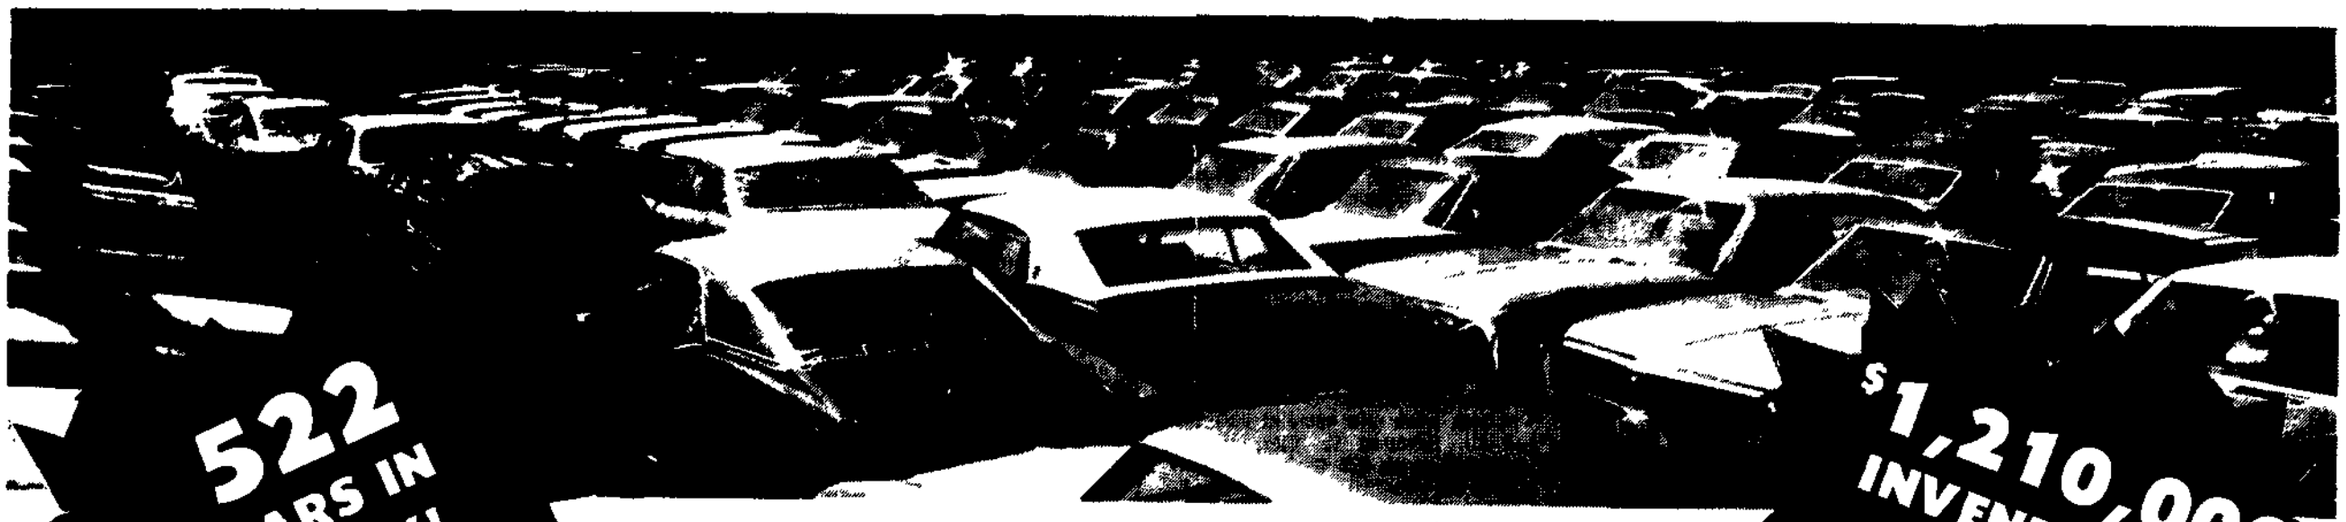

Rees-Mogg, whose mother was an American actress who played on Broadway with Sarah Bernhardt, said the Times' stresses foreign rather than local coverage. "Things are usually pretty quiet at home" he said.

"We're like a big sailing ship, able to carry a big crew. Crises like Czechoslovakia, France and the Middle East test our capacity to cope. Since the Crimean War we've had a top reputation for foreign coverage and we're going to keep it."

A five-man news team, its oldest member 37, contributes "insight" or investigative reports that remain a last vestige of the "scoop" in an era of instant communication. And the promotion ads sum it all up, declaring:

"People have come to realize The Times is a newspaper, not an establishment document. Its readers do not have to belong to a social elite."

WEBER MARKING

Secretary Laboratory

This is a job for a woman who likes to solve problems by experimentation, as well as follow projects of others in the laboratory. A combination position: Secretary to VP and Technical Director requires 60% of time; special technical experiments involving operation of various office machines 40%.

Because of its technical aspects for which there are no specific requirements other than high ability, the position offers better growth opportunity than most executive secretarial positions. Shorthand not required but will be used if available. Take charge of office for group of Chemists and Technicians working to maintain WEBER'S WORLD LEADERSHIP in Addressing Stencils and Thermographic Stencils.

CURIOUS?

You probably aren't as inquisitive as the fellow above, but did you ever wonder just how many classified ads are placed every year in Paddock Publications?

Last year the total was 200,000! That's a lot of votes of confidence in the pulling power of Paddock Want Ads.

They range from help wanted to business services . . . from lost and found notices to apartments for rent. Regardless of their categories, they were placed in Paddock Publications for one reason: people know that Paddock Want Ads bring results. If you're curious whether Want Ads can solve YOUR problem, just dial 394-2400. Paddock Publications.

Derda Looks Back on Year

By PAT GERLACH

(Paul Derda has just celebrated his first anniversary as director of parks and recreation in the villages of Schaumburg and Roselle.)

Paul Derda, although a New Englander by birth, is a Midwesterner by adoption and attitude

Describing himself as "an Air Force brat," he tells of spending the first nine years of his life in Norwich, Conn. His dad, now a retired lieutenant colonel, was then transferred to Puerto Rico for a year and subsequently received a permanent assignment to Forbes Air Force Base in Topeka.

It was there that Derda, who attended a local high school and later graduated from Washburn University, first set his sights on a teaching and coaching career He is a physical education and recreation major.

His eventual gravitation into park and recreational work is interesting since his wife's late father began the Topeka Recreation Committee in 1951.

"ALTHOUGH I really didn't pay much attention to Martha's father's job at the time," Derda said, "when I think of it now I consider it pretty fantastic.

"He started the whole thing single-handedly and now there are 50 people working for the commission, which is a half-million dollar yearly operation," he said.

Topeka's recreation program is considered one of the outstanding departments of its type in the Midwest, Derda feels

While working as superintendent of recreation in Parsons, Kan., Paul heard of the opening in Schaumburg and Roselle park districts last year through his friend, Joseph Bannon, field service director at the University of Illinois

"So, I hopped an airplane and came out here for a look and well, you know the rest."

Soon after Derda's first visit to the Northwest suburbs, he and Martha, who is originally from Texas, and their two daughters Deni, 6, and Debi, 4, took up residence in Roselle.

DERDA IMMEDIATELY settled into the job of running the two park districts, at the direction of each park board, and began to spruce up existing programs and to implement some of his ideas

Greatly to his credit, Roselle residents approved a $400,000 park development program last March and Derda admitted his thorough enjoyment of the hard-sell job he assisted in accomplishing.

He is a golf enthusiast, although he does not manage to get out on the links as often as he'd like. During the last winter he discovered snow skiing, a sport not too popular in the Kansas flatlands, and admitted to being "hooked" on the activity.

Although Derda is an outgoing, warm and talkative man with red hair who enjoys the challenge of a tough job, he thinks of himself as "a peanut-butter-and-jelly-sandwich man" who runs home for lunch with the family almost every day.

Plumbing Inspector, Stompanato, Resigns

Due to the pressures of personal business, Anthony Stompanato, 218 Illinois Blvd. submitted his resignation as village plumbing inspector to members of the Hoffman Estates Village Board this week

Stompanato's resignation was accepted effective July 14 and board members agreed to meet with Dan Murphy, building inspector, to discuss filling the post as quickly as possible.

He is the owner of Stompanato Plumbing and Heating Corp with offices in both Hoffman Estates and Roselle.

nounce a local organization in Des Plaines.

The association has made only three basic demands to the village boards they have approached in Cook County:

—That policemen have the right to have a voice in future decisions which affect them;

—That the association be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for the policeman;

—That a certain percentage of their salary be deducted and used as dues, payable to the association.

THERE IS ANOTHER thing, specifically, which the association is trying to stamp out, and it is that Cook County policemen can be arbitrarily transferred, without those persons transferred being ableto agree or disagree to the move. This is happening right now to Flood and the others.

These men, by general order, cannot comment to anyone on their transfer without suffering the consequences: Suspension from the force for 30 days without pay, and, the officer has no chance to defend himself.

Unity on Youth Asked

Chairman William Ohlson of the Schaumburg Township Committee on Youth (COY) would like to see the Hoffman Estates Youth Commission participate in his group's activities.

At Tuesday's COY meeting, Ohlson stated, "I think that the village youth commission should be part of the township committee on youth. The village group should be aware of what this committee is doing."

Ohlson indicated that since Hoffman Estates has a new village administration, the village youth commission might now consider participation in the Schaumburg Township Committee on Youth. Previously, the Hoffman Youth Commission has acted independently and has not had any representative on COY.

Members of the Hoffman Youth Commission are appointed by village officials.

HOFFMAN ESTATES Youth Commission Chairman Frank Alexa said he would not object to participation of the village commission in the township Committee on Youth.

Alexa said that due to resignations in the last two years there are at present only two active commission members, Alexa and Marvin Morse. In the past the village youth commission has had five members, including the chairman.

With new members named to fill commission vacancies, there would be individuals available who could attend COY meetings and act as a liaison with the township committee, Alexa said. The youth commission in Hoffman Estates is made up of qualified volunteers from the community.

"I just haven't been able to attend COY meetings recently," Alexa said. Recent projects of the village youth commission have included planning the Hoffman Teen Center in the village and planning an ice hockey program for youngsters next year.

ACCORDING TO COY member John Karstrom, the township committee on youth is attempting to obtain regular reports on youngsters involved with the police from all three village departments in the township. These statistics could provide a means of comparison of problems in each village and provide some measure of adult sponsors' effectiveness, Karstrom said.

COY Member John Plum was named Tuesday to head a three-man committee to study the aims and goals of a planned Federation of Statutory Youth Commissions in suburban Cook County. This proposed federation has been suggested by two Evanston Youth Commission members.

Plum will attend a meeting next month to discuss possible bylaws for a federation of youth commissions. At present, however, the township committee on youth does not want to commit itself to membership in such a group without more evaluation.

In other action Tuesday, the youth committee approved a $106 contribution to this year's Twinbrook YMCA drive. This is the same amount given last year.

Teen Splash Party Set Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night, the first of a series of summer teen splash parties sponsored by the Schaumburg Park District will be held in Schaumburg Community Pool from 9 to 11.

This summer the park district is planning six splash parties on Friday and Saturday nights for junior and senior high pupils. Friday night's swim party is for junior high students.

The parties are being sponsored by Schaumburg Park District in cooperation with the township committee on youth and the Schaumburg Police Department. Adult supervision will be provided at the splash events.

UP WITH PEOPLE Singers came to Schaumburg Township Saturday to celebrate Flag Day. They appeared with Joe Mathewson, (above, right) candidate for the 13th District Congressional seat. During the "Up With People" concert, Boy Scout and Cub Scout Troops from Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates gave away miniature flags.

Lindsey Forms Party

NEW YORK — Mayor John V. Lindsey vowed yesterday to turn his defeat in the GOP primary into victory next November by forming a new coalition party of progressive-minded voters to defeat the conservitive Republican and Democratic candidates.

Lindsey said, "Those who came to the polls were in a minority."

Ask A-Plant Funds

WASHINGTON — The House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee has recommended that Congress authorize $217 million in the coming year for the high energy accelerator at Weston, Ill.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., said yesterday the action would bring the 200-billion electorn volt accelerator to its full $250 million authorization.

Pledge Democracy

RIO DE JANEIRO — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has won a pledge from Brazil's military-backed government for an early return to constitutional democracy.

The disclosure that the government intends to restore constitutional guarantees "shortly" was made by Foreign Minister Jose de Magalhaes Pinto. Rockefeller talked with Brazilian President Arthur Da Costa e Silva Tuesday.

SDS Convention Opens

CHICAGO — Students for a Democratic Society opened their national convention yesterday in Chicago behind a wall of self-imposed security and in ferment over which ideological direction the radical student movement should take.

All newsmen were required to register along with delegates and cameras and electronic media gear were barred from the old Chicago Coliseum, the convention site.

GIs Attack N. Viets

SAIGON — Allied forces, backed by a strong air, artillery and naval fire support, caught large groups of North Vietnamese troops infiltrating into South Vietnam and killed nearly 200 Communists, military spokesmen said yesterday.

The fighting Tuesday and early yesterday cost American units alone at least 28 dead and 45 wounded.

Fire Hits Warehouses

SPRINGFIELD — A fire and explosion yesterday caused damage estimated at $100,000 to three adjacent warehouses of the Keystone Builders and Supply Co. about a mile northeast of the Springfield city limits.

Fire officials said an electrical fuse box may have started the blaze. A co-owner of the warehouse was burned on the hands.

Predict Party Loss

DUBLIN — A large voter turnout in the cities yesterday forecast a loss of parliamentary majority for Ireland's traditional governing party, the Fianna Fail of Premier Jack Lynch.

The Labor Party appeared en route to cutting inroads into the government vote on the basis of the city turnout in balloting to elect a new 144-member parliament. Ballot counting and checking begins today.

Will CCPA Members Suffer?

by BARRY SIGALE
A News Analysis

Sgt. John Flood of the Cook County Police force says that any policeman who joins the Cook County Police Association, of which he is president, may suffer the consequences of reprisals from his bosses.

Such has happened to John Flood.

In a recent move by the hierarchy of the sheriff's police department, Flood, a resident of Wheeling, was transferred from his post as patrol sergeant of District 1 in Niles to become an $11,000 a year clerical worker in downtown Chicago.

This is a position which might be a welcome sight (and even an expected move) by a 65-year-old member of any police force who has lost that old zing and must be retired from police work gracefully.

BUT FLOOD, in his early 30's, has a full police life ahead of him.

For a year of his more than 10 years as a policeman, Flood was in charge of the detective division. For another year he headed the criminal extradition section for all of Cook County. And yet another year he was in charge of the vice squad. He was a patrolman for two years and a patrol sergeant for over six years.

But Flood, knowing his job was in jeopardy, pursued this collision course as president of the association (he was a founding father), and continued in his efforts to organize policemen into local chapters so they can have a voice in their future as policemen.

Flood is not the only one that has felt the sting of apparent reprisals.

SGT. KENNY JONES, first vice president of the executive board of the association was just sent to the downtown offices to serve as a radio operator. This, despite the fact that Jones was in charge of the juvenile section in Worth, Ill.

Det. Bill Waldron, who was a member of the juvenile division in Homewood, has been reassigned to patrolman in the same district. Waldron is also a high-ranking member of the executive board of the association.

These men, as is Flood, are all competent, with far reaching backgrounds in the field of law enforcement. They have an aggregate of more than 30 years in police work. All these men are dedicated to their jobs and obviously would have been ripe for promotions when they occurred.

BUT THAT chance has all but frittered away. The Cook County Sheriff's Police has just put an end to the usefulness of these men.

The association has more than 200 members under their wing, including local chapters in Wheeling, Skokie, Evanston, and other towns, and are about to an-

Pool Still Closed

Fortunately for Hoffman Estates youngsters, this week's weather has not been blistering hot, particularly in view of repeated delays in opening the Community Pool.

Originally scheduled to open last weekend, the village-operated facility will not open its doors until Saturday at the earliest, the Herald learned late yesterday.

A sign posted in the village hall last week established the pool opening for 1 p.m. yesterday, and an employe in the clerk's office verified the opening time by telephone Tuesday.

She said that there was no particular reason for late opening of the pool, although a pump problem was briefly referred to during Monday night's village board meeting.

A subsequent call to the clerk's office late Wednesday morning revealed that the opening had been set back to at least Saturday due to operating difficulties of a pump connected to the filter.

FOR THE LAST several years, the pool has never opened on the originally scheduled day and in at least one instance was a full week late in admitting swimmers.

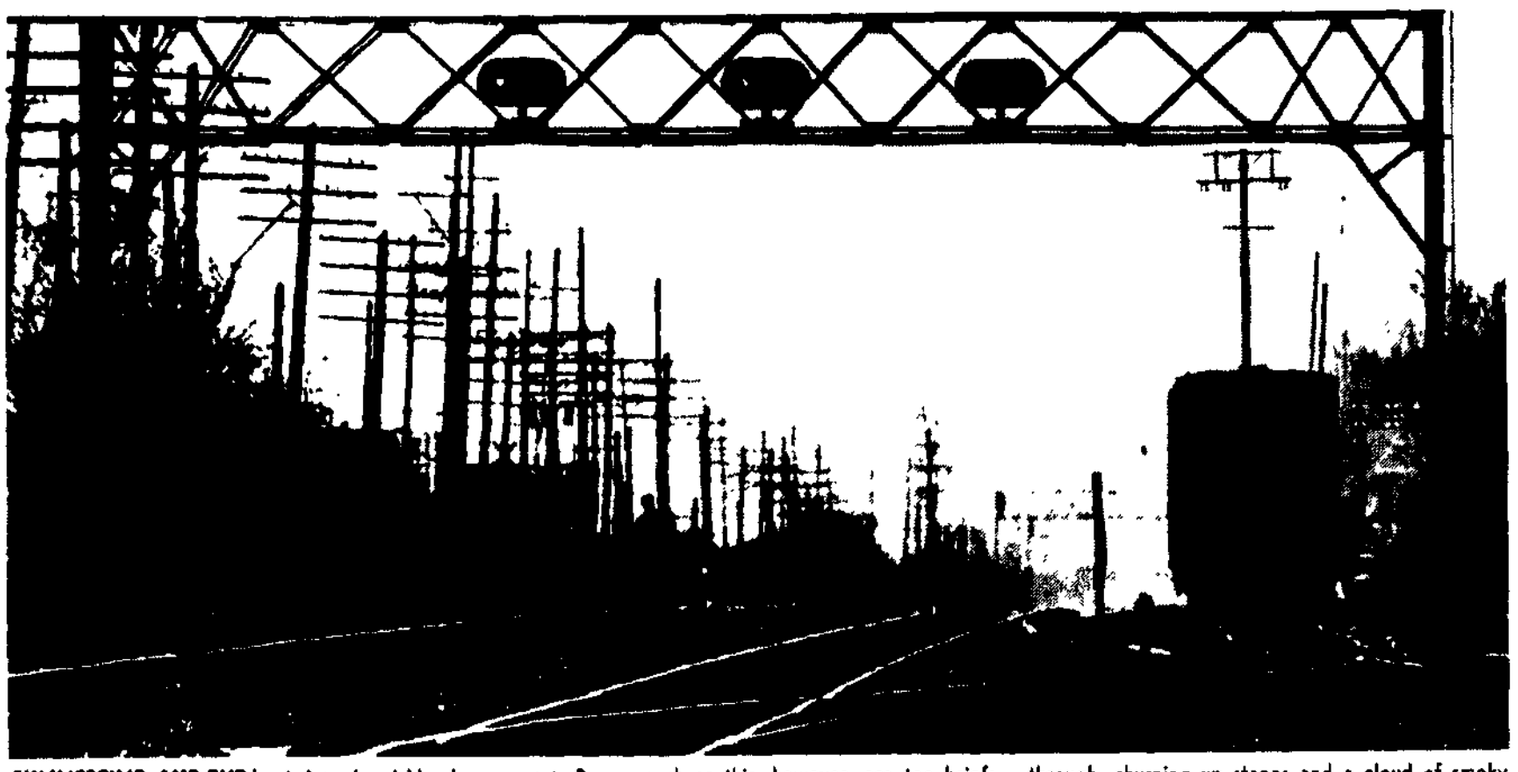

Traditionally pools open immediately after the closing of Dist. 54 schools, however, Schaumburg Pool opened this year on June 9 and Tropicana Swim Club, a private pool in Hoffman Estates, opened with festivities last Sunday.

In a telephone interview yesterday, Trustee Virginia Hayter said she had been informally advised that Heinz Brauner, manager of the pool, had failed to attend this week's village board meeting as requested because of a pumping problem which had occurred at the pool sometime Monday.

She further noted that the village board has received no information regarding the pool, its operation or scheduled opening date. The only data provided concerned a pre-season sale of membership passes, she said, although she pointed out that some information and projected cost material for use in preparing next year's budget has been received.

Stevenson Board Hires 6 Teachers

Six new teachers were hired by the Adlai Stevenson High School board of education at its regular meeting Monday night.

James Stroy, holder of a bachelor's and two master's degrees in science will teach biology next year. He was graduated from Xavier University, New Orleans, with a B.S. in chemistry and biology in 1955, and received his master's in administration and supervision in 1961. He received the master's degree in science education at Virginia State College during the same year. Stroy has had 14 years' experience in New Orleans public schools.

Mrs. Mary Frances Stallmann, a graduate of Northwestern University with seven years experience in library and audio visual areas, will become librarian and audio visual director at Stevenson this fall. She completed her master's in audio visual education at Indiana University in 1967, and has been an AV librarian at Deerfield High School for the last three years.

MRS. CHIQUITA HAYES, who holds a B.S. and M.S. from the University of Wisconsin, was hired by the board as a part-time librarian. She earned her master's in library science in 1968 and has completed additional work at Northwestern University. She has four years experience in Highland Park and Deerfield High Schools.

Mrs. Jamie Keiner, a 1967 graduate of Knox College, will teach Spanish. She has taken additional work at the University of San Francisco, has studied in Valencia, Spain, and is completing her master's at Bryn Mawr College in Pennsylvania. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, top scholastic society.

Philip R. Smith, who completed his bachelor's in musical education at the University of Illinois this spring, will teach choral and string music at Stevenson next year. He replaces William Misik who is on a sabbatical leave to take advanced work at the same school in 1969-70.

JOHN CARGILL, a former student teacher at Stevenson, was hired as a mathematics instructor. He received his bachelor's from Northern Illinois University in 1968 and completed his master's degree in math from the same school this spring. He was a faculty assistant at NIU this year.

Supt Harold Banser told the board that Stevenson is still looking for a math chairman. The school also needs instructors in German, girls physical education and business education to complete the 1969-70 staff.

Although it was announced earlier, the board accepted the official resignation of Wallace Jensen, distributive education teacher, Monday night. Banser indicated that he would not be replaced by a DE teacher. Instead the board is seeking an instructor who could coordinate Stevenson's work-study program in several areas.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board set Aug. 18 for the public hearing on the 1969-70 budget.

Board Member Justin Fishbein praised Mrs. James Mattson for calling the board's attention to the fact that John Balmes, recently appointed to fill an unexpired term on the Stevenson board, did not fulfill the residency requirement.

He has not lived in the school district for one year. The board has until June 30 to fill the post and has scheduled a meeting for that date to name the new member.

Lorenz Schmidt pointed out that the school code specifically states that it appoint new members to fill vacancies with the same residency requirements. "In this case we will have to select a replacement from an incorporated area," he explained, "because the member who resigned lived in the Village of Lincolnshire." Schmidt said he had several calls asking why recently defeated candidates had been overlooked in filling the vacancies. Both defeated candidates were from unincorporated areas, he said.

FISHBEIN SUGGESTED that the board consider naming a citizens committee to recommend several candidates for vacancies that may occur in the future. It was discussed briefly, but no action was taken.

The board heard a report from Edwin Griffith, administrative assistant, revealing that daily student attendance for 1968-69 dropped slightly last year from the two previous years.

Children Can Be Clowns for a Day

Wheeling area children up to 10-years-old can be a clown for a day Saturday at the Jewel-Osco store, 240 E. Dundee Road.

A parade will begin there at 3 p.m. and feature a band, free balloons and suckers. "Little Oscar" will hand out "weinermobile" whistles.

Children entering the contest will file past a reviewing stand. Three prizes will be awarded for the best clown costumes in age brackets, one to 3-year-old, 4 to 7-years-old, and eight to 10-years-old.

CHILDREN MAY come dressed as sad, happy, bum or other type of clown for the contest.

Judges for the contest will be Ted. C. Scanlon, Wheeling village president, Bob Doeseckle, division manager of the Jewel Food Company, and Bill Barrett of Paddock Publications.

Awards Are Presented

Students in grades two through six who participated in the Field Science Fair received awards. Those who were in the school's spelldown received certificates.

Members of the Patrol Club, Service Club and fifth and sixth graders who were active in the intramural program during the school year were also recognized.

Twenty-nine students who had perfect attendance records during the school year received special awards and the eighteen students who wrote the best essays on why they thought their fathers were better dads than any others also received awards.

Miss Marjorie Beu, curriculum director for Dist 21, presented the awards to the children.

Apologize to Village

Wheeling High School seniors were all wet Friday June 5. That was the day they decided to hold a water fight. Village fire hydrants supplied the ammunition.

Before the friendly battle was over, two village employees trying to shut off the hydrants were all wet too.

In a letter to the Wheeling Village Board, the 562 seniors at Wheeling High School apologized to village employees and residents for the water fight.

Residents in homes throughout the village complained of muddy water in their pipes because of the fight. The water department reported it received 30 to 40 calls from residents complaining of the muddy water.

When two water department employees arrived to shut off the hydrants, the students dunked them.

In the letter the seniors apologized "for opening the fire hydrants and for the great inconvenience it brought to village residents and village employees.

"We would like to send a special apology to the two men from the water department who were sent to close the hydrants for the unjust treatment they received. In the course of the fun, things sometimes get slightly out of hand and this was one of those times," the letter said.

The letter did not say who won the water fight.

Beauty Contest Date Set

Five finalists will compete June 28 for the title of "Miss Teen Queen, Buffalo Grove." The five were chosen by a panel of judges Saturday night at the preliminary contest held at Buffalo Grove's Emmerich Park building.

The five finalists are Kendra Lewis, 16; Debra Muryn, 14; Barbara Ruck, 15; Jane Studley, 15; and Taureen Zalce, 15.

The June 28 pageant will start at 8 p.m. in the park building. A dance for teenagers will follow the pageant.

Included among the prizes to be awarded to the winner is a Patricia Stevens Finishing School scholarship. Area businesses will also donate awards.

Five judges evaluated the 10 contestants Saturday night. The judges were Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman of Arlington Heights, Rodney Beach, vice president of the Illinois Jaycees, Bulford Price, superintendent of employment for United Air Lines at O'Hare International Airport; Mrs. Mel McCarthy, vice president of the Illinois North Region Jaycee Wives; and Mrs. Gloria Moore, an instructor and counselor for Patricia Stevens School in Chicago.

The Buffalo Grove Jaycees sponsor the annual event. Helping to coordinate the affair are the Buffalo Grove Jaycee'ettes.

Zoning Bill Wins Passage

A bill creating a zoning law study commission, introduced by State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, has passed both houses of the Illinois legislature.

If approved by Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie, the legislation will establish a 14-member commission to review existing state zoning enabling acts. Court decisions in this area and experience of local governing bodies will be studied, with an emphasis on land use, constitutional principles and administrative procedures.

Schlickman said the state is operating under zoning laws the General Assembly passed in the 1920s. "What is called for is a reevaluation of these laws in light of the incredible pressures of our times," he said.

Five commission members will be selected from the House, five will come from the Senate and 4 will be chosen from the public sector.

ANOTHER SCHLICKMAN bill was reported out of the Senate Executive Committee Monday. Already passed by the house, the bill would establish an elementary and secondary nonpublic schools study commission.

Schlickman said the commission would study the constitutional means by which the state can aid nonpublic schools and how public schools can be related to private facilities without impairment of their freedom.

Park Dance for Youth To Kick Off Summer

The Mount Prospect Park District will kick off its summer senior high youth program with a dance from 8 to 11 p.m. Saturday at the Community Center.

Admission is $1, and all high school students who live in the park district are invited. Music will be provided by a local group.

The park district is sponsoring the weekly youth program to help meet an increasing demand for recreational facilities for teenagers in the community. The program will include picnics, swim parties, dances, coed softball games, discussions and folk music concerts.

Some summer events tentatively scheduled include a softball game June 28 at Meadows Park from 9 to 11 p.m., a narcotics discussion with Tyler Clements, a member of the Mount Prospect youth commission, July 12, and a swim party at Lions Park July 19.

Parents and students who are interested in participating in planning the youth program may contact Sally Luettich, park district program supervisor, at 255-5380.

Will Police Unit Members Suffer Reprisals?

Flood is not the only one that has felt the sting of apparent reprisals.

SGT. KENNY JONES, first vice president of the executive board of the association was just sent to the downtown offices to serve as a radio operator. This, despite the fact that Jones was in charge of the juvenile section in Worth, Ill.

Det. Bill Waldron, who was a member of the juvenile division in Homewood, has been reassigned to patrolman in the same district. Waldron is also a high-ranking member of the executive board of the association.

These men, as is Flood, are all competent, with far reaching backgrounds in the field of law enforcement. They have an aggregate of more than 30 years in police work. All these men are dedicated to their jobs and obviously would have been ripe for promotions when they occurred.

BUT THAT chance has all but frittered away. The Cook County Sheriff's Police has just put an end to the usefulness of these men.

The association has more than 200 members under their wing, including local chapters in Wheeling, Skokie, Evanston, and other towns, and are out to announce a local organization in Des Plaines.

The association has made only three basic demands to the village boards they have approached in Cook County:

—That policemen have the right to have a voice in future decisions which affect them;

—That the association be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for the policeman;

—That a certain percentage of their salary be deducted and used as dues, payable to the association.

THERE IS ANOTHER thing, specifically, which the association is trying to stamp out, and it is that Cook County policemen can be arbitrarily transferred, without those persons transferred being able to agree or disagree to the move. This is happening right now to Flood and the others.

These men, by general order, cannot comment to anyone on their transfer without suffering the consequences: Suspension from the force for 30 days without pay, and, the officer has no chance to defend himself.

Plastic Garbage Bags May Be Tested

Wheeling residents may get to try out a new form of refuse disposal this summer as part of a village board program to improve scavenger service.

The board has been working in committee on an ordinance to limit the number of scavenger companies allowed to pick up trash within the village. By allowing only four companies to pick up garbage the board hopes to improve service, keep fees at the lowest possible rate, and raise refuse collection standards.

The board will hear a presentation July 21 by several companies on the plastic bag method of trash pick-up. The trustees are considering a test of the bags in a portion of the village.

Bernard Tameling, president of Wheeling Disposal, the largest trash hauler in town, is a strong advocate of bags. He maintains bags are convenient, noiseless, and solve the problems of having to carry cans in and out.

THE JUDICIARY and Purchasing Committee, headed by Trustee Ira Bird, got board approval Monday to have an ordinance limiting the number of haulers in the village drawn up by the attorney.

The committee's proposal would limit the number of scavengers to four for one year on a trial basis. Each company would have to pay a $350 fee for scavenger rights in addition to the $15 fee per truck for vehicle stickers.

Currently haulers in town pay $60 per truck in addition to the $14 sticker. Tameling's company is the only one whose present fees approach the $350 figure. Tameling operates five trucks. Other Wheeling collectors have only one or two vehicles each.

Trustees had wanted to limit the number to five collectors, leaving one slot open to allow another company to begin work in town, but agreed to try four haulers for a one-year period because of the expense connected with the plastic bag experiment.

Tameling told the board members Monday at a committee meting that his company would probably have to conduct the experiment since it is the largest collector in town.

Trustees were concerned about the eventual cost of shifting to bags that village residents would have to pay. Tameling assured them that the haulers could provide the bags to residents at a wholesale rate.

The board thought it was possible that the faster service resulting from plastic bag use could result in lower costs to village homeowners, but Tameling said high franchise fees to limit the number of companies might absorb any difference.

THE PROPOSED ordinance would also change the type of containers legal within the village. Only covered receptacles could be used for trash. The ordinance as drafted won't have a provision for the plastic bag receptacles unless the board adds one before passage.

The proposed ordinance would differentiate between single-family homes, apartments, and commercial operations for the type of receptacle allowed. The board said the variety of choices was necessary because the nature of a business or apartment complex could make one type of receptacle impractical.

Tea Party Could Be Dynamite

by SANDRA BROWNING

If someone invites you to a tea party to get charged up, think twice about going.

If you are told that Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil will be there, don't think those are nicknames for area socialites you haven't met yet.

If you go to that party, the narks may find you and you could be busted. It may mean you won't be on the bricks for quite a while.

Freely translated, the last paragraph means narcotics agents might arrest you and you won't be out of jail for quite a while.

Students at the Federal Bureau of Narcotics Training School understand the terms like "tea party" and "charged up." They are required to learn a glossary of common terminology used in the underground world of narcotics traffic.

A COPY OF the glossary was distributed at a recent Arlington Heights' Youth Council meeting so that members could study and understand the various terms.

A tea party is a marijuana party and getting charged up means the "high" a drug user gets after taking narcotics. The terms Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil refer to marijuana, morphine, heroin and cocaine.

The illegal drug market has apparently caused pushers and users to develop their own vocabulary to refer to drugs. Some of the terms have been pirated from slang references to drinking. Such terms include "loaded" and "stoned" which mean to be under the influence of drugs.

Other terms as defined in the glossary are so old that they have come into common usage. "What's happening?" is defined in the glossary as meaning "Do you have any narcotics?"

LANGUAGE USED by addicts and police officers sometimes baffles listeners. An Arlington Heights police officer was speaking about drugs and told his high school audience, "We have arrested a boy of 17 in the village who was mainlining drugs."

The audience looked at him in disbelief, probably because they didn't understand what he meant. Mainlining means to directly inject narcotics into a vein.

The officer also said there were cases when teenagers had injected drugs under their tongues and in their ears to avoid leaving "tracks," or marks left on veins from repeated injection of drugs.

When a program on drugs was presented to parents and students at Arlington High School, a former addict said he knew many suburban teenagers who were "shooting speed." He meant they were injecting methedrine.

THE WARNING phrase used to make drivers slow down, "speed kills," can also refer to the dangers of taking methedrine.

When a drug user refers to "hash," he doesn't mean the corned beef variety. He means hashish, a drug produced from the same plant that is used in making marijuana cigarettes. It is usually smoked in a small pipe and gives a shorter, more intense high than regular marijuana.

"Head" refers to someone who is a user. Acid heads are persons who take LSD and pot heads are marijuana smokers.

As someone starts to feel the influence of drugs, he is "spacing out" or "getting off." He will often use the phrase "ooh . . . wow" as he feels the effects.

THE PHRASE "shooting gallery" doesn't always mean a place where you go to aim rifles at little moving ducks. It can also mean a place where drug users go to shoot or use drugs.

Terms used instead of marijuana include Acapulco gold, grass, loco-weed, Texas tea, viper's weed, pot and hemp. "Torch-up" means to light up marijuana cigarettes which are also called bombers, joints, muggles, reefers, roaches, ropes and sticks.

Heroin is sometimes called hard stuff, junk, schmack and skag while cocaine is called happy dust, joy powder and coke.

Dynamite is a general term which refers to any type of drug.

So, the next time someone invites you to a tea party, be careful. There might be some dynamite there.

Booked, Escape Try Fails

A Chicago man booked for possession of marijuana tried to make a bold moonlight escape from Mount Prospect police early Tuesday, but was captured moments later at gunpoint.

The man was identified by police as Nick Moraitis, 2800 W. North Ave.

At 4:30 a.m. two patrolmen said they found Moraitis in the back seat of a car parked at 126 Prospect Ave. The man, who told police he was Nick Lo Fatta, wasn't able to explain why he was there or prove that he owned the car, so he was brought in for questioning, police said.

When police began searching him, they said Moraitis reached into one of his pockets and tried to conceal a small package with his hands. When police asked what he had, the man said, "marijuana," and threw it down on a table.

THEN POLICE said Moraitis panicked, ducked around a partition in the booking room and bolted out the front door of the station, across Route 14. When he reached the railroad station, he turned west and continued running.

At this point, Patrolman Dutch Leonard, who was in pursuit of Moraitis, yelled, "Stop or I'll shoot."

The man kept running, Leonard said.

Leonard said he fired a shot into the ground and repeated his command.

Moraitis stopped and was taken back to police headquarters in handcuffs. Later he was charged with not only possession of narcotics, but attempting to elude a police officer.

MORAITIS WAS turned over to sheriff's police, later in the day, in lieu of bond.

A short time after his arrest, police arrested two of Moraitis' friends for car theft.

One of the two was identified as Mike Brennan, 19, the other was a 17 year old youth, both of Chicago. They were found trying to start the car Moraitis was found in with a filed-down key.

The car, which had been stolen from Chicago, and the two youths were then turned over to Chicago police.

Schlickman Resigns GOP Post

Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, can now officially give any left-over time from being a legislator to being a candidate for 13th District congressman.

Schlickman submitted his resignation as Wheeling Township Republican committeeman Tuesday morning to Ed Kucharski, chairman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee.

The resignation letter paves way for the executive committee of the County GOP central committee to appoint Richard Cowen to fill the post. Cowen was the choice Monday night of Wheeling Township precinct captains, meeting to endorse a new committeeman.

SCHLICKMAN ANNOUNCED he would resign his position June 2 when he announced candidacy for 13th District congressman. The Wheeling Township Republican executive committee moved quickly, endorsing Cowen June 7.

In his resignation letter, Schlickman highly recommended Cowen to fill his unexpired term. Though the final decision is up to the Cook County Central Committee, it is customary to select the person endorsed by the local organization.

"I withheld my resignation until the action of the precinct captains last night," Schlickman said Tuesday, referring to Cowen's endorsement.

"IN MY OPINION there is no one better suited than Dick (Cowen) to fill the balance of my term," the congressional candidate wrote.

Schlickman explained to Kucharski he was resigning as township committeeman because, "I do not feel that I can properly represent and serve the needs of Wheeling Township as Republican committeeman and at the same time perform my duties as a member of the General Assembly and be a candidate for Congress.

"I should like to express deepest appreciation to you, your staff and the other township committeemen for the many courtesies extended to me for the past three years of my term as Republican committeeman," he said.

Schlickman is one of seven GOP candidates awaiting the Oct. 7 primary. The result of the GOP primary is seen as deciding the Nov. 25 special election.

Sex Education Bill Defeat?

By ALAN AKERSON

"Of the five bills in the Illinois General Assembly concerning sex education, four are now dead," said Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chapman opposes all five bills.

One of the five, House Bill 2323, was passed by the House Monday by a vote of 101 to 42. That bill would amend the school code to prevent schools from offering sex education classes to pupils without first getting written approval from their parents.

The bill also would require parents to be notified in advance of proposed sex education classes.

Another of the bill's provisions would allow parents to look over the educational materials to be used in the classes before deciding whether or not to give their permission.

Chief sponsor of HB 2323 is Rep. Philip W. Collins, R-Chicago.

Mrs. Chapmas said "There is a good chance it will be killed in the Senate." She added, "I hope it goes to a quick and quiet grave."

House Bill 2839 which would have prohibited sex education in grades below the seventh, was tabled by its sponsor, Rep. James Peterson, R-Chicago. The bill was on the House calendar for consideration when Peterson tabled it.

Monday night the House defeated a bill that would have required written permission from parents before children were administered examinations on personality, home life, religious beliefs and other personal matters.

Opponents of the bill, including Mrs. Chapman, argued that "school guidance counselors felt this would have put them out of business."

The lone sex education bill to come out of the Senate, Senate Bill 797, was passed by the Senate, but killed by the House Education Committee.

SB 797 would have amended the Sex Education Act to permit a pupil to be excused from a sex education course upon written request by his parents.

Rep. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, House sponsor of the bill, has filed a motion to get the bill to the House floor for a vote. This came after the bill received a "do not pass" recommendation in committee. Whether or not the House will vote on the motion is unknown at this time.

The fifth bill, HB 2747, was also tabled by its sponsor. Like HB 2839, it was on the House calendar for consideration.

Had it been passed, HB 2747 would have dissolved the state's Sex Education Advisory Board. That board was established to aid school boards by maintaining a library of sex education material for local school districts.

The board also aids universities in the state is providing courses for prospective teachers in how to teach sex education.

Mrs. Chapman said she opposes the bills primarily for two reasons: first, she does "favor well thought-out sex education in the schools," and, second, she doesn't "want the state to interfere with local school boards."

Lindsey Forms Party

NEW YORK — Mayor John V. Lindsey vowed yesterday to turn his defeat in the GOP primary into victory next November by forming a new coalition party of progressive-minded voters to defeat the conservitive Republican and Democratic candidates.

Lindsey said. "Those who came to the polls were in a minority."

Ask A-Plant Funds

WASHINGTON — The House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee has recommended that Congress authorize $217 million in the coming year for the high energy accelerator at Weston, Ill.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., said yesterday the action would bring the 200-billion electorn volt accelerator to its full $250 million authorization.

Fire Hits Warehouses

SPRINGFIELD — A fire and explosion yesterday caused damage estimated at $300,000 to three adjacent warehouses of the Keystone Builders and Supply Co. about a mile northeast of the Springfield city limits.

Fire officials said an electrical fuse box may have started the blaze. A co-owner of the warehouse was burned on the hands.

Predict Party Loss

DUBLIN — A large voter turnout in the cities yesterday forecast a loss of parliamentary majority for Ireland's traditional governing party, the Fianna Fail of Premier Jack Lynch

The Labor Party appeared en route to cutting inroads into the government vote on the basis of the city turnout in balloting to elect a new 144-member parliament. Ballot counting and checking begins today.

Building Permit May Lead to Suit

by BARBARA O'REILLEY

The Village of Wheeling may be sued by one of its oldest residents.

The suit threat came after the zoning board of appeals recommended unanimously Tuesday night that the petition for a building permit by Arthur Fassbender Sr., 19 S. Milwaukee Ave., be denied.

The recommendation will be put on the village board agenda, and if the board approves it, "We will go into a lawsuit," says Fassbender's agent, Robert Holt, 403 E. Dundee Road.

The building permit would be in variation to the existing village building code. The variation was requested by Fassbender, who was born in 1894 in the building in question, 11 S. Milwaukee Ave., formerly called La Ray's Cafe.

FASSBENDER WANTS to remodel the 125-year-old structure, which was damaged when the intersection of Dundee Road and Milwaukee Avenue was widened, into an office building.

He was paid $27,402 by the state of Illinois. The money went for the corner building and land which he owned, and for the damage done to the building at 11 S. Milwaukee Ave.

The requested variation to the building code concerned the building bulk regulation, parking space regulation, the number of buildings on one lot of record, and the lot size.

THE ZONING BOARD denied the request on the grounds that the building, now vacant, does not meet any of the seven standards for a variation set down in the village code. In addition, the building is one of two buildings on one lot of record, which is not in accordance with the building code.

According to the code a lot must be legally subdivided before two buildings may be constructed on it. The building in question was constructed before the present code was written, however any remodeling must be in accordance with the present code.

Fassbender's case is not new to the courts. It has been in and out of courts and zoning boards since last July when he began remodeling the former restaurant without a building permit from the village.

AT THAT TIME, the village issued a stop-work order against him, the case was sent to court, and April 15 it was concluded with Fassbender paying a $105 fine.

According to Holt, Fassbender would make five major changes to the former restaurant to remodel it into an office building. It would be brought to street level, the structure would be fireproofed, siding would be added, more windows would be constructed, and entrances to the front and back of the building would be built.

Holt feels that the village building requirements are too strict to be forced on Fassbender's property which was damaged through no fault of its owner.

"How can you apply the existing code on a building that has been there many years?" Holt questioned.

IN OTHER ACTION, the zoning board recommended the rezoning of land on the north side of Dundee Road, immediately west of the Ross & White Co., 50 W. Dundee, and east of Buffalo Creek.

If the recommendation is approved by the village board, the land will be rezoned to allow the building of a German restaurant complex, including a sausage kitchen and a delicatessen with imported fresh meat and pastry.

Robert Churtz, owner of the property, runs a similar operation in Morton Grove. Other retail stores and services, such as gift shops and hair dressing salons, will be included in the complex.

Volunteers Are Needed

Volunteers to man booths at the first annual "Prospect Heights Days" carnival June 26-29 are still needed, according to Dick Schuld, publicity chairman for the festival. Persons desiring to offer their services may contact Schuld at 392-6211.

The carnival will be held at the site of the Lions Pool, Elm and Camp McDonald roads. It will open at 7 p.m. on June 26 and June 27, at 1 p.m. on June 28 and at 2 p.m. June 29.

A merry-go-round, ferris wheel, kiddie ferris wheel, water-dunking machine, octopus ride and "Tilt-A-Whirl" will highlight the carnival. Refreshments and games of skill will also be offered and the pool will be open for swimming.

THE PRICE OF all rides will be 15 cents during a special Saturday matinee from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Wheeling Township Republicans have donated a loud speaker system for use during the carnival.

The Prospect Heights Jaycees, Women's Club and Prospect Heights Improvement Association are sponsoring the carnival.

Action Deferred

The Buffalo Grove Village Board took a "wait and see" attitude on a request to service 76 acres in neighboring Long Grove with Buffalo Grove sewer and water facilities.

The request was in a letter from Robert Di Leonardi, attorney for the unnamed owners of 76 undeveloped acres lying just inside Long Grove along Arlington Heights Road.

The letter said "It is likely that future development of the land will be for other than single-family residential and could be for a combination of other high-grade uses." Actual proposed use of the land was not disclosed in the letter.

ACCORDING TO Di Leonardi "the marketability of the land, however, has been hampered somewhat by the lack of public water and sewer facilities within Long Grove."

In the letter Di Leonardi asked "whether, and on what basis, your (Buffalo Grove's) water and sewer facilities could be made available to service my clients' property."

Richard Rysa, village attorney, pointed out the village "might be interested, because it could help build up some revenue for the water bonds."

The board decided to consider the matter further after receiving estimates on how much water will be needed.

Building Permit May Lead to Suit

by BARBARA O'REILLEY

The Village of Wheeling may be sued by one of its oldest residents.

The suit threat came after the zoning board of appeals recommended unanimously Tuesday night that the petition for a building permit by Arthur Fassbender Sr , 19 S. Milwaukee Ave., be denied.

The recommendation will be put on the village board agenda, and if the board approves it, "We will go into a lawsuit," says Fassbender's agent, Robert Holt, 403 E. Dundee Road.

The building permit would be in variation to the existing village building code. The variation was requested by Fassbender, who was born in 1894 in the building in question, 11 S. Milwaukee Ave., formerly called La Ray's Cafe

FASSBENDER WANTS to remodel the 125-year-old structure, which was damaged when the intersection of Dundee Road and Milwaukee Avenue was widened, into an office building.

He was paid $27,402 by the state of Illinois. The money went for the corner building and land which he owned, and for the damage done to the building at 11 S. Milwaukee Ave.

The requested variation to the building code concerned the building bulk regulation, parking space regulation, the number of buildings on one lot of record, and the lot size.

THE ZONING BOARD denied the request on the grounds that the building, now vacant, does not meet any of the seven standards for a variation set down in the village code. In addition, the building is one of two buildings on one lot of record, which is not in accordance with the building code.

According to the code a lot must be legally subdivided before two buildings may be constructed on it. The building in question was constructed before the present code was written, however any remodeling must be in accordance with the present code.

Fassbender's case is not new to the courts. It has been in and out of courts and zoning boards since last July when he began remodeling the former restaurant without a building permit from the village.

AT THAT TIME, the village issued a stop-work order against him, the case was sent to court, and April 15 it was concluded with Fassbender paying a $105 fine.

According to Holt, Fassbender would make five major changes to the former restaurant to remodel it into an office building. It would be brought to street level, the structure would be fireproofed, siding would be added, more windows would be constructed, and entrances to the front and back of the building would be built.

Holt feels that the village building requirements are too strict to be forced on Fassbender's property which was damaged through no fault of its owner

"How can you apply the existing code on a building that has been there many years?" Holt questioned.

IN OTHER ACTION, the zoning board recommended the rezoning of land on the north side of Dundee Road, immediately west of the Ross & White Co., 50 W. Dundee, and east of Buffalo Creek.

If the recommendation is approved by the village board, the land will be rezoned to allow the building of a German restaurant complex, including a sausage kitchen and a delicatessen with imported fresh meat and pastry.

Robert Churtz, owner of the property, runs a similar operation in Morton Grove. Other retail stores and services, such as gift shops and hair dressing salons, will be included in the complex.

WHO KNOWS KIDS today? Not their parents. Not their teachers. Maybe not even their friends. Paddock Publications sent two reporters into four high schools last May to get a closer look at kids. What they found starts Monday as a three-part series exclusively in Paddock Publications papers.

Volunteers Are Needed

Volunteers to man booths at the first annual "Prospect Heights Days" carnival June 26-29 are still needed, according to Dick Schuld, publicity chairman for the festival. Persons desiring to offer their services may contact Schuld at 392-6211.

The carnival will be held at the site of the Lions Pool, Elm and Camp McDonald roads. It will open at 7 p.m. on June 26 and June 27, at 1 p.m. on June 28 and at 2 p.m. June 29.

A merry-go-round, ferris wheel, kiddie ferris wheel, water-dunking machine, octopus ride and "Tilt-A-Whirl" will highlight the carnival. Refreshments and games of skill will also be offered and the pool will be open for swimming.

THE PRICE OF all rides will be 15 cents during a special Saturday matinee from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Wheeling Township Republicans have donated a loud speaker system for use during the carnival.

The Prospect Heights Jaycees, Women's Club and Prospect Heights Improvement Association are sponsoring the carnival.

Action Deferred

The Buffalo Grove Village Board took a "wait and see" attitude on a request to service 76 acres in neighboring Long Grove with Buffalo Grove sewer and water facilities.

The request was in a letter from Robert Di Leonardi, attorney for the unnamed owners of 76 undeveloped acres lying just inside Long Grove along Arlington Heights Road.

The letter said "It is likely that future development of the land will be for other than single-family residential and could be for a combination of other high grade uses." Actual proposed use of the land was not disclosed in the letter.

ACCORDING TO Di Leonardi "the marketability of the land, however, has been hampered somewhat by the lack of public water and sewer facilities within Long Grove."

In the letter Di Leonardi asked "whether, and on what basis, your (Buffalo Grove's) water and sewer facilities could be made available to service my clients' property."

Richard Rysa, village attorney, pointed out the village "might be interested, because it could help build up some revenue for the water bonds."

The board decided to consider the matter further after receiving estimates on how much water will be needed.

Sex Education Bill Defeat?

By ALAN AKERSON

"Of the five bills in the Illinois General Assembly concerning sex education, four are now dead," said Rep Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chapman opposes all five bills.

One of the five, House Bill 2323, was passed by the House Monday by a vote of 101 to 12. That bill would amend the school code to prevent schools from offering sex education classes to pupils without first getting written approval from their parents.

The bill also would require parents to be notified in advance of proposed sex education classes

Another of the bill's provisions would allow parents to look over the educational materials to be used in the classes before deciding whether or not to give their permission.

Chief sponsor of HB 2323 is Rep. Philip W. Collins, R-Chicago.

Mrs. Chapmas said "There is a good chance it will be killed in the Senate." She added, "I hope it goes to a quick and quiet grave."

House Bill 2839 which would have prohibited sex education in grades below the seventh, was tabled by its sponsor, Rep. James Peterson, R-Chicago. The bill was on the House calendar for consideration when Peterson tabled it.

Monday night the House defeated a bill that would have required written permission from parents before children were administered examinations on personality, home life, religious beliefs and other personal matters.

Opponents of the bill, including Mrs. Chapman, argued that "school guidance counselors felt this would have put them out of business."

The lone sex education bill to come out of the Senate, Senate Bill 797, was passed by the Senate, but killed by the House Education Committee.

SB 797 would have amended the Sex Education Act to permit a pupil to be excused from a sex education course upon written request by his parents.

Rep. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, House sponsor of the bill, has filed a motion to get the bill to the House floor for a vote. This came after the bill received a "do not pass" recommendation in committee. Whether or not the House will vote on the motion is unknown at this time.

The fifth bill, HB 2747, was also tabled by its sponsor. Like HB 2839, it was on the House calendar for consideration.

Had it been passed, HB 2747 would have dissolved the state's Sex Education Advisory Board. That board was established to aid school boards by maintaining a library of sex education material for local school districts.

The board also aids universities in the state is providing courses for prospective teachers in how to teach sex education.

Mrs. Chapman said she opposes the bills primarily for two reasons: first, she does "favor well thought-out sex education in the schools," and, second, she doesn't "want the state to interfere with local school boards."

TWENTY-THREE WINNERS were chosen by Palatine Village Pres. John L. Moodie for Palatine Appreciation Days. The names were drawn Monday night before the village board meeting.

Stevenson Board Hires 6 Teachers

Six new teachers were hired by the Adlai Stevenson High School board of education at its regular meeting Monday night.

James Stroy, holder of a bachelor's and two master's degrees in science will teach biology next year. He was graduated from Xavier University, New Orleans, with a B.S. in chemistry and biology in 1955, and received his master's in administration and supervision in 1961. He received the master's degree in science education at Virginia State College during the same year. Stroy has had 14 years' experience in New Orleans public schools.

Mrs. Mary Frances Stallmann, a graduate of Northwestern University with seven years experience in library and audio visual areas, will become librarian and audio visual director at Stevenson this fall. She completed her master's in audio visual education at Indiana University in 1967, and has been an AV librarian at Deerfield High School for the last three years.

MRS. CHIQUITA HAYES, who holds a B.S. and M.S. from the University of Wisconsin, was hired by the board as a part-time librarian. She earned her master's in library science in 1968 and has completed additional work at Northwestern University. She has four years experience in Highland Park and Deerfield High Schools.

Mrs. Jamie Keiner, a 1967 graduate of Knox College, will teach Spanish. She has taken additional work at the University of San Francisco, has studied in Valencia, Spain, and is completing her master's at Bryn Mawr College in Pennsylvania. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, top scholastic society.

Philip R. Smith, who completed his bachelor's in musical education at the University of Illinois this spring, will teach choral and string music at Stevenson next year. He replaces William Misik who is on a sabbatical leave to take advanced work at the same school in 1969-70.

JOHN CARGILL, a former student teacher at Stevenson, was hired as a mathematics instructor. He received his bachelor's from Northern Illinois University in 1968 and completed his master's degree in math from the same school this spring. He was a faculty assistant at NIU this year.

Supt Harold Banser told the board that Stevenson is still looking for a math chairman. The school also needs instructors in German, girls physical education and business education to complete the 1969-70 staff.

Although it was announced earlier, the board accepted the official resignation of Wallace Jensen, distributive education teacher, Monday night. Banser indicated that he would not be replaced by a DE teacher. Instead the board is seeking an instructor who could coordinate Stevenson's work-study program in several areas.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board set Aug 18 for the public hearing on the 1969-70 budget.

Board Member Justin Fishbein praised Mrs. James Mattson for calling the board's attention to the fact that John Balmes, recently appointed to fill an unexpired term on the Stevenson board, did not fulfill the residency requirement.

He has not lived in the school district for one year. The board has until June 30 to fill the post and has scheduled a meeting for that date to name the new member.

Lorenz Schmidt pointed out that the school code specifically states that it appoint new members to fill vacancies with the same residency requirements "In this case we will have to select a replacement from an incorporated area," he explained, "because the member who resigned lived in the Village of Lincolnshire." Schmidt said he had several calls asking why recently defeated candidates had been overlooked in filling the vacancies. Both defeated candidates were from unincorporated areas, he said.

FISHBEIN SUGGESTED that the board consider naming a citizens committee to recommend several candidates for vacancies that may occur in the future. It was discussed briefly, but no action was taken.

The board heard a report from Edwin Griffith, administrative assistant, revealing that daily student attendance for 1968-69 dropped slightly last year from the two previous years.

Appreciation Prizes Drawn

Winners of Palatine Appreciation Day prizes were drawn at Monday night's village board meeting by village Pres. John L. Moodie.

First prize, a portable color television set, was won by Stee Naffviger. Second prize of an AM-FM radio was won by Peg McDaniel. Mac Keel won the third prize, a fry pan.

Mrs. R. Riffner won fourth prize, a blender. Two $10 gift certificates from Soucie Jewelry were won by Charles Grayson and R. G. Harring.

Gladys Gustafson and Mrs. J. Crimmings each won a $10 gift certificate from Squire on the Square. Ronald Bogdajewicz and Mrs. G. E. Croker each won $10 gift certificates from Muriel Mundy.

CERTIFICATES OF $10 for Jage Mens Wear were won by James Gustafson and Kathleen Schneck.

A $10 gift certificate for Palatine Draperies was won by Elizabeth Frye.

Ten gallons of gasoline from Tom's Standard were won by Dick Phah, Shirley Lindert, Ruby Joers, Bob Paice, Ken Anderson, Barry Ward, Carol Ackerman, Mac Hickman, Lydia Maldonado and Nancy Warner.

Vaughn in Vanguard Of Honor Graduates

Lawrence R. Vaughan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Vaughan, 322 N. Mozart St., Palatine, is among 25 Marquette University seniors who are the first students ever to receive honors degrees from the university.

Originated in 1963, the Marquette honors program provides intensive course work and seminars for intellectually gifted students. The 1967 and 1968 graduates of the program received special certificates. Earlier this year, Marquette's Board of Trustees approved the honors degree designation.

Vaughan also ranked cum laude in Marquette's College of Liberal Arts. He is a graduate of St. Viator High School.

Weeks Gets Diploma

Among the candidates for degrees from Grinnell College, Iowa, is Richard B. Weeks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover C. Weeks, Jr., 1556 Baldwin Road, Palatine.

He received a bachelor of arts degree in political science.

At Grinnell he served as president of his residence hall, was voted the most valuable back on the football team, and received letters in both football and track.

Weeks is a 1964 graduate of Palatine Township High School.

Hundrieser Has B.A.

Paul Arthur Hundrieser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl L. Hundrieser, 3006 Owl Drive, Rolling Meadows, has been awarded the bachelor of arts degree in chemistry from MacMurray College.

Recent Graduate

Sandra Bauermeister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bauermeister of 527 S. Benton, Palatine, has been graduated from Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn.

Clothes Go-Round

She said the set was sold about two years ago, and now the worth of it would be almost double.

Most of the business is in clothing. "Anything we take must be very clean and in very good condition," she said

Items are bought outright or the customer can get a percentage after the item is sold.

Women's suits, dresses and coats are most in demand, followed by men's suits, pants and sports jackets, she said. "We're fussy about what we take in. What they get is of value.

"We've had some furs, minks, long-hair furs, monkey fur and raccoon coats. We had a walrus fur coat once. All these sell fast."

The store supplies clothes for actors and theater guilds. They find what they want or find something to make do, Mrs. LeBoeuf added.

"PEOPLE COME IN for costumes and for things to wear to old-time costume parties," she said. "Employes from the race track come in, and some people from Chicago. You never know who will walk in the door."

Well-thumbed books fill one case and a rack. "Old western books are very popular, but they're not on the market. It's hard to get them.

"There's something for everyone here," she said, a description that includes long, formal dresses, silver spoons and scrabble games.

There's very little that doesn't sell, she said, the merchandise moves fast.

Antiques are a specialty item, including old clocks, silver, and china. "Dealers come in to look around, but antiques are at low ebb. They're very hard to get.

"Now people want to leave a heritage. I've been in other countries, and they keep things in the family. We didn't, but now young people want to pick up the heritage," she said.

"During the Depression, we went modern, we threw out the cut glass and Dresden, but today people want it to pack and leave for their grandchildren."

ANTIQUES ARE BEING accumulated and hoarded. Some people could open ten stores with the things they have in their homes, Mrs. LeBouf said. Pretty soon there won't be any antiques left on the market, she added.

Although many things in the store aren't antique material, they are records of some of the fashion and accessory trends of recent times.

In some cases, it's a matter of being so out, it's in again. Mrs. LeBoeuf said some of the clothes were very expensive, and are sold very reasonably.

Some of the things have an element of mystery, like one antique gold ring in the store. The heavy ring is from North Dakota, and could be as old as the gold rush. Wherever it went, it must have passed through a lot of history.

"We sell a lot of everything here," she said.

And, like Alice's Restaurant, you can get almost anything that you want.

Will CCPA Members Suffer?

nounce a local organization in Des Plaines.

The association has made only three basic demands to the village boards they have approached in Cook County:

—That policemen have the right to have a voice in future decisions which affect them.

—That the association be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for the policeman.

—That a certain percentage of their salary be deducted and used as dues, payable to the association.

THERE IS ANOTHER thing, specifically, which the association is trying to stamp out, and it is that Cook County policemen can be arbitrarily transferred, without those persons transferred being ableto agree or disagree to the move. This is happening right now to Flood and the others.

These men, by general order, cannot comment to anyone on their transfer without suffering the consequences: Suspension from the force for 30 days without pay, and, the officer has no chance to defend himself.

Leaders Hold Luncheon

The annual Leader's Association luncheon for Palatine - Barrington Camp Girls was held last week at the Rainbow Room at the Arlington Towers.

The welcome was read by Mrs. Edith Cutler to 48 Camp Fire Group Leaders, assistant leaders, sponsors and mothers.

Indian symbol corsages were presented to Mrs. Louise Lindholm, retiring Leaders Association chairman, Mrs. Nancy Neumann, newly elected Leaders Association chairman and Mrs. Mary Ann Buckman, district director.

The corsages consisted of the Indian symbols most expressive of their individual qualities and associations in the Camp Fire Girls program.

Certificates of appreciation were awarded to Mrs. Edith Cutler, for 11 years of service, to Mrs. Darlene Vogt for group organization, and to Mrs. Dorothy Ackerman, Barrington, for contributions to the organization.

Mrs. Darlene Vogt conducted installation of officers. Officers for next year are: Mrs. Nancy Neumann, chairman; Mrs. Barbara Gibbs, vice chairman and program chairman; and Mrs. Jan Morris, secretary. The officers were pinned with white felt disk displaying the Camp Fire emblem.

A fashion show was presented, consisting of Camp Fire costumes, ceremonial gowns, ceremonial jackets, beaded headbands and moccasins. Also Camp Fire handbooks, magazines and pictures, all dating from the early 1900's when Camp Fire Girls was founded, to the present.

Graduate At DePauw

Two Palatine students recently graduated from DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

John Harris Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Harris of 1680 Pheasant Trail, received a B.A. degree in psychology, and Philip Matthaei, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Matthaei of 2285 Longacres, earned a B.A. degree in mathematics.

Ridgeway to File Suit

Proponents of Ridgeway Farm in Palatine Township will fight the county board's recent decision to deny special zoning of the property for an adolescent boys facility

Preparation of a lawsuit calling for a declaratory judgment by the court began yesterday, according to Henry Distelhorst, director of public relations and development for Ridgeway Hospital, sponsor of the farm.

On Monday, the county board unanimously voted to concur with the zoning board's recommendation to deny necessary zoning for the farm on an 11-acre tract along Route 14 near Dundee Road.

AFTER RECEIVING official notice of the county board's decision yesterday, Ridgeway officials decided to file suit against both county commissioners and members of the zoning board of appeals

"We simply were notified of the denial with no reasons given for the decision from either the county board or the zoning board," Distelhorst said

"As soon as the suit is prepared it will be filed in Circuit Court," he added

"The purpose of the lawsuit is to demand the boards give reasons for denying our zoning request," he said.

"It's our understanding the court has the right to decide whether there is just cause for denying special zoning and if the reasons are considered unjustified, the court has the power to order the county board to approve our zoning request," he said.

THE FARM IS proposed to offer a 24-hour structured program for post-hospital and pre-court boys from 12 to 17-years-old, and has drawn sharp criticism from neighboring towns and residents since plans first were outlined.

Several official objections to the farm from surrounding municipalities including Palatine, Barrington and Inverness and homeowners in the area were filed with the zoning board and county clerk.

Ridgeway opponents believe the farm would overload the school district and also fear problems from the lack of security at the farm.

Proponents of the farm admit Ridgeway would be the first facility of its kind, but are hoping for the chance to prove its potential success.

"THERE'S A NEED for a place for adolescents who need an 'out of environment' atmosphere for a while," Distelhorst said.

None of the boys probably would stay any longer than three months and the farm would accommodate a maximum of 30 boys during its first three years of operation, he added.

Lindsey Forms Party

NEW YORK — Mayor John V Lindsey vowed yesterday to turn his defeat in the GOP primary into victory next November by forming a new coalition party of progressive-minded voters to defeat the conservitive Republican and Democratic candidates.

Lindsey said, "Those who came to the polls were in a minority."

Demos Unveil New Tax

SPRINGFIELD — Democratic state legislators yesterday unveiled a new revenue plan that coupled a state income tax with a proposed one-cent reduction in the sales tax

The package called for a 2 per cent income tax on individuals and a 4 per cent tax on corporations, and caused major conflict with the Republican majority.

Ask A-Plant Funds

WASHINGTON — The House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee has recommended that Congress authorize $217 million in the coming year for the high energy accelerator at Weston, Ill.

Rep Melvin Price, D-Ill., said yesterday the action would bring the 200-billion electorn volt accelerator to its full $250 million authorization

Pledge Democracy

RIO DE JANEIRO — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has won a pledge from Brazil's military-backed government for an early return to constitutional democracy

The disclosure that the government intends to restore constitutional guarantees "shortly" was made by Foreign Minister Jose de Magalhaes Pinto. Rockefeller talked with Brazilian President Arthur Da Costa e Silva Tuesday

SDS Convention Opens

CHICAGO — Delegates to the seventh annual national convention of the Students for a Democratic Society voted yesterday to exclude all newsmen except representatives of the "revolutionary press" from their five-day meeting

A spokesman said the group voted unanimously to exclude the "capitalist press," which was defined as those "who make money from news"

Fire Hits Warehouses

SPRINGFIELD — A fire and explosion yesterday caused damage estimated at $100,000 to three adjacent warehouses of the Keystone Builders and Supply Co. about a mile northeast of the Springfield city limits

Fire officials said an electrical fuse box may have started the blaze. A co-owner of the warehouse was burned on the hands.

Predict Party Loss

DUBLIN — A large voter turnout in the cities yesterday forecast a loss of parliamentary majority for Ireland's traditional governing party, the Fianna Fail of Premier Jack Lynch

The Labor Party appeared en route to cutting inroads into the government vote on the basis of the city turnout in balloting to elect a new 144-member parliament. Ballot counting and checking begins today.

Creek Bill Passes

The Illinois Senate Tuesday approved a bill for $350,000 of Salt Creek improvements in Rolling Meadows.

Passed by the Senate on a 40-to-2 vote, the measure was immediately moved to the House for first reading, according to Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, sponsor of the bill He said the bill will be handled by Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, in the House.

The $350,000 appropriation is expected to cover the costs of channel improvements from 1,000 feet south of Central Road to Euclid Avenue Flood control construction on that portion of the creek has been slated for more than two years

In 1967, the General Assembly approved a bill for $500,000 to cover costs of the same creek work, but since construction was not started during the last biennium, the money had to be reappropriated.

IN COMMITTEE since January, the present bill originally called for reappropriation of $500,000 and an additional $1 5 million for creek improvements north of Euclid into Palatine.

However, after several committee hearings, all but $350,000 was amended out of the bill. John Guillou, chief engineer for the Illinois Division of Waterways, believes that's all the money that will be necessary now, according to Graham.

Start of flood control construction in the creek will depend on the bill gaining House approval and the governor's signature.

by BARRY SIGALE
A News Analysis

Sgt John Flood of the Cook County Police force says that any policeman who joins the Cook County Police Association, of which he is president, may suffer the consequences of reprisals from his bosses

Such has happened to John Flood.

In a recent move by the hierarchy of the sheriff's police department, Flood, a resident of Wheeling, was transferred from his post as patrol sergeant of District 1 in Niles to become an $11,000 a year clerical worker in downtown Chicago

This is a position which might be a welcome sight (and even an expected move) by a 65-year-old member of any police force who has lost that old zing and must be retired from police work gracefully

BUT FLOOD, in his early 30's, has a full police life ahead of him.

For a year of his more than 10 years as a policeman, Flood was in charge of the detective division. For another year he headed the criminal extradition section for all of Cook County. And yet another year he was in charge of the vice squad. He was a patrolman for two years and a patrol sergeant for over six years.

But Flood, knowing his job was in jeopardy, pursued this collision course as president of the association (he was a founding father), and continued in his efforts to organize policemen into local chapters so they can have a voice in their future as policemen.

Flood is not the only one that has felt the sting of apparent reprisals.

SGT. KENNY JONES, first vice president of the executive board of the association was just sent to the downtown offices to serve as a radio operator. This, despite the fact that Jones was in charge of the juvenile section in Worth, Ill.

Det. Bill Waldron, who was a member of the juvenile division in Homewood, has been reassigned to patrolman in the same district. Waldron is also a high-ranking member of the executive board of the association.

These men, as is Flood, are all competent, with far reaching backgrounds in the field of law enforcement. They have an aggregate of more than 30 years in police work. All these men are dedicated to their jobs and obviously would have been ripe for promotions when they occurred.

BUT THAT chance has all but frittered away. The Cook County Sheriff's Police has just put an end to the usefulness of these men.

The association has more than 200 members under their wing, including local chapters in Wheeling, Skokie, Evanston, and other towns, and are about to an-

A blue and red Cubs baseball cap that could only have fit a very small first baseman lies on a shelf in the back of the shop

Racks of clothes, side by side, stretch the length of the room Hand-painted china plates and crystal vases are displayed in the shop window.

Everything but the vintage telephone on the wall is for sale, for the second time.

In the Palatine Resale shop, everything has a story behind it.

"About 50 years ago, women used to hand-paint china," said Mrs Mary LeBoeuf, who manages the store for the owner, Mrs. Lee McCullough

"THE WOMEN WOULD do their own painting, oven-bake and glaze it," she said. Those women put effort into it, she said, to create beautiful pieces

The dishes are popular today "It's a fad again," she said. "I sold one set of 144 pieces, and every one was different. Each one had flowers painted — roses, poppies, every kind of flower."

Migrants Moving

Some Mexican-American migrant families ordered to move from substandard housing in Palatine Township by last Sunday have left, but a few people remain.

Their landlord, Ivan (John) Vasylaty yesterday said he requested utility companies to discontinue electricity and water to one of his properties at 1000 N. Smith Road to force the people to move.

Shacks at the Smith Road location and housing at 600 W. Wood St. and 253 N. Quentin Road are considered "unfit for human habitation" by Cook County officials and Vasylaty was told to evict the tenants by June 15.

However, Francis Hogan, acting violasupervisor for the county building department, told the Herald Wednesday that tenants probably will be given a few more days to move.

He added, "We're attempting to schedule another hearing on the matter next week to impress Vasylaty with the importance of evicting his tenants."

A FEW WEEKS ago Hogan said the matter would be referred to the state's attorney's office if the shacks were not vacated

"But, of course, we would prefer the matter to be resolved without legal action," he said

The people still living on Vasylaty property have not moved because they can't find another place to live, according to the landlord

"I don't want to get this good man (Vasylaty) in trouble, so I will move, but I can't find a place to go," an unmarried man living at 600 W. Wood said yesterday.

He said he and his sister have been looking for another place to stay for the last couple of months, but have not been able to find anything in this area where they both have jobs.

ATTEMPTING TO aid the displaced migrants, the Northwest Opportunity Center in Rolling Meadows has been looking for housing for the families during the last couple of weeks, according to Don Maldonado, director of the center.

He said the center has been practically unsuccessful in finding housing and now is working to secure an eviction delay from county officials.

Defeat For Sex Education Bill Seen

By ALAN AKERSON

"Of the five bills in the Illinois General Assembly concerning sex education, four are now dead," said Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chapman opposes all five bills.

One of the five, House Bill 2323, was passed by the House Monday by a vote of 101 to 42. That bill would amend the school code to prevent schools from offering sex education classes to pupils without first getting written approval from their parents.

The bill also would require parents to be notified in advance of proposed sex education classes.

Another of the bill's provisions would allow parents to look over the educational materials to be used in the classes before deciding whether or not to give their permission.

Chief sponsor of HB 2323 is Rep. Philip W. Collins, R-Chicago.

Mrs. Chapmas said "There is a good chance it will be killed in the Senate." She added, "I hope it goes to a quick and quiet grave."

House Bill 2839 which would have prohibited sex education in grades below the seventh, was tabled by its sponsor, Rep. James Peterson, R-Chicago. The bill was on the House calendar for consideration when Peterson tabled it.

Monday night the House defeated a bill that would have required written permission from parents before children were administered examinations on personality, home life, religious beliefs and other personal matters.

Opponents of the bill, including Mrs. Chapman, argued that "school guidance counselors felt this would have put them out of business."

The lone sex education bill to come out of the Senate, Senate Bill 797, was passed by the Senate, but killed by the House Education Committee.

SB 797 would have amended the Sex Education Act to permit a pupil to be excused from a sex education course upon written request by his parents.

Rep. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, House sponsor of the bill, has filed a motion to get the bill to the House floor for a vote. This came after the bill received a "do not pass" recommendation in committee. Whether or not the House will vote on the motion is unknown at this time.

The fifth bill, HB 2747, was also tabled by its sponsor. Like HB 2839, it was on the House calendar for consideration.

Had it been passed, HB 2747 would have dissolved the state's Sex Education Advisory Board. That board was established to aid school boards by maintaining a library of sex education material for local school districts.

The board also aids universities in the state is providing courses for prospective teachers in how to teach sex education.

Mrs. Chapman said she opposes the bills primarily for two reasons: first, she does "favor well thought-out sex education in the schools," and, second, she doesn't "want the state to interfere with local school boards."

Tea Party Could Be Dynamite

by SANDRA BROWNING

If someone invites you to a tea party to get charged up, think twice about going.

If you are told that Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil will be there, don't think those are nicknames for area socialites you haven't met yet.

If you go to that party, the narks may find you and you could be busted. It may mean you won't be on the bricks for quite a while.

Freely translated, the last paragraph means narcotics agents might arrest you and you won't be out of jail for quite a while.

Students at the Federal Bureau of Narcotics Training School understand the terms like "tea party" and "charged up." They are required to learn a glossary of common terminology used in the underground world of narcotics traffic.

A COPY OF the glossary was distributed at a recent Arlington Heights' Youth Council meeting so that members could study and understand the various terms.

A tea party is a marijuana party and getting charged up means the "high" a drug user gets after taking narcotics. The terms Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil refer to marijuana, morphine, heroin and cocaine.

The illegal drug market has apparently caused pushers and users to develop their own vocabulary to refer to drugs. Some of the terms have been pirated from slang references to drinking. Such terms include "loaded" and "stoned" which mean to be under the influence of drugs.

Other terms as defined in the glossary are so old that they have come into common usage. "What's happening?" is defined in the glossary as meaning "Do you have any narcotics?"

LANGUAGE USED by addicts and police officers sometimes baffles listeners. An Arlington Heights police officer was speaking about drugs and told his high school audience, "We have arrested a boy of 17 in the village who was mainlining drugs."

The audience looked at him in disbelief, probably because they didn't understand what he meant. Mainlining means to directly inject narcotics into a vein.

The officer also said there were cases when teenagers had injected drugs under their tongues and in their ears to avoid leaving "tracks," or marks left on veins from repeated injection of drugs.

When a program on drugs was presented to parents and students at Arlington High School, a former addict said he knew many suburban teenagers who were "shooting speed." He meant they were injecting methedrine.

THE WARNING phrase used to make drivers slow down, "speed kills," can also refer to the dangers of taking methedrine.

When a drug user refers to "hash," he doesn't mean the corned beef variety. He means hashish, a drug produced from the same plant that is used in making marijuana cigarettes. It is usually smoked in a small pipe and gives a shorter, more intense high than regular marijuana.

"Head" refers to someone who is a user. Acid heads are persons who take LSD and pot heads are marijuana smokers.

As someone starts to feel the influence of drugs, he is "spacing out" or "getting off." He will often use the phrase "ooh . . . wow" as he feels the effects.

THE PHRASE "shooting gallery" doesn't always mean a place where you go to aim rifles at little moving ducks. It can also mean a place where drug users go to shoot or use drugs.

Terms used instead of marijuana include Acapulco gold, grass, loco-weed, Texas tea, viper's weed, pot and hemp. "Torch-up" means to light up marijuana cigarettes which are also called bombers, joints, muggles, reefers, roaches, ropes and sticks.

Heroin is sometimes called hard stuff, junk, schmack and skag while cocaine is called happy dust, joy powder and coke.

Dynamite is a general term which refers to any type of drug.

So, the next time someone invites you to a tea party, be careful. There might be some dynamite there.

Campaign for Aid

A telegram campaign to State Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington, has been urged by local residents supporting legislation which would allow state aid to non public schools.

Mrs. Frank Byrne, of St. Thomas of Villanova Catholic Church in Palatine, said nearly 300 members of that parish have been contacted to send telegrams and that other residents of the area are being asked to do the same thing.

"We're asking Sen. Graham to help revive the bill before the legislative session ends," Mrs. Byrne said.

The bill which would have provided state funds to non public schools was defeated in committee last week. Unless it is brought back to life by the state senate, it will have to wait until the next session of the legislature.

"We don't think the public schools, or the taxpayers, could stand the burden if the non public schools, are forced to close," Mrs. Byrne said, "and more parochial schools are being forced to close their doors every week."

Mrs. Byrne said a telegram of 15 words or less can be sent for $1. The sender needs only to dial O and ask the operator for Western Union. The telegrams should be sent to Sen. John A. Graham, Illinois Senate Chambers, Springfield, Ill.

Special delivery letters can be sent for 36 cents, Mrs. Byrne said. They should be sent to Graham at the Senate Post Office, Springfield, Ill., 62706.

"WE WOULD LIKE to have two telegrams sent," Mrs. Byrne said, "one to Graham and one to Governor Ogilvie.

"If Ogilvie won't support our proposal for state aid, we won't support his income tax proposal."

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Byrne at 359-0086.

Librarian Starts

Children's books have been a primary interest throughout 20 years of library experience for Mrs. Robert Bullen, head librarian of Palatine Public Library, who began her new duties here this week.

Before coming to Palatine, Mrs. Bullen spent six years as co-ordinator of school libraries for the Cobb County school system in Marietta, Ga. She is a graduate of the University of Southwestern Louisiana with Lafayette, La., with a B.A. in French and received her library degree from Emory University in Atlanta.

Mrs. Bullen and her husband Robert, who has recently joined the North Suburban Library System as Administrative Services Librarian, live at 29 David Drive. They have a son, Andrew, 8, and a daughter Anne, 7.

Local Girl Wins $500 Scholarship

Claudia Weihs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Weihs of Palatine, has won a $500 scholarship for 1969 from the Northwest Industrial Council of which her father's employer, Flick-Reedy Corp. is a member.

The scholarship is to apply to the tuition cost of the college of her choice.

COMPETING FOR the scholarship were 96 sons and daughters of employes in 33 different companies which are members of the Northwest Industrial Conference.

The scholarship was presented to Claudia at a dinner meeting of the council held in late May. Daniel Sundt, president of the council, made the presentation.

Ridgeway to File Suit

Proponents of Ridgeway Farm in Palatine Township will fight the county board's recent decision to deny special zoning of the property for an adolescent boys facility.

Preparation of a lawsuit calling for a declaratory judgment by the court began yesterday, according to Henry Distelhorst, director of public relations and development for Ridgeway Hospital, sponsor of the farm.

On Monday, the county board unanimously voted to concur with the zoning board's recommendation to deny necessary zoning for the farm on an 11-acre tract along Route 14 near Dundee Road.

AFTER RECEIVING official notice of the county board's decision yesterday, Ridgeway officials decided to file suit against both county commissioners and members of the zoning board of appeals.

"We simply were notified of the denial with no reasons given for the decision from either the county board or the zoning board," Distelhorst said.

"As soon as the suit is prepared it will be filed in Circuit Court," he added.

"The purpose of the lawsuit is to demand the boards give reasons for denying our zoning request," he said.

"It's our understanding the court has the right to decide whether there is just cause for denying special zoning and if the reasons are considered unjustified, the court has the power to order the county board to approve our zoning request," he said.

THE FARM IS proposed to offer a 24-hour structured program for post-hospital and pre-court boys from 12 to 17-years-old, and has drawn sharp criticism from neighboring towns and residents since plans first were outlined.

Several official objections to the farm from surrounding municipalities including Palatine, Barrington and Inverness and homeowners in the area were filed with the zoning board and county clerk.

Creek Bill Passes

The Illinois Senate Tuesday approved a bill for $350,000 of Salt Creek improvements in Rolling Meadows.

Passed by the Senate on a 40-to-2 vote, the measure was immediately moved to the House for first reading, according to Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, sponsor of the bill. He said the bill will be handled by Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, in the House.

The $350,000 appropriation is expected to cover the costs of channel improvements from 1,000 feet south of Central Road to Euclid Avenue. Flood control construction on that portion of the creek has been slated for more than two years.

In 1967, the General Assembly approved a bill for $500,000 to cover costs of the same creek work, but since construction was not started during the last biennium, the money had to be reappropriated.

IN COMMITTEE since January, the present bill originally called for reappropriation of $500,000 and an additional $1.5 million for creek improvements north of Euclid into Palatine.

However, after several committee hearings, all but $350,000 was amended out of the bill. John Guillou, chief engineer for the Illinois Division of Waterways, believes that's all the money that will be necessary now, according to Graham.

Start of flood control construction in the creek will depend on the bill gaining House approval and the governor's signature.

Will CCPA Members Suffer?

A News Analysis

Sgt. John Flood of the Cook County Police force says that any policeman who joins the Cook County Police Association, of which he is president, may suffer the consequences of reprisals from his bosses.

Such has happened to John Flood.

In a recent move by the hierarchy of the sheriff's police department, Flood, a resident of Wheeling, was transferred from his post as patrol sergeant of District 1 in Niles to become an $11,000 a year clerical worker in downtown Chicago.

This is a position which might be a welcome sight (and even an expected move) by a 65-year-old member of any police force who has lost that old zing and must be retired from police work gracefully.

BUT FLOOD, in his early 30's, has a full police life ahead of him.

For a year of his more than 10 years as a policeman, Flood was in charge of the detective division. For another year he headed the criminal extradition section for all of Cook County. And yet another year he was in charge of the vice squad. He was a patrolman for two years and a patrol sergeant for over six years.

But Flood, knowing his job was in jeopardy, pursued this collision course as president of the association (he was a founding father), and continued in his efforts to organize policemen into local chapters so they can have a voice in their future as policemen.

Flood is not the only one that has felt the sting of apparent reprisals.

SGT. KENNY JONES, first vice president of the executive board of the association was just sent to the downtown offices to serve as a radio operator. This, despite the fact that Jones was in charge of the juvenile section in Worth, Ill.

Det. Bill Waldron, who was a member of the juvenile division in Homewood, has been reassigned to patrolman in the same district. Waldron is also a high-ranking member of the executive board of the association.

These men, as is Flood, are all competent, with far reaching backgrounds in the field of law enforcement. They have an aggregate of more than 30 years in police work. All these men are dedicated to their jobs and obviously would have been ripe for promotions when they occurred.

BUT THAT chance has all but frittered away. The Cook County Sheriff's Police has just put an end to the usefulness of these men.

The association has more than 200 members under their wing, including local chapters in Wheeling, Skokie, Evanston, and other towns, and are about to an-

"THE WOMEN WOULD do their own painting, oven-bake and glaze it," she said. Those women put effort into it, she said, to create beautiful pieces.

The dishes are popular today. "It's a fad again," she said. "I sold one set of 144 pieces, and every one was different. Each one had flowers painted — roses, poppies, every kind of flower."

Owners Hit Track

Increased traffic and noise appear to be the only complaints registered by residents of Fremont Street in Rolling Meadows since twilight racing began Monday at Arlington Park Race Track.

This information was revealed in a spot survey conducted by the Herald yesterday.

In May, a similar survey was taken of Fremont Street residents about the high-powered lights which had been instaleld around the track. They will bear most of the brunt of the bright lights. Thus far, the lights have not been used.

Residents have mixed opinions about the lights. Some are up in arms, others couldn't care less and many feel that any opposition is hopeless.

LEO MEYER, of 2802 Fremont St., is a 15-year resident of Rolling Meadows and a volunteer fireman. The track is behind his property.

"I'm against the lights and so are a lot of my friends in the fire department. But I don't think there is much we can do about it."

Meyer said he thought the state was behind it and the lights were here to stay. "I won't move though," he said. "I still travel 58 miles back and forth to work. I may not like the lights, but I do like Rolling Meadows."

Another long-time resident who didn't want her name used said that she would wiat and see about the lights, but thought that the noise and the traffic had increased. Her home is located where the races are started and she has never gotten used to the noise.

Mrs. R. VorBroker of 2303 Fremont said the noise never bothered her because she had gotten used to them just as she got used to the jets. She was more concerned about the empty lot near her home and thought the track was planning to build on it.

MRS. JOSEPH Rybarczyk of 2400 Fermont St. said that she has learned to live with the noise, but not with the traffic. She has also cut down on her trips to the shopping center because of the "lower types of people the track has brought into the area."

chard will be up for election again in April, 1970.

THE SHORT DURATION of the elected post has caused some hesitancy among candidates. As one put it, "It would mean getting elected and then beginning to campaign all over again."

Recent candidates in the April election to the Dist. 59 board were Ernest Rich and Paul Neuhauser, among others.

Schlickman Throws Support to Cowen

Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, can now officially give any left-over time from being a legislator to being a candidate for 13th District congressman.

Schlickman submitted his resignation as Wheeling Township Republican committeeman Tuesday morning to Ed Kucharski, chairman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee.

The resignation letter paves way for the executive committee of the County GOP central committee to appoint Richard Cowen to fill the post. Cowen was the choice Monday night of Wheeling Township precinct captains, meeting to endorse a new committeeman.

SCHLICKMAN ANNOUNCED he would resign his position June 2 when he announced candidacy for 13th District congressman. The Wheeling Township Republican executive committee moved quickly, endorsing Cowen June 7.

In his resignation letter, Schlickman highly recommended Cowen to fill his unexpired term. Though the final decision is up to the Cook County Central Committee, it is customary to select the person endorsed by the local organization.

"I withheld my resignation until the action of the precinct captains last night," Schlickman said Tuesday, referring to Cowen's endorsement.

"IN MY OPINION there is no one better suited than Dick (Cowen) to fill the balance of my term," the congressional candidate wrote.

Schlickman explained to Kucharski he was resigning as township committeeman because, "I do not feel that I can properly represent and serve the needs of Wheeling Township as Republican committeeman and at the same time perform my duties as a member of the General Assembly and be a candidate for Congress

"I should like to express deepest appreciation to you, your staff and the other township committeemen for the many courtesies extended to me for the past three years of my term as Republican committeeman," he said.

Schlickman is one of seven GOP candidates awaiting the Oct. 7 primary. The result of the GOP primary is seen as deciding the Nov 25 special election.

"About 50 years ago, women used to hand-paint china," said Mrs. Mary LeBoeuf, who manages the store for the owner, Mrs. Lee McCullough.

"THE WOMEN WOULD do their own painting, oven-bake and glaze it," she said. Those women put effort into it, she said, to create beautiful pieces.

The dishes are popular today. "It's a fad again," she said. "I sold one set of 144 pieces, and every one was different. Each one had flowers painted — roses, poppies, every kind of flower."

She said the set was sold about two years ago, and now the worth of it would be almost double.

Most of the business is in clothing. "Anything we take must be very clean and in very good condition," she said.

Items are bought outright or the customer can get a percentage after the item is sold.

Women's suits, dresses and coats are most in demand, followed by men's suits, pants and sports jackets, she said. "We're fussy about what we take in. What they get is of value.

"We've had some furs, minks, long-hair furs, monkey fur and raccoon coats. We had a walrus fur coat once. All these sell fast."

The store supplies clothes for actors and theater guilds. They find what they want or find something to make do, Mrs. LeBoeuf added.

"PEOPLE COME IN for costumes and for things to wear to old-time costume parties," she said. "Employes from the race track come in, and some people from Chicago. You never know who will walk in the door."

Well-thumbed books fill one case and a rack. "Old western books are very popular, but they're not on the market. It's hard to get them.

"There's something for everyone here," she said, a description that includes long, formal dresses, silver spoons and scrabble games.

There's very little that doesn't sell, she said, the merchandise moves fast.

Antiques are a specialty item, including old clocks, silver, and china. "Dealers come in to look around, but antiques are at low ebb. They're very hard to get.

"Now people want to leave a heritage. I've been in other countries, and they keep things in the family. We didn't, but now young people want to pick up the heritage," she said.

"During the Depression, we went modern, we threw out the cut glass and Dresden, but today people want it to pack and leave for their grandchildren."

ANTIQUES ARE BEING accumulated and hoarded. Some people could open ten stores with the things they have in their homes, Mrs. LeBouf said. Pretty soon there won't be any antiques left on the market, she added.

Although many things in the store aren't antique material, they are records of some of the fashion and accessory trends of recent times.

In some cases, it's a matter of being so out, it's in again. Mrs. LeBoeuf said some of the clothes were very expensive, and are sold very reasonably.

Some of the things have an element of mystery, like one antique gold ring in the store. The heavy ring is from North Dakota, and could be as old as the gold rush. Wherever it went, it must have passed through a lot of history.

"We sell a lot of everything here," she said.

And, like Alice's Restaurant, you can get almost anything that you want.

Horler Receives Debater Award

Norman V. Horler, Mount Prospect junior in liberal arts and sciences, is recipient of the Thomas E. Finfgeld Award as the most valuable debater at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

The award is the highest honor given to an undergraduate for participation in intercollegiate debate at Urbana-Champaign. Selection is by vote of U. of I. debaters and coaches.

Horler, of 321 Fairview, has been a debater since his freshman year. His first year he reached the quarter-finals of the Bellermine National Novice Tournament.

As a sophomore he placed first in the Debate Days in Detroit and third in the same tournament as a junior.

This year Horler was president of the Illini Forensic Association and next year will be in charge of the high school tournament held at the university.

He is a member of the local chapter of Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha, national honor society in forensics.

Poodle Badly Mauled By German Shepherd

Mrs. D. Kay, 309 Westgate Road, Mount Prospect, reported her poodle was badly mauled by a large German Shepherd Tuesday.

The poodle was chewing a bone in her backyard at the time of the attack. Police said the shepherd is owned by Russell Christenson, 304 Stratton Lane, who said he would have the dog destroyed.

Permit is Granted

A temporary occupancy permit for a new medical building located at 601 W. Central was granted by the Mount Prospect village board Tuesday to Dr. Harry Vanoucek, owner of the building and an orthodontist.

Dr. Vanoucek, who has offices now at 407 Prospect Ave., said the building is nearly completed and already is 80 percent leased out.

"The three uncompleted suites can't be finished until we have tenants for them. It has to be tailored for the doctor's own individual specialty," said Dr. Vanouck.

He said it would be a hardship on himself and several other doctors who have leased suites in the building if they are unable to move in before construction of the building is complete.

Dr. Marianne Budzeika, a pediatrician who has an office now at 221 W. Prospect Ave., said her present facilities are too cramped.

Dr. Ronald Duckers, a Des Plaines psychologist who does counseling work for the village, also wants to move into the new building. "I have been operating out of my home for over a year now," he said.

Acting village manager John Zimmerman recommended against granting the permit because the structure could remain unfinished for up to two years.

The permit was granted, but Dr. Vanoucek was asked to post a $1,000 bond to insure the building would be finished within six months. If it isn't, he forefeits the bond.

Mayor Robert Teichert explained, "Under our local ordinance, you're asking for something you're not entitled to, so that is why we are asking for the bond."

15 CD Volunteers Sworn In

Mount Prospect Village Clerk Donald Goodman administered the oath of office to 15 Civil Defense volunteers Tuesday at the village hall.

Those volunteers who participated in the ceremony are Steve Skultety, Michael Kulek, Marilynn Nickolausen, Donald Coltman, Andrew Toth, H. J. Hendersen, Jack Fletcher, Robert Buerger, Sr., William Buerger, Marvin Buerger, Harold Quiram, Vernon Smith, Donald Behrendt, Arthur Seeber and Francis Kaspari, Jr.

Civil Defense volunteers have received training in first aid and medical self help, survival and shelter management and Citizens Radio Band. These volunteers plus six other Civil Defense personnel will receive training in traffic control this summer.

ACCORDING TO Acting Village Mgr. John Zimmerman, the board requested a Civil Defense traffic control team to help solve the shortage problems during the holidays.

The traffic control team will be used to direct traffic during the annual Fourth of July parade and fireworks display in the evening. While assisting the police department with traffic control, the Civil Defense members are detached as a police department unit under Police Chief Newell Esmond.

The Mount Prospect Civil Defense director is Lt. Larry Pairitz, and Lt. John Savage has been appointed liaison officer for Civil Defense and the police department.

'Cool It With Books'

by LAURIE ROSSI

"Cool it with books this summer" is the idea at the Mount Prospect Public Library. Once again the library and the Friends of the Library are sponsoring a summer reading program for children presently in grades one to 8 at a public or parochial school.

Members must live within the village and have an individual or family library card. Those with nonresident cards may also join if they are attending school.

Each member receives a button that indicates he is participating in the reading club. For those who complete the requirements, Sept. 13 is the date to reserve. The reward is being kept a secret, but it will be a surprise show at Central School.

THE LIBRARY promises the show will be something the children haven't seen or heard before. Those who finish will be able to get their tickets for this performance at the library after Sept. 1.

Children in grades one to three are required to read, and report on 10 books; for grades four to eight the number is 12. The library will supply report blanks.

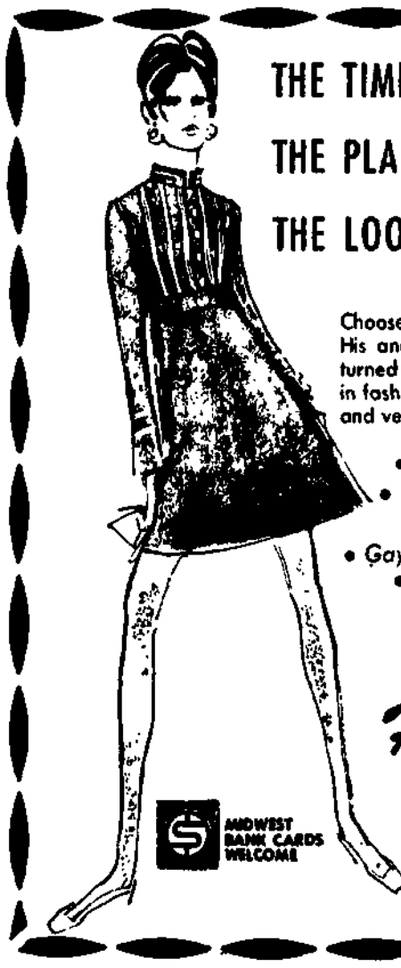

The books chosen may be fiction or non fiction, but should be ones the member hasn't read before.

Reports on preprimers and primers won't be accepted for credit, and only one book in a series can be read for credit.

Registration blanks are available at the library. The program is in progress now, and will continue until Aug. 16.

Dist. 59 Petition In Hand

Gene Artemenko, former president of the Dist. 59 board of education, has taken out petitions for candidacy for reelection to the board.

Artemenko took petitions for the post the day after the Dist. 59 board announced a special election will be held in the district. The election will be held to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of George Blanchard from his elected post. Blanchard will be transfered to Kansas City, Mo. by his employer.

Artemenko, of 431 Miller, Des Plaines, was elected to the Dist. 59 board in 1965 and became its president in 1968. Prior to his election to the board he was active in local school activities and served as first president of the teacher-parent council of Elk Grove high school.

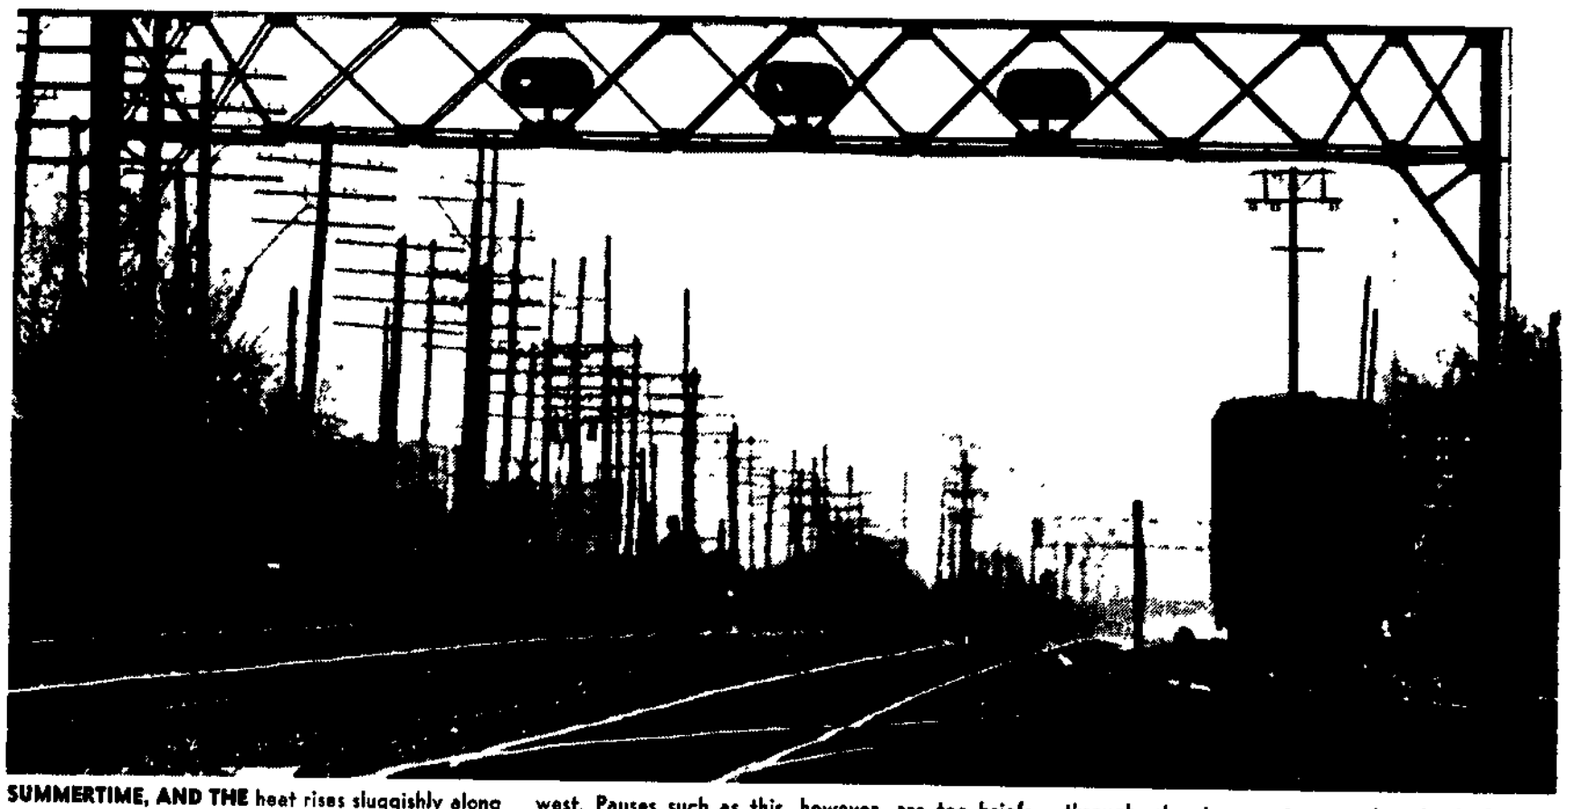

THE CANDIDATE was eligible for reelection to the Dist. 59 board in its last April elections but at that time he chose not to run for office.

Artemenko then said he would not run for reelection because of business requirements on his time. He is an 18 year employe of United Airlines.

Artemenko, as well as any other candidate for the Dist. 59 board, must submit completed petitions to the district offices by July 3 to be on the July 26 ballot. A candidate must have 50 names on his petition to qualify as a candidate for office.

If Artemenko completes his bid for a candidacy and submits completed petitions to the school district, he will be seeking election to the board for a period of nine months. The seat vacated by Blan-

Defeat For Sex Education Bill Seen

By ALAN AKERSON

"Of the five bills in the Illinois General Assembly concerning sex education, four are now dead," said Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chapman opposes all five bills.

One of the five, House Bill 2323, was passed by the House Monday by a vote of 101 to 42. That bill would amend the school code to prevent schools from offering sex education classes to pupils without first getting written approval from their parents.

The bill also would require parents to be notified in advance of proposed sex education classes.

Another of the bill's provisions would allow parents to look over the educational materials to be used in the classes before deciding whether or not to give their permission.

Chief sponsor of HB 2323 is Rep. Philip W. Collins, R-Chicago.

Mrs. Chapmas said "There a good chance it will be killed in the Sen e." She added, "I hope it goes to a quick and quiet grave."

House Bill 2839 which would have prohibited sex education in grades below the seventh, was tabled by its sponsor, Rep. James Peterson, R-Chicago. The bill was on the House calendar for consideration when Peterson tabled it.

Monday night the House defeated a bill that would have required written permission from parents before children were administered examinations on personality, home life, religious beliefs and other personal matters.

Opponents of the bill, including Mrs. Chapman, argued that "school guidance counselors felt this would have put them out of business."

The lone sex education bill to come out of the Senate, Senate Bill 797, was passed by the Senate, but killed by the House Education Committee.

SB 797 would have amended the Sex Education Act to permit a pupil to be excused from a sex education course upon written request by his parents.

Rep. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, House sponsor of the bill, has filed a motion to get the bill to the House floor for a vote. This came after the bill received a "do not pass" recommendation in committee. Whether or not the House will vote on the motion is unknown at this time.

The fifth bill, HB 2747, was also tabled by its sponsor. Like HB 2839, it was on the House calendar for consideration.

Had it been passed, HB 2747 would have dissolved the state's Sex Education Advisory Board. That board was established to aid school boards by maintaining a library of sex education material for local school districts.

The board also aids universities in the state is providing courses for prospective teachers in how to teach sex education.

Mrs. Chapman said she opposes the bills primarily for two reasons: first, she does "favor well thought-out sex education in the schools," and, second, she doesn't "want the state to interfere with local school boards."

A scheduled meeting between the Mount Prospect plan commission and park board, at which the West Park zoning was to have been discussed, failed to take place last night.

One village employe told a reporter she didn't know when the meeting would be held.

Instead, the plan commission carried out its regular business, which included discussion of a possible shopping mall in the downtown area. The mall was proposed by a village-commissioned report in 1957, before the construction of Randhurst Shopping Center. Because of Randhurst, further study was deemed necessary.

In other business, the planners discussed rezoning of an area north of the Mount Prospect Shopping Plaza at Rand and Central roads. The land was owned by the Marshall Savings and Loan Corp., which went bankrupt in 1964. Uninsured deposits in the savings and loan were $593,000.

Rezoning of the land to build apartments has been recommended by village expert witnesses. The property would be sold to recover a portion of the lost uninsured deposits.

Will Cops Suffer?

by BARRY SIGALE
A News Analysis

Sgt. John Flood of the Cook County Police force says that any policeman who joins the Cook County Police Association, of which he is president, may suffer the consequences of reprisals from his bosses.

Such has happened to John Flood.

In a recent move by the hierarchy of the sheriff's police department, Flood, a resident of Wheeling, was transferred from his post as patrol sergeant of District 1 in Niles to become an $11,000 a year clerical worker in downtown Chicago.

This is a position which might be a welcome sight (and even an expected move) by a 65-year-old member of any police force who has lost that old zing and must be retired from police work gracefully.

BUT FLOOD, in his early 30's, has a full police life ahead of him.

For a year of his more than 10 years as a policeman, Flood was in charge of the detective division. For another year he headed the criminal extradition section for all of Cook County. And yet another year he was in charge of the vice squad. He was a patrolman for two years and a patrol sergeant for over six years.

But Flood, knowing his job was in jeopardy, pursued this collision course as president of the association (he was a founding father), and continued in his efforts to organize policemen into local chapters so they can have a voice in their future as policemen.

Flood is not the only one that has felt the sting of apparent reprisals.

SGT. KENNY JONES, first vice president of the executive board of the association was just sent to the downtown offices to serve as a radio operator This, despite the fact that Jones was in charge of the juvenile section in Worth, Ill.

Det. Bill Waldron, who was a member of the juvenile division in Homewood, has been reassigned to patrolman in the same district. Waldron is also a high-ranking member of the executive board of the association.

These men, as is Flood, are all competent, with far reaching backgrounds in the field of law enforcement. They have an aggregate of more than 30 years in police work. All these men are dedicated to their jobs and obviously would have been ripe for promotions when they occurred.

BUT THAT chance has all but frittered away. The Cook County Sheriff's Police has just put an end to the usefulness of these men.

The association has more than 200 members under their wing, including local chapters in Wheeling, Skokie, Evanston, and other towns, and are about to announce a local organization in Des Plaines.

The association has made only three basic demands to the village boards they have approached in Cook County:

—That policemen have the right to have a voice in future decisions which affect them;

—That the association be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for the policeman;

—That a certain percentage of their salary be deducted and used as dues, payable to the association.

THERE IS ANOTHER thing, specifically, which the association is trying to stamp out, and it is that Cook County policemen can be arbitrarily transferred, without those persons transferred being ableto agree or disagree to the move. This is happening right now to Flood and the others.

These men, by general order, cannot comment to anyone on their transfer without suffering the consequences: Suspension from the force for 30 days without pay, and, the officer has no chance to defend himself.

Owners Hit Track

Increased traffic and noise appear to be the only complaints registered by residents of Fremont Street in Rolling Meadows since twilight racing began Monday at Arlington Park Race Track.

This information was revealed in a spot survey conducted by the Herald yesterday.

In May, a similar survey was taken of Fremont Street residents about the high-powered lights which had been instaleld around the track They will bear most of the brunt of the bright lights. Thus far, the lights have not been used.

Residents have mixed opinions about the lights Some are up in arms, others couldn't care less and many feel that any opposition is hopeless.

LEO MEYER, of 2802 Fremont St., is a 15-year resident of Rolling Meadows and a volunteer fireman. The track is behind his property.

"I'm against the lights and so are a lot of my friends in the fire department. But I don't think there is much we can do about it."

Meyer said he thought the state was behind it and the lights were here to stay. "I won't move though," he said. "I still travel 58 miles back and forth to work. I may not like the lights, but I do like Rolling Meadows."

Another long-time resident who didn't want her name used said that she would wiat and see about the lights, but thought that the noise and the traffic had increased. Her home is located where the races are started and she has never gotten used to the noise.

Mrs. R. VorBroker of 2303 Fremont said the noise never bothered her because she had gotten used to them just as she got used to the jets. She was more concerned about the empty lot near her home and thought the track was planning to build on it.

MRS. JOSEPH Rybarczyk of 2400 Fermont St. said that she has learned to live with the noise, but not with the traffic. She has also cut down on her trips to the shopping center because of the "lower types of people the track has brought into the area."

Happy Tea Party Could Be Dynamite

by SANDRA BROWNING

If someone invites you to a tea party to get charged up, think twice about going.

If you are told that Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil will be there, don't think those are nicknames for area socialites you haven't met yet

If you go to that party, the narks may find you and you could be busted. It may mean you won't be on the bricks for quite a while.

Freely translated, the last paragraph means narcotics agents might arrest you and you won't be out of jail for quite a while.

Students at the Federal Bureau of Narcotics Training School understand the terms like "tea party" and "charged up." They are required to learn a glossary of common terminology used in the underground world of narcotics traffic.

A COPY OF the glossary was distributed at a recent Arlington Heights' Youth Council meeting so that members could study and understand the various terms.

A tea party is a marijuana party and getting charged up means the "high" a drug user gets after taking narcotics. The terms Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil refer to marijuana, morphine, heroin and cocaine.

The illegal drug market has apparently caused pushers and users to develop their own vocabulary to refer to drugs. Some of the terms have been pirated from slang references to drinking. Such terms include "loaded" and "stoned" which mean to be under the influence of drugs.

Other terms as defined in the glossary are so old that they have come into common usage. "What's happening?" is defined in the glossary as meaning "Do you have any narcotics?"

LANGUAGE USED by addicts and police officers sometimes baffles listeners. An Arlington Heights police officer was speaking about drugs and told his high school audience, "We have arrested a boy of 17 in the village who was mainlining drugs."

The audience looked at him in disbelief, probably because they didn't understand what he meant. Mainlining means to directly inject narcotics into a vein.

The officer also said there were cases when teenagers had injected drugs under their tongues and in their ears to avoid leaving "tracks," or marks left on veins from repeated injection of drugs.

When a program on drugs was presented to parents and students at Arlington High School, a former addict said he knew many suburban teenagers who were "shooting speed." He meant they were injecting methedrine.

THE WARNING phrase used to make drivers slow down, "speed kills," can also refer to the dangers of taking methedrine.

When a drug user refers to "hash," he doesn't mean the corned beef variety. He means hashish, a drug produced from the same plant that is used in making marijuana cigarettes. It is usually smoked in a small pipe and gives a shorter, more intense high than regular marijuana.

"Head" refers to someone who is a user. Acid heads are persons who take LSD and pot heads are marijuana smokers.

As someone starts to feel the influence of drugs, he is "spacing out" or "getting off." He will often use the phrase "ooh . . . wow" as he feels the effects.

THE PHRASE "shooting gallery" doesn't always mean a place where you go to aim rifles at little moving ducks. It can also mean a place where drug users go to shoot or use drugs.

Terms used instead of marijuana include Acapulco gold, grass, loco-weed, Texas tea, viper's weed, pot and hemp. "Torch-up" means to light up marijuana cigarettes which are also called bombers, joints, muggles, reefers, roaches, ropes and sticks.

Heroin is sometimes called hard stuff, junk, schmack and skag while cocaine is called happy dust, joy powder and coke.

Dynamite is a general term which refers to any type of drug.

So, the next time someone invites you to a tea party, be careful. There might be some dynamite there.

Seeks Post

Dist. 59 Petition In Hand

Gene Artemenko, former president of the Dist. 59 board of education, has taken out petitions for candidacy for reelection to the board.

Artemenko took petitions for the post the day after the Dist. 59 board announced a special election will be held in the district. The election will be held to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of George Blanchard from his elected post. Blanchard will be transfered to Kansas City, Mo. by his employer.

Artemenko, of 431 Miller, Des Plaines, was elected to the Dist. 59 board in 1965 and became its president in 1968. Prior to his election to the board he was active in local school activities and served as first president of the teacher-parent council of Elk Grove high school.

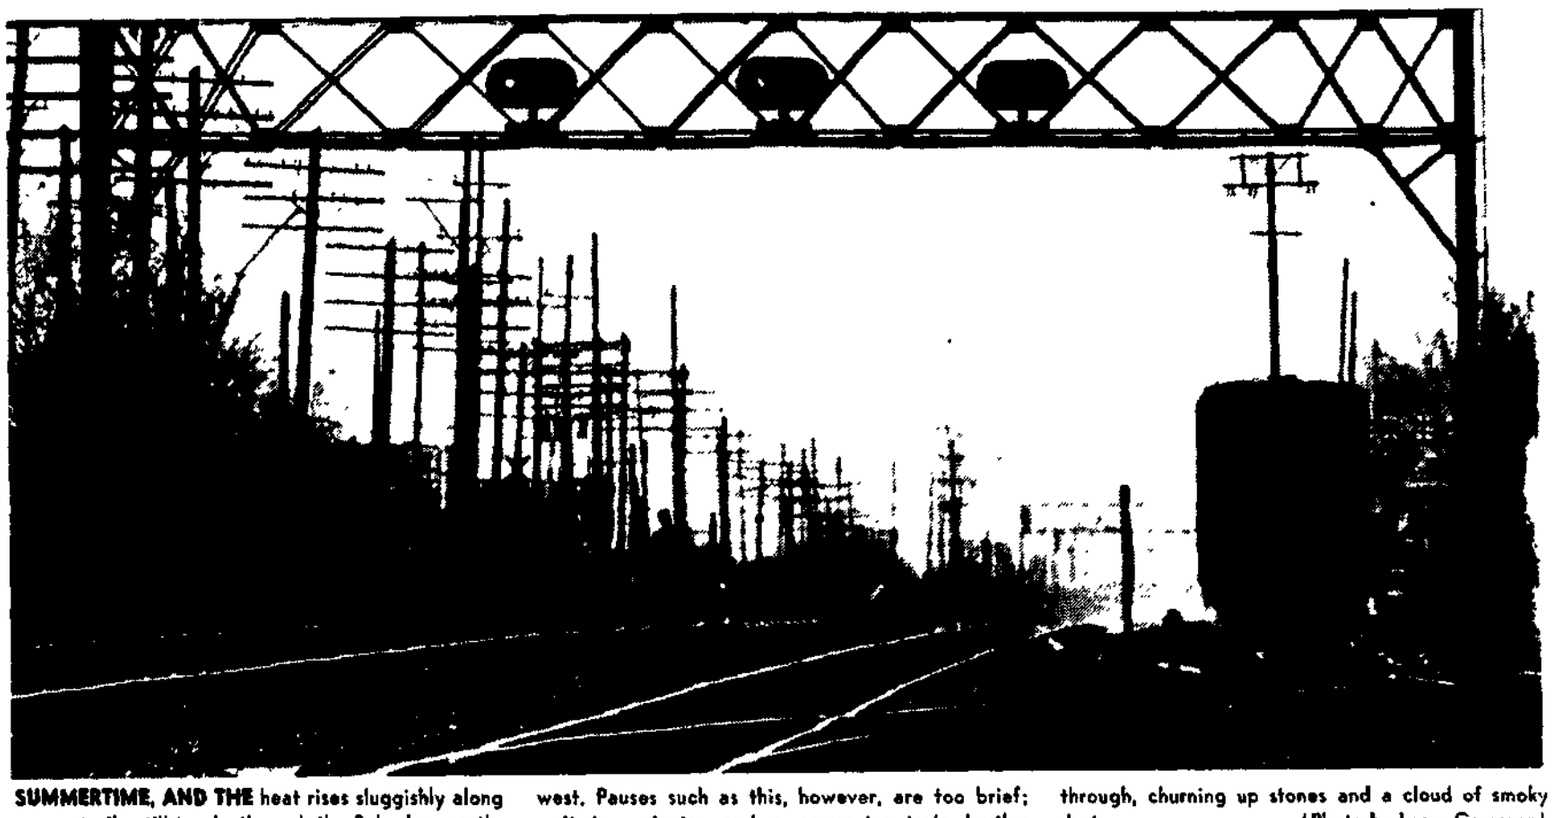

THE CANDIDATE was eligible for reelection to the Dist. 59 board in its last April elections but at that time he chose not to run for office.

Artemenko then said he would not run for reelection because of business requirements on his time. He is an 18 year employe of United Airlines.

Artemenko, as well as any other candidate for the Dist. 59 board, must submit completed petitions to the district offices by July 3 to be on the July 26 ballot. A candidate must have 50 names on his petition to qualify as a candidate for office.

If Artemenko completes his bid for a candidacy and submits completed petitions to the school district, he will be seeking election to the board for a period of nine months. The seat vacated by Blan-

Defeat For Sex Education Bill Seen

By ALAN AKERSON

"Of the five bills in the Illinois General Assembly concerning sex education, four are now dead," said Rep. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chapman opposes all five bills.

One of the five, House Bill 2323, was passed by the House Monday by a vote of 101 to 42. That bill would amend the school code to prevent schools from offering sex education classes to pupils without first getting written approval from their parents.

The bill also would require parents to be notified in advance of proposed sex education classes.

Another of the bill's provisions would allow parents to look over the educational materials to be used in the classes before deciding whether or not to give their permission.

Chief sponsor of HB 2323 is Rep. Philip W. Collins, R-Chicago.

Mrs. Chapmas said "There is a good chance it will be killed in the Senate." She added, "I hope it goes to a quick and quiet grave."

House Bill 2839 which would have prohibited sex education in grades below the seventh, was tabled by its sponsor, Rep. James Peterson, R-Chicago. The bill was on the House calendar for consideration when Peterson tabled it.

Monday night the House defeated a bill that would have required written permission from parents before children were administered examinations on personality, home life, religious beliefs and other personal matters.

Opponents of the bill, including Mrs. Chapman, argued that "school guidance counselors felt this would have put them out of business."

The lone sex education bill to come out of the Senate, Senate Bill 797, was passed by the Senate, but killed by the House Education Committee.

SB 797 would have amended the Sex Education Act to permit a pupil to be excused from a sex education course upon written request by his parents.

Rep. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, House sponsor of the bill, has filed a motion to get the bill to the House floor for a vote. This came after the bill received a "do not pass" recommendation in committee. Whether or not the House will vote on the motion is unknown at this time.

The fifth bill, HB 2747, was also tabled by its sponsor. Like HB 2839, it was on the House calendar for consideration.

Had it been passed, HB 2747 would have dissolved the state's Sex Education Advisory Board. That board was established to aid school boards by maintaining a library of sex education material for local school districts.

The board also aids universities in the state is providing courses for prospective teachers in how to teach sex education.

Mrs. Chapman said she opposes the bills primarily for two reasons: first, she does "favor well thought-out sex education in the schools," and, second, she doesn't "want the state to interfere with local school boards."

Raising a Stink

by BARRY SIGALE

Garbage collection in Arlington Heights has become a sticky subject.

In the last two weeks, between 25 and 30 residents of the village have complained to the police department about garbage that hasn't been picked up.

And, some residents have even taken matters into their own hands. Their feeling is, "If the garbage collector doesn't come to the garbage, the garbage will go to the garbage collector."

According to Arlington Heights police, about five or six persons showed up Sunday night at the offices of Laseke's Disposal Co., 8 S. Dunton, and deposited eight of their most precious bags of garbage at the front door step.

POLICE SAID they confronted a man wearing a tuxedo and driving a Cadillac, who pulled up to the building and eased a bag of his finest from the trunk. When told that if he dumped the garbage he would be subject to a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $500, the man put his bag into the trunk and drove off.

Laseke's Disposal Co., has a contract with the Village of Arlington Heights to pick up all garbage within its boundaries and get rid of it.

But, recently, the company has been having difficulty with equipment and getting employes to man the trucks.

There is supposed to be a pickup twice a week from residential areas but lately that service has been curtailed. The pick-ups are not being made regularly and consequently, complaints have been piling up.

The problem was brought before the village government and village ordered Laseke's to lease more trucks to replace the ones that have broken down. Also, Laseke's has hired college students to help with pick-ups in the village.

Clerks Attend Session

Arlington Heights Village Clerk Betty Revard and Deputy Clerk Joan Durham attended the first Municipal Clerk Training Institute held recently at the Champaign-Urbana campus of the University of Illinois.

The four-day institute was sponsored by the university and the Municipal Clerks of Illinois, as authorized by recent state legislation. The program was created for the benefit of newly elected and newly appointed clerks, their deputies and other interested officials. The village paid the expenses for the two women to attend the program.

"It was most interesting to observe the varying degrees of responsibility and variety of functions performed by the clerks of different municipalities," Mrs. Revard said.

"Few communities are as well staffed and have as fine facilities as the Village of Arlington Heights," she said. In smaller communities, clerks have personal charge of more functions and have greater responsibility than the clerk does here, she said.

SPEAKERS DURING the institute included Marvin Glink of the law firm of Ancel, Stonesifer and Glink, which specializes in municipal law; Robert Gieselman of the University of Illinois; and Henrietta Marjan, clerk of Palos Heights and a founding member of the Municipal Clerks' Association.

"At the institute I heard about responsibilities I didn't know I had and could have learned about only through detailed and laborious study of the statutes," Mrs. Revard said.

Clerks' duties in the state statues are not outlined all in one place, but are mentioned as incidentals to other basic requirements.

"The clerks' association recognizes the need for a 'Bible' for clerks and is undertaking to compile one," she said.

Registration Set

Arlington Heights Village Clerk Betty J. Revard yesterday reminded residents about the summer voting registration schedule.

"Voter registration at Village Hall reopens today and will continue to August 22," she said. "As pledged during my election campaign and for the purpose of encouraging maximum registration in Arlington Heights, Saturday morning service will be provided from nine to noon at the Village Hall, 33 South Arlington Heights Road, as long as the response warrants having registrars on duty.

"All eligible residents of Arlington Heights are urged to be sure that they will be able to vote in the four special elections which are still to be held this year," Mrs. Revard continued.

Election dates are: September 23 — Constitutional Convention primary. October 7 — Primary to fill the House of Representatives seat vacated by Donald Rumsfield, 13th Congressional District. November 18 — Con-Con general election. November 25 — 13th Congressional District final election.

Mrs. Revard added that the appointment of judges and all other arrangements will be handled by the Cook County Clerk's office.

"In order to register for these elections, a person must have lived in the State of Illinois for one year, in Cook County for 90 days, and in Arlington Heights 30 days. All these requirements must be met by Sept. 23," she added.

Eligible residents of Wheeling Township may register at the office of Wheeling Township Clerk Dorothy Hauff, Wheeling Township Hall, 1818 E. Northwest Highway, between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Registration will end Aug. 22.

"Persons who wish to register and who for any reason can't come to Village Hall during the hours stated, are invited to call the Clerk's Office to see what special arrangements might be made," Mrs. Revard said.

Garbage Crisis To End

Thanks to the Mundelein Disposal Co., the garbage crisis in Arlington Heights should be over this morning.

The disposal company, located in the Chicago suburb 15 miles north of Arlington Heights, loaned seven garbage trucks to Laseke Disposal Co. yesterday to complete the sweep of neglected trash.

Laseke, after a meeting with village officials last week, rented four trucks to catch up with almost a week's accumulated garbage. So, Laseke had eleven additional trucks in action yesterday.

"Everything looks wonderful," said H. W. Laseke, president of the firm.

THE FIRM HAS four new trucks on order to replace equipment that has broken down recently. The firm also has had trouble finding men and boys to load garbage into the trucks.

Meanwhile, the number of complaint calls in the village's public health department have tapered off, according to Mrs. Virginia Beakey, secretary.

Mrs. Beakey said complaints seem to be coming primarily from northern portions of the village and from the 400 to 500 block of South Fernandez Street.

Girl Scouts Honored

Brownies and Junior Girl Scouts met this month at Edgar Allen Poe School for an award ceremony.

Mrs. Sue McAnally and Mrs. Pat Willett, co-leaders of Junior Troop 813, and Mrs. Carolyn Love and Mrs. Dorothy Pietrzak or Junior Troop 368, presented the girls with badges earned this year.

Mrs. Myrna Thielmann and Mrs. Judy McAvoy, co-leaders of Brownie Troop, 678, pinned wings on 10 members of the troop.

10 Area Students Graduated

Ten Arlington Heights residents have been listed as spring graduates from Drake University, Purdue University, Rockford College and Wartburg College.

Stephen P. Carponelli received a bachelor of science degree with a specialization in marketing from Drake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Carponelli of 1310 Salem Blvd. in Arlington Heights and was graduated from Forest View High School in 1965.

A bachelor of arts degree was conferred upon Clifford H. White at Drake's 88th annual commencement. White majored in political science at Drake and is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. Marvin J. White of 318 S. Harvard. He is a 1965 graduate of Arlington High School.

Four of Purdue University's graduation class are Arlington Heights residents. Marilee Ann Snyder and Dennis P. O'Donnell received bachelor's degrees with specializations in industrial management. Miss Snyder is the daughter of E. Max Snyde of 834 North Haddow and O'Donnell is the son of Raymond J. O'Donnell of 405 S. Gibbons Ave.

A BACHELOR'S DEGREE with a specilization in humanities was conferred upon Sarah Ann Jenkins at Purdue's 117th annual commencement. Miss Jenkins resides at 622 S. Bristol and is the daughter of Harry M. Jenkins.

Janine C. Hudkins of 1204 W. Euclid received an associate applied sciences degree from Purdue.

Rockford College listed Robert E. Kopplin and Glenn E. Michalski as two of its 100 graduates. Kopplin, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kopplin of 410 W. Wing St., majored in zoology at Rockford. His immediate plans call for service in the Air Force.

Michalski has accepted a position with International Business Machines. He majored in mathematics at Rockford. Kopplin and Michalski were graduated from Arlington Heights High School.

MRS. NANCY Rollefson Berg, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maldwin Rollefson of 1405 N. Wilke, graduated with a bachelor of science in education degree from Wartburg College in Waverly, Iowa. She and her husband, Thomas Berg, are currently residing in Waverly while he completes his education. They expect to move to Waterloo, Iowa, in the fall where she will pursue a teaching career and he will go into hospital work.

Kay Alana Southard also received a bachelor of arts degree from Wartburg. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby E. Southard of 1643 N. Highland Ave. in Arlington Heights. Miss Southard is engaged to Richard Lewis Willner of Comfrey, Minn., and will be married in the fall.

Miss Hampton Is Director Of Institute

Miss Leotta Hampton, college counselor at Arlington Heights High School, will act as program director when Bradley University hosts the Model Summer Institute for Guiding the College Bound Student starting June 22.

Fifty-two high school counselors and 23 college admissions counselors will attend the program.

A number of noted professionals, including Charles D. O'Connell Jr., president of the College Entrance Examination Board and dean of students at the University of Chicago, will participate in the program as lecturers and group discussion leaders.

Wrestling Still Open

Arlington Heights Park District recently announced there are still openings is its summer wrestling classes for junior high school boys.

Classes will meet at Arlington High School on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 1:30 to 3 p.m. The program will begin Monday.

John Cutlip, wrestling coach at Arlington High School, will be the instructor for the classes. Cutlip plans to include general physical fitness, weight lifting, and body building in the program.

Residents may register for the six weeks of classes at Pioneer Park, 500 S. Fernandez Ave., or Recreation Park, 500 E. Miner St. The fee for the activity is $4.

Honor Von Boeckman

Army S. Sgt. Thomas A. C. Von Boeckmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon H. L. VonBoeckmann, 709 N. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights, has received the Bronze Star Medal during ceremonies near Qui Nhon.

Sgt. VonBoeckmann received the award for outstanding meritorious service while serving as a noncommissioned officer in charge of the officer records section in the 527th Personnel Services Company in Vietnam.

He entered the Army in September 1966, completed basic training at Ft. Ord, Calif., and was last stationed at Ft. Lee, Va., before arriving overseas in March 1968.

The 27-year-old soldier graduated in 1959 from Arlington Heights High School and received a B.S. degree in 1964 from McMurray College, Jacksonville.

Before entering the Army, he was employed by the Security Pacific National Bank, Los Angeles, as a bank supervisor.

Former Teacher Cited By Lutheran Church

Ruth Barchman, a former Arlington Heights teacher, was honored recently by Tabor Lutheran Church and School in Chicago

Miss Barchman taught at St. Peter's Lutheran School in Arlington Heights for five years. She lived in the area for 12 years and retired for the first time from the Northwest Suburban public school system in 1964. She then went to Tabor to teach.

A second grade teacher at Tabor Lutheran School, Miss Barchman was presented with a plaque and a gift certificate during the farewell surprise dinner party given by the school. The event marked her second retirement from teaching.

Serving in Reserves

Ross Starek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe graduate of Syracuse University, New York, will serve in the Army Reserves for the coming year.

He plans to attend law school in the fall of 1970 and prepare for a career in corporate law.

Opposed To Gasoline Tax

State Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, this week voted against a bill giving counties the authority to enact a two-cent gasoline tax to subsidize a rapid transit system within Cook County. The measure passed the House, 94-42.

Schlickman said if the bill passes the Senate and is approved by the governor, it will mean a gasoline tax increase of approximately $28 a year to be paid by every automobile owner in Cook County for the support of the Chicago Transit Authority.

"I sympathize with the present plight of the Chicago Transit Authority," stated Schlickman, "and I have voted every session for a direct state subsidy to the CTA.

"ALSO, I have voted with the CTA against past proposed legislation which would have imposed a statutory duty upon the CTA to provide half-fare transportation to our senior citizens during off rush-hours. Just recently, the Chicago Transit Authority, after many years of opposition to such half-fare transportation, has established this practice and now relies upon it as one basis for this financial assistance.

"Instead of further taxation, especially upon the many residents of our county who do not use the CTA facilities, it would seem more appropriate for the transportation system, and Chicago, to engage in a review and overhaul of the means by which the CTA is operated and financed," Schlickman concluded.

Area Teachers Go to Convention

Six Arlington Heights residents are planning to attend the National Education Association (NEA) convention in Philadelphia from June 30 through July 5.

The educators, who teach in area schools, will represent the Northwest Suburban Division of the Illinois Education Association. The delegates are: James Baker, William Beach, Marilyn Thacker, Mrs. Mary Lou Gorman, Mrs. Arlene Woulf and Geirge Theodore.

Issues before the convention include the war in Vietnam, college protests and financial aid to education. Also slated for discussion is the possibility of joint meetings between the NEA and the American Federation of Teachers. The Federation Mainly represents teachers in urban areas while the NEA is active in suburban districts.

Policeman Wins Woman's Praise

An anonymous Arlington Heights policeman has earned the thanks and praise of a local woman.

Mrs. Robert Gentile of 111 S. Patton said she was driving home June 6 when she suddenly became dizzy. At a stop sign at Dunton and Sigwalt, the policeman, driving a motorcycle, pulled up and asked, "Is something wrong lady?"

MRS. GENTILE said she was sick. The policeman helped her home. That evening she was hospitalized.

"Without his help, I could have caused an accident. I wish I knew his name so I could thank him personally," Mrs. Gentile said.

Defeat For Sex Education Bill Seen

By ALAN AKERSON

"Of the five bills in the Illinois General Assembly concerning sex education, four are now dead," said Rep Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights. Mrs. Chapman opposes all five bills.

One of the five, House Bill 2323, was passed by the House Monday by a vote of 101 to 42. That bill would amend the school code to prevent schools from offering sex education classes to pupils without first getting written approval from their parents.

The bill also would require parents to be notified in advance of proposed sex education classes.

Another of the bill's provisions would allow parents to look over the educational materials to be used in the classes before deciding whether or not to give their permission.

Chief sponsor of HB 2323 is Rep Philip W. Collins, R-Chicago

Mrs Chapmas said "There is a good chance it will be killed in the Senate." She added, "I hope it goes to a quick and quiet grave"

House Bill 2839 which would have prohibited sex education in grades below the seventh, was tabled by its sponsor, Rep James Peterson, R-Chicago. The bill was on the House calendar for consideration when Peterson tabled it

Monday night the House defeated a bill that would have required written permission from parents before children were administered examinations on personality, home life, religious beliefs and other personal matters.

Opponents of the bill, including Mrs Chapman, argued that "school guidance counselors felt this would have put them out of business."

The lone sex education bill to come out of the Senate, Senate Bill 797, was passed by the Senate, but killed by the House Education Committee.

SB 797 would have amended the Sex Education Act to permit a pupil to be excused from a sex education course upon written request by his parents.

Rep. Harber Hall, R-Bloomington, House sponsor of the bill, has filed a motion to get the bill to the House floor for a vote. This came after the bill received a "do not pass" recommendation in committee. Whether or not the House will vote on the motion is unknown at this time.

The fifth bill, HB 2747, was also tabled by its sponsor. Like HB 2839, it was on the House calendar for consideration.

Had it been passed, HB 2747 would have dissolved the state's Sex Education Advisory Board. That board was established to aid school boards by maintaining a library of sex education material for local school districts

The board also aids universities in the state is providing courses for prospective teachers in how to teach sex education.

Mrs. Chapman said she opposes the bills primarily for two reasons: first, she does "favor well thought-out sex education in the schools," and, second, she doesn't "want the state to interfere with local school boards."

Schlickman Resigns GOP Post

Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, can now officially give any left-over time from being a legislator to being a candidate for 13th District congressman.

Schlickman submitted his resignation as Wheeling Township Republican committeeman Tuesday morning to Ed Kucharski, chairman of the Cook County Republican Central Committee.

The resignation letter paves way for the executive committee of the County GOP central committee to appoint Richard Cowen to fill the post. Cowen was the choice Monday night of Wheeling Township precinct captains, meeting to endorse a new committeeman.

SCHLICKMAN ANNOUNCED he would resign his position June 2 when he announced candidacy for 13th District congressman. The Wheeling Township Republican executive committee moved quickly, endorsing Cowen June 7.

In his resignation letter, Schlickman highly recommended Cowen to fill his unexpired term. Though the final decision is up to the Cook County Central Committee, it is customary to select the person endorsed by the local organization.

"I withheld my resignation until the action of the precinct captains last night," Schlickman said Tuesday, referring to Cowen's endorsement.

"IN MY OPINION there is no one better suited than Dick (Cowen) to fill the balance of my term," the congressional candidate wrote.

Schlickman explained to Kucharski he was resigning as township committeeman because, "I do not feel that I can properly represent and serve the needs of Wheeling Township as Republican committeeman and at the same time perform my duties as a member of the General Assembly and be a candidate for Congress.

"I should like to express deepest appreciation to you, your staff and the other township committeemen for the many courtesies extended to me for the past three years of my term as Republican committeeman," he said.

Schlickman is one of seven GOP candidates awaiting the Oct. 7 primary. The result of the GOP primary is seen as deciding the Nov. 25 special election.

Screen Hopefuls

At last night's meeting of the Democratic Party of the 3rd Senatorial district, the committee began the screening of candidates for the Illinois Constitutional Convention which will convene Dec. 8 in Springfield.

Although the election of candidates to the convention will be non-partisan, political parties may support candidates of their choice.

Two candidates for each of the 58 senatorial districts in Illinois will attend the convention.

In the 3rd Senatorial Dist., which encompasses the Northwest suburbs, there are two declared candidates and two would-be candidates, who are circulating petitions which must have 100 signatures before official candidacy can be announced.

The declared candidates are, Wilfred Robbins of 1806 W. Pheasant Trail in Mount Prospect and Mrs. George Schroeder of 1923 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights.

Lestser Bonaguro of 327 S. Forrest, Arlington Heights and Mrs. Mary Carlson of 207 E. School, Prospect Heights, are currently circulating petitions.

Robbins is employed by the People's Gas Co., as a senior clerk in the operating division. Early in his questioning by the committee, Robbins said he believes the State Superintendent of Schools office should be eliminated. He advocated an executive department set-up with an appointed commission instead of elected officials.

Bonaguro is a lawyer and a member of the Northwest Bar Association. He is employed by the Northwestern University Traffic Institute as an instructor.

Following his graduation from Loyola University Law School eight years ago, Bonaguro worked as Asst. State's Atty. in the Criminal Division. He has argued four cases before the Illinois Supreme Court, practiced in every other type of court in the state, and has published articles on various aspects of the law.

The primary election will be on Sept. 23 with the run-off election on Nov. 18.

Futurities

The Arlington Heights Village Board and the Board of Local Improvements will hold a joint meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Municipal Building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Road.

Clothes Go-Round

by MARIANNE BRETSNYDER

A blue and red Cubs baseball cap that could only have fit a very small first baseman lies on a shelf in the back of the shop

Racks of clothes, side by side, stretch the length of the room. Hand-painted china plates and crystal vases are displayed in the shop window.

Everything but the vintage telephone on the wall is for sale, for the second time.

In the Palatine Resale shop, everything has a story behind it

"About 50 years ago, women used to hand paint china," said Mrs. Mary LeBoeuf, who manages the store for the owner Mrs Lee McCullough.

"THE WOMEN WOULD do their own painting oven bake and glaze it," she said Those women put effort into it, she said, to create beautiful pieces

The dishes are popular today. "It's a fad again," she said "I sold one set of 144 pieces, and every one was different. Each one had flowers painted — roses, poppies, every kind of flower."

She said the set was sold about two years ago, and now the worth of it would be almost double

Most of the business is in clothing. "Anything we take must be very clean and in very good condition," she said

Items are bought outright or the customer can get a percentage after the item is sold

Women's suits, dresses and coats are most in demand, followed by men's suits, pants and sports jackets, she said. "We're fussy about what we take in What they get is of value

"We've had some furs, minks, long-hair furs, monkey fur and raccoon coats. We had a walrus fur coat once. All these sell fast."

The store supplies clothes for actors and theater guilds. They find what they want or find something to make do, Mrs. LeBoeuf added

"PEOPLE COME IN for costumes and for things to wear to old-time costume parties," she said "Employes from the race track come in, and some people from Chicago You never know who will walk in the door."

Well-thumbed books fill one case and a rack. "Old western books are very popular, but they're not on the market. It's hard to get them.

"There's something for everyone here," she said, a description that includes long, formal dresses, silver spoons and scrabble games.

There's very little that doesn't sell, she said, the merchandise moves fast.

Antiques are a specialty item, including old clocks, silver, and china. "Dealers come in to look around, but antiques are at low ebb. They're very hard to get.

"Now people want to leave a heritage. I've been in other countries, and they keep things in the family. We didn't, but now young people want to pick up the heritage," she said.

"During the Depression, we went modern, we threw out the cut glass and Dresden, but today people want it to pack and leave for their grandchildren."

ANTIQUES ARE BEING accumulated and hoarded. Some people could open ten stores with the things they have in their homes, Mrs. LeBouf said. Pretty soon there won't be any antiques left on the market, she added.

Although many things in the store aren't antique material, they are records of some of the fashion and accessory trends of recent times.

In some cases, it's a matter of being so out, it's in again Mrs. LeBoeuf said some of the clothes were very expensive, and are sold very reasonably.

Some of the things have an element of mystery, like one antique gold ring in the store. The heavy ring is from North Dakota, and could be as old as the gold rush. Wherever it went, it must have passed through a lot of history.

"We sell a lot of everything here," she said

And, like Alice's Restaurant, you can get almost anything that you want.

Hear Gas Station Plea

The Arlington Heights Plan Commission last night heard the petition of Mr. and Mrs. Heinz signed a contract to purchase to rezone the Heinz's property at 17-21 Dundee Road from R-3 (residential) to B-2 (business with a special use).

In 1968 the Clark Oil Co. and Mr. and Mrs. Heinz sigend a contract to purchase the property providing Mr. and Mrs. Heinz get the appropriate rezoning.

On March 1, 1969, a rezoning petition to the county was approved, but the land was later annexed by Arlington Heights.

Plan Commission Chairman William Hannum questioned why the rezoning should be granted to the Clark Oil Co. since the entire footage isn't going to be needed for the proposed gas station.

Attorney Irwing Lang agreed to consider amending the petition and James Ryan's motion to take the entire matter under advisement until July 23 was adopted unanimously.

At Navy Music School

Personnelman 2.C. William E. Stupe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman O. Stupe of 11 N. Dryden, Arlington Heights, is now on the staff of the largest military music school in the world.

He is assigned to the administrative office where he is responsible for personnel matters relating to students at the Navy School of Music, Little Creek, Va. The School of Music trains selected members of the Navy, Army and Marine Corps for duty with military bands stationed throughout the world.

Before entering the service in May 1966, P. O. Stupe attended St. Petersburg Junior College in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Aboard Destroyer

Navy Commissaryman Third Class Larry D. Holveck is currently stationed aboard the destroyer tender USS Samuel Gompers at San Diego, Calif.

The ship has recently returned from a six and one-half month trip to Subic Bay in the Republic of the Philippines where it made repairs on 237 ships.

Holveck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Holveck of 315 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights.

FROM UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Lindsay Forms Party

NEW YORK – Mayor John V. Lindsay vowed yesterday to turn his defeat in the GOP primary into victory next November by forming a new coalition party of progressive-minded voters to defeat the conservitive Republican and Democratic candidates.

Lindsay said, "Those who came to the polls were in a minority."

Demos Unveil New Tax

SPRINGFIELD — Democratic state legislators yesterday unveiled a new revenue plan that coupled a state income tax with a proposed one-cent reduction in the sales tax.

The package called for a 2 per cent income tax on individuals and a 4 per cent tax on corporations, and caused major conflict with the Republican majority.

Ask A-Plant Funds

WASHINGTON — The House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee has recommended that Congress authorize $217 million in the coming year for the high energy accelerator at Weston, Ill.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., said yesterday the action would bring the 200-billion electorn volt accelerator to its full $250 million authorization

Pledge Democracy

RIO DE JANEIRO — New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has won a pledge from Brazil's military-backed government for an early return to constitutional democracy.

The disclosure that the government intends to restore constitutional guarantees "shortly" was made by Foreign Minister Jose de Magalhaes Pinto. Rockefeller talked with Brazilian President Arthur Da Costa e Silva Tuesday.

SDS Convention Opens

CHICAGO — Delegates to the seventh annual national convention of the Students for a Democratic Society voted yesterday to exclude all newsmen except representatives of the "revolutionary press" from their five-day meeting

A spokesman said the group voted unanimously to exclude the "capitalist press," which was defined as those "who make money from news."

Fire Hits Warehouses

SPRINGFIELD - A fire and explosion yesterday caused damage estimated at $300,000 to three adjacent warehouses of the Keystone Builders and Supply Co. about a mile northeast of the Springfield city limits

Fire officials said an electrical fuse box may have started the blaze. A co-owner of the warehouse was burned on the hands.

Predict Party Loss

DUBLIN – A large voter turnout in the cities yesterday forecast a loss of parliamentary majority for Ireland's traditional governing party, the Fianna Fail of Premier Jack Lynch

The Labor Party appeared en route to cutting inroads into the government vote on the basis of the city turnout in balloting to elect a new 144-member parliament. Ballot counting and checking begins today.

New Park Plans Needed

by SANDRA BROWNING

A decision made last week by Arlington Heights has put a damper on plans to have Hickory Meadows Retention Basin ready for use by ice skaters this winter.

The Park District, which will develop the site into a park, has to have new plans drawn up for the proposed park because the village administration has changed its mind on a water retention basin.

Park officials were told last week by Village Manager L. A. Hanson that the development planned for the site was unacceptable

Originally, park plans called for half of the retention basin to be filled in and a shelter building to be constructed in the center of the proposed park. The park at Hickory Avenue and Marion Street would have provided skating in the winter and play area for use during the rest of the year

Park officials consulted the village after having their architects draw up plans for the site in northeastern Arlington Heights. At that time, the village said filling in half of the basin would be acceptable.

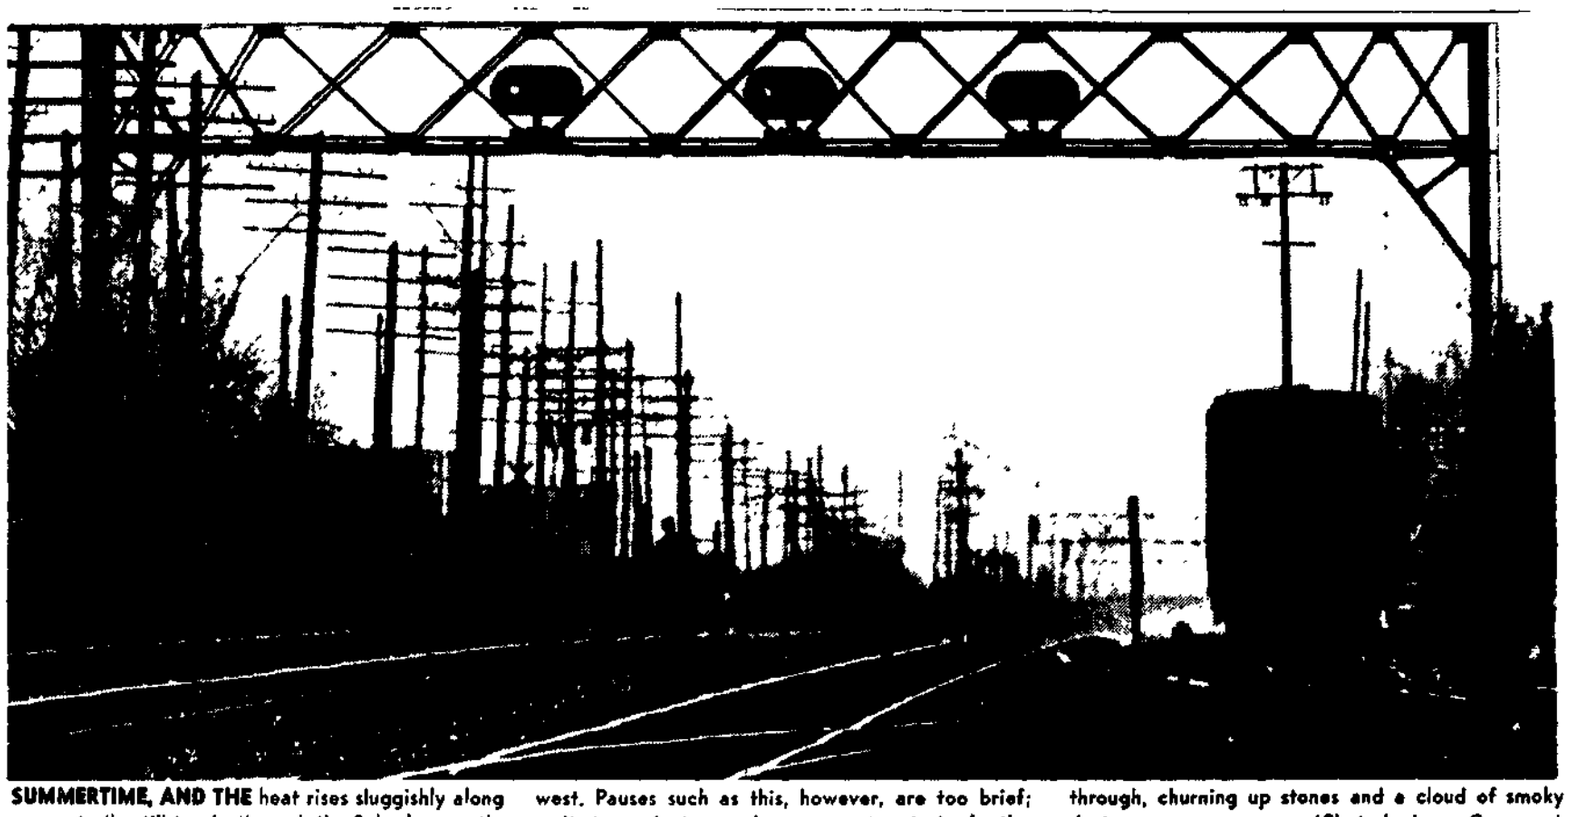

A re-evaluation of the basin has caused the village to change its mind. Officials are apparently concerned that cutting the basin's capacity in half may cause flooding problems after heavy rain storms.

Park Board members first learned of potential problems with the planned site development at their meeting last week. Roy Bressler, park board member, said he had contacted Hanson and that the village was having "second thoughts" about the plans.

At that time, members said the value of constructing a shelter building on the site would have to be reconsidered. If the plans had to be changed and the site could be developed to provide only ice skating, they agreed it would not be worthwhile to build the $38,000 shelter.

However, if the architects can come up with a plan acceptable to the village for a year-round use of the site, the board may leave the shelter building in the plans.

Preliminary plans for the retention basin may be ready in time for Monday night's Park Board meeting.

Happy Tea Party Could Be Dynamite

by SANDRA BROWNING

If someone invites you to a tea party to get charged up, think twice about going.

If you are told that Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil will be there, don't think those are nicknames for area socialites you haven't met yet.

If you go to that party, the narks may find you and you could be busted. It may mean you won't be on the bricks for quite a while.

Freely translated, the last paragraph means narcotics agents might arrest you and you won't be out of jail for quite a while.

Students at the Federal Bureau of Narcotics Training School understand the terms like "tea party" and "charged up." They are required to learn a glossary of common terminology used in the underground world of narcotics traffic.

A COPY OF the glossary was distributed at a recent Arlington Heights' Youth Council meeting so that members could study and understand the various terms.

A tea party is a marijuana party and getting charged up means the "high" a drug user gets after taking narcotics. The terms Mary Jane, Miss Emma, horse and Cecil refer to marijuana, morphine, heroin and cocaine.

The illegal drug market has apparently caused pushers and users to develop their own vocabulary to refer to drugs. Some of the terms have been pirated from slang references to drinking. Such terms include "loaded" and "stoned" which mean to be under the influence of drugs.

Other terms as defined in the glossary are so old that they have come into common usage. "What's happening?" is defined in the glossary as meaning "Do you have any narcotics?"

LANGUAGE USED by addicts and police officers sometimes baffles listeners. An Arlington Heights police officer was speaking about drugs and told his high school audience, "We have arrested a boy of 17 in the village who was mainlining drugs."

The audience looked at him in disbelief, probably because they didn't understand what he meant. Mainlining means to directly inject narcotics into a vein.

The officer also said there were cases when teenagers had injected drugs under their tongues and in their ears to avoid leaving "tracks," or marks left on veins from repeated injection of drugs.

When a program on drugs was presented to parents and students at Arlington High School, a former addict said he knew many suburban teenagers who were "shooting speed." He meant they were injecting methedrine.

THE WARNING phrase used to make drivers slow down, "speed kills," can also refer to the dangers of taking methedrine.

When a drug user refers to "hash," he doesn't mean the corned beef variety. He means hashish, a drug produced from the same plant that is used in making marijuana cigarettes. It is usually smoked in a small pipe and gives a shorter, more intense high than regular marijuana.

"Head" refers to someone who is a user. Acid heads are persons who take LSD and pot heads are marijuana smokers.

As someone starts to feel the influence of drugs, he is "spacing out" or "getting off." He will often use the phrase "ooh . . . wow" as he feels the effects.

THE PHRASE "shooting gallery" doesn't always mean a place where you go to aim rifles at little moving ducks. It can also mean a place where drug users go to shoot or use drugs.

Terms used instead of marijuana include Acapulco gold, grass, loco-weed, Texas tea, viper's weed, pot and hemp. "Torch-up" means to light up marijuana cigarettes which are also called bombers, joints, muggles, reefers, roaches, ropes and sticks.

Heroin is sometimes called hard stuff, junk, schmack and skag while cocaine is called happy dust, joy powder and coke.

Dynamite is a general term which refers to any type of drug.

So, the next time someone invites you to a tea party, be careful. There might be some dynamite there.

by BARRY SIGALE
A News Analysis

Sgt. John Flood of the Cook County Police force says that any policeman who joins the Cook County Police Association, of which he is president, may suffer the consequences of reprisals from his bosses.

Such has happened to John Flood.

In a recent move by the hierarchy of the sheriff's police department, Flood, a resident of Wheeling, was transferred from his post as patrol sergeant of District 1 in Niles to become an $11,000 a year clerical worker in downtown Chicago.

This is a position which might be a welcome sight (and even an expected move) by a 65-year-old member of any police force who has lost that old zing and must be retired from police work gracefully.

BUT FLOOD, in his early 30's, has a full police life ahead of him.

For a year of his more than 10 years as a policeman, Flood was in charge of the detective division. For another year he headed the criminal extradition section for all of Cook County. And yet another year he was in charge of the vice squad. He was a patrolman for two years and a patrol sergeant for over six years.

But Flood, knowing his job was in jeopardy, pursued this collision course as president of the association (he was a founding father), and continued in his efforts to organize policemen into local chapters so they can have a voice in their future as policemen.

Flood is not the only one that has felt the sting of apparent reprisals.

SGT. KENNY JONES, first vice president of the executive board of the association was just sent to the downtown offices to serve as a radio operator This, despite the fact that Jones was in charge of the juvenile section in Worth, Ill.

Det. Bill Waldron, who was a member of the juvenile division in Homewood, has been reassigned to patrolman in the same district. Waldron is also a high-ranking member of the executive board of the association.

These men, as is Flood, are all competent, with far reaching backgrounds in the field of law enforcement. They have an aggregate of more than 30 years in police work. All these men are dedicated to their jobs and obviously would have been ripe for promotions when they occurred.

BUT THAT chance has all but frittered away. The Cook County Sheriff's Police has just put an end to the usefulness of these men.

The association has more than 200 members under their wing, including local chapters in Wheeling, Skokie, Evanston, and other towns, and are about to announce a local organization in Des Plaines.

The association has made only three basic demands to the village boards they have approached in Cook County:

—That policemen have the right to have a voice in future decisions which affect them;

—That the association be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for the policeman;

—That a certain percentage of their salary be deducted and used as dues, payable to the association.

THERE IS ANOTHER thing, specifically, which the association is trying to stamp out, and it is that Cook County policemen can be arbitrarily transferred, without those persons transferred being able to agree or disagree to the move. This is happening right now to Flood and the others.

These men, by general order, cannot comment to anyone on their transfer without suffering the consequences: Suspension from the force for 30 days without pay, and, the officer has no chance to defend himself.
